War Horse Myron J. Smith, Jr.,2024-02-26 With a unique prewar history as a snagboat and James B Eads noted catamaran salvage vessel the Benton survived a tumultuous government acquisition process and conversion to become flagship of the Union s Civil War Western river navy From Island No 10 through the Vicksburg and Red River campaigns the revolutionary ironclad participated in both combat and administrative activities earning a prominent place in nautical legend and literature This first book length profile of the warship reveals little known details of both her prewar and wartime career and reviews her final disposal Parameters ,2000 Weapons for Strategic Effect Colin S. Gray,2001 The CSS Arkansas Myron J. Smith, Jr.,2014-01-10 While the Monitor and Merrimack are the most famous of the Civil War ironclads the Confederacy had another ship in its flotilla that carried high hopes and a metal hull The makeshift CSS Arkansas completed by Lt Isaac Newton Brown and manned by a mixed crew of volunteers gave the South a surge of confidence when it launched in 1862 For 28 days of summer the ship engaged in five battles with Union warships falling victim in the end only to her own primitive engines The saga of the CSS Arkansas represents the last significant Rebel naval activity in the war s Western theater The Middle East, Abstracts and Index ,1989 Government of Canada Publications, Quarterly Catalogue ,1979 The Publishers' Circular and Booksellers' Record of British and Foreign Literature ,1899 Cultures in Contact Joan Aruz,Sarah B. Graff,Yelena Rakic,2013 The exhibition Beyond Babylon Art Trade and Diplomacy in the Second Millennium B C held in 2008 2009 at The Metropolitan Museum of Art demonstrated the cultural enrichment that emerged from the intensive interaction of civilizations from western Asia to Egypt and the Aegean in the Middle and Late Bronze Ages During this critical period in human history powerful kingdoms and large territorial states were formed Rising social elites created a demand for copper and tin as well as for precious gold and silver and exotic materials such as lapis lazuli and ivory to create elite objects fashioned in styles that reflected contacts with foreign lands This quest for metals along with the desire for foreign textiles was the driving force that led to the establishment of merchant colonies and a vast trading network throughout central Anatolia during the early second millennium B C Texts from palaces at sites from Hattusa modern Bogazk y in Hittite Anatolia to Amarna in Egypt attest to the volume and variety of interactions that took place some centuries later creating the impetus for the circulation of precious goods stimulating the exchange of ideas and inspiring artistic creativity Perhaps the most dramatic evidence for these far flung connections emerges out of tragedy the wreckage of the oldest known seagoing ship discovered in a treacherous stretch off the southern coast of Turkey near the promontory known as Uluburun Among its extraordinary cargo of copper glass and exotic raw materials and luxury goods is a gilded bronze statuette of a goddess perhaps the patron deity on board who failed in her mission to protect the ship To explore the themes of the exhibition art trade and diplomacy viewed from an international perspective a two day symposium and related scholarly events allowed colleagues to explore many facets of the multicultural societies that developed in the second millennium B C Their insights which dramatically illustrate the incipient phases of our intensely interactive world are presented largely in symposium order beginning with broad regional overviews and examination of particular archeological contexts and then drawing attention to specific artists and literary evidence for interconnections In this introduction however their contributions are viewed from a somewhat more synthetic perspective one that focuses attention on the ways in which ideas in this volume intersect to enrich the ongoing discourse on the themes elucidated in the exhibition The Monthly Literary Advertiser ,1815 The Critic Jeannette Leonard Gilder,Joseph Benson Gilder,1892 General Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum. Department of Printed Books,1969 Innovation and the Development of Flight Roger D. Launius,1999 Perhaps no technological development in the century has more fundamentally transformed human life than the airplane and its support apparatus The nature of flight and the activities that it has engendered throughout the world makes the development of aviation technology an important area of investigation Why did aeronautical technology take the shape it did Which individuals and organizations were involved in driving it What factors influenced particular choices of technologies to be used More importantly how has innovation affected this technology Innovation and the Development of Flight a first strike at the new aviation history represents a significant transformation of the field by relating the subject to larger issues of society politics and culture taking a more sophisticated view of the technology that few historians have previously attempted This volume moves beyond a focus on the artifact to emphasize the broader role of the airplane and more importantly the entire technological system This suggests that many unanswered questions are present in the development of modern aviation and that inquisitive historians seek to know the relationships of technological systems to the human mind Some of the subjects discussed are early aeronautical innovation and government patronage the evolution of relationships among airports cities and industry the relationship of engine development to the entire aviation industry the Department of Commerce s influence on light plane development pressure in the Air Force for the development of jet engines and lessons of the National Aerospace Plane Program Aviation historians and historians of technology will find Innovation and the Development of Flight a valuable examination of aeronautical innovation providing foundations for continued explorations of this field
