Parkinson's Sandi Gordon,2014-05-14 With Shaking Hands Samantha Solimeo,2009-04-15 Far from celebrity media spotlight ordinary individuals many older and less advantaged suffer the disabling pain of Parkinson s disease PD an illness whose progressive symptoms often mimic old age and cause mobility impairment communication barriers and social isolation At the heart of With Shaking Hands is the account of elder Americans in rural Iowa who have been diagnosed with PD With a focus on the impact of chronic illness on an aging population Samantha Solimeo combines clear and accessible prose with qualitative and quantitative research to demonstrate how PD accelerates mediates and obscures patterns of aging She explores how ideas of what to expect in older age influence and direct interpretations of one s body This sensitive and groundbreaking work unites theories of disease with modern conceptions of the body in biological and social terms PD like other chronic disorders presents a special case of embodiment which challenge our thinking about how such diseases should be researched and how they are experienced My Journey with Parkinson's Disease Robert E. Spekman,2018-03-27 I have had Parkinson s disease PD for twenty two years I am told I have a mild case but it is still my PD and I live with it 24 7 I would be a gross understatement to say my life was changed forever Interesting many of these changes have made me a more compassionate empathetic and caring person In part this book was motivated by the following premise Many of us will experience a life changing event that will cause us to pause and reassess where we are what we do and why we do it For some it might be the death of a loved one or a personal tragedy Or it might be a re awakening that aha moment For me it was January 2 1995 when my neurologist said Mr Spekman I have some bad news for you you have Parkinson s My life as it knew it crumpled around me I could have wallowed in self pity but I am a fighter and chose eventually to manage my PD I have adopted a number of Eastern non traditional approaches to deal with my PD I have a yoga practice meditate daily and engage in massage acupuncture and chiropractic adjustments All these different approaches complement my medication and all contribute to my being very healthy given the length of time I have had Parkinson s I will take you on a journey my journey starting with denial to depression to finally acceptance This book is more than the story of one man s journey with PD it is a story of hope and personal transformation If you permit me I am going to take you on a journey that began over two decades ago I have years to travel so do not ask where the destination is or ask if we are there yet During the course of this book I will share with you aspects of my life that were previously know to only a small number of people It is through this intimacy that you will come to better understand and hopefully better deal with adversity that might affect your life Grab the Spark Joe W. van Koeverden,2022-11-30 Joe W van Koeverden MBA PwP has lived with Parkinson s Disease PD for ten years For the last twenty years he worked in senior management as a CEO president and CAO He s twenty years cancer free and has been clean and sober for over thirty five years My Parkinson s Journey and Finding My Creative Spark is his first book He hopes to motivate and provide a positive message for those living with PD with short stories and poems of his experiences Joe Preventing Falls J. Thomas Hutton, 2010-10-29 The risk of serious injury resulting from a fall increases with age as our eyesight ability to react quickly, memory and cognitive functions begin to decline. For the growing population of people over age 65, falls can lead to loss of dignity and independence and they can cause serious injury or even death. Preventing Falls is an essential guide for the elderly caregivers, Parkinson's sufferers and many others who face this health risk in their daily lives. As people age, knowing how to accommodate motor, sensory and cognitive changes is important. While no single cause for a fall exists, the leading factors are environmental hazards, balance problems, muscle weakness, poor vision and impaired judgment. Parkinson's patients as well as those with various neurological or muscular disorders are especially prone to falls because their motor skills are seriously compromised. This book addresses valuable skills and coping mechanisms as well as environmental changes and assistive devices that are needed to prevent falls. Many elderly victims of a fall require the skilled care of a nursing home within a year of the incident, especially those elders who cannot care for themselves and whose family members are unable to provide adequate help. The editors place emphasis on successful aging, the ability to maintain mobility and remain independent. Preventing Falls is a handy guidebook for elders to decrease their risk of falls, develop personal confidence and maintain their independence. This vital sourcebook is complemented with a valuable 60-minute videotape offering step-by-step instruction on the best methods for preventing falls.

Neurogenic Communication Disorders:

Life Stories and the Narrative Self Plural Publishing, Incorporated, 2008-07 There is currently considerable focus on psychosocial issues for persons with aphasia and their significant others. However, there has been little unifying work that brings diverse interdisciplinary perspectives together to understand the impact of aphasia and other neurogenic communication disorders on the social construction and mediation of self or identity. In this book, the authors explore this idea of social construction of self as it relates to the human need to create, share and modify life stories, particularly when confronting major life changes. Their premise is that impaired communication can have a profound impact on one's perception of self and one's ability to negotiate the social reconstruction of self in the context of a neurological disorder. The nature and extent of impact varies as seen in the book's in depth examination of narrative self for persons living with aphasia ALS Parkinson's disease and dementia as well as those aging without impairment The authors present theoretical grounding for using the concepts of self and the idea of a social and cultural tool kit that enables clients to interact with others and to define themselves in the context of those around them The text moves from theory to qualitative analyses of living with neurogenic disorders to implications for clinical interventions for individual clients and their significant others construction as a catalyst for shared understanding and action in advancing ageing studies Whilst case study research has a relatively long tradition in the canon of research methodologies little attention has so far been paid to the importance and value of participatory case study work This is surprising as its egalitarian and democratic value base naturally lends itself to the co production and co creation of personal and collective theory drawn directly from lived experience The book brings together over 15 years worth of participatory case study work in ageing studies in which the editors have been actively involved as either front line researchers or as supervisors to PhD and MPhil studies adopting the methodology and from where each of the contributors is selected Real life case examples are shared in the main chapters of the book and they provide direction as to how learning can be applied to other settings The chapters also contain key references and recommended reading This volume will appeal to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as postdoctoral researchers interested in fields such as research methods qualitative methods ageing studies and mental health studies
