Hitchcock and Humor Wes D. Gehring, 2019-04-23 Woody Allen's Manhattan Murder Mystery has been described as a kind of Rear Window for retirees. As this quote suggests, an analysis of Alfred Hitchcock's methodical use of comedy in his films is past due. One of Turner Classic Movies' on-screen scholars for their summer 2017 online Hitchcock class, the author grew tired of misleading throwaway references to the director's comic relief. This book examines what should be obvious: Hitchcock systematically incorporated assorted types of comedy: black humor, parody, farce, screwball comedy, and romantic comedy in his films to entertain his audience with comic thrillers.

The Films of Jean Seberg Michael Coates-Smith, Garry McGee, 2014-01-10 Here is the first comprehensive examination of the international film career of Iowa-born actress Jean Seberg (1938-1979). Bursting onto the scene as star of Otto Preminger's controversial Saint Joan (1957), the 19-year-old Seberg encountered great difficulty recovering from the devastating criticism of her performance. The turnaround came in 1959 with her brilliant work in Jean-Luc Godard's new-wave classic A bout de souffle (Breathless). Though her Hollywood prospects were harmed by subsequent political involvements, Seberg continued to work with some of Europe's finest directors. Her later films offer a fascinating view of the movie industry in the 1960s and 1970s and of a courageous actress always ready for a new challenge. A biographical sketch provides a framework for detailed scrutiny of her 37 films. Background information and a critical evaluation is provided for each title

The Films of Carlos Saura Marvin D'Lugo, 2021-01-12 Spanish filmmaker Carlos Saura who began his career under the censorship of Franco's regime has forged an international reputation for his unique cinematic treatment of emotional and spiritual responses to repressive political conditions. In films such as Carmen and El Dorado where reality and fantasy are deliberately fused together, Saura reveals the illusions of Franco's mythologized Spain: a chaste Catholic and heroic Spain of the Golden Age that tend to isolate Spaniards from the rest of Europe from each other and from their own individuality. In this first English language book on Saura, Marvin D'Lugo looks at the social and artistic forces behind this film auteur's highly personal cinema. Tracing Saura's career over three decades, D'Lugo discusses each work from Hooligans (1959) a realist film about a Madrid street gang member trying to become a bullfighter to The Dark Night (1989) a film dealing with the persecution of the religious reformer St. John of the Cross in the late sixteenth century. Throughout, he argues that Saura's cinematic style results from a highly original response to the political and historical constraints of Spanish culture. D'Lugo shows how, in order to explore the complex cultural politics of Spanishness as it was institutionalized under Franco, Saura frames his narrations through the eyes of characters who question the forces that shape personal and collective identity. Moving beyond the limits of traditional auteur studies, this book addresses the relationship between the filmmaker and the cultural ideology that historically has thwarted and manipulated the expressions of individuality in Spanish society.
