Persian Manuscripts In The Libraries Of McGill University:

Persian Manuscripts in the Libraries of McGill University Adam Gacek, 2005 McGill University's impressive library collection contains approximately 334 Persian manuscripts acquired over a period of eighty years by esteemed scholars such as Casey A Wood Max Meyerhof and Wladimir Ivanow. The manuscripts collected by Ivanow, a Russian scholar, come from Lucknow and Sandila in northeast India where most of them had been copied, making them of great interest to paleographers and codicologists. Adam Gacek's catalogue describes these manuscripts which embrace all aspects of Islamic literature including Qur'anic exegesis, tradition, jurisprudence, philosophy, theology, mysticism, history, belles lettres, and science. Works in medicine and the natural sciences, particularly hunting, falconry, and falconry are well represented. The Persian manuscripts are preserved in four McGill University collections: the Blacker Wood Library of Zoology and Ornithology, the Osler Library of the History of Medicine, the Islamic Studies Library, and Rare Books and Special Collections Division. Forty-one are illuminated while twenty-two contain painted illustrations. The catalogue is arranged alphabetically by title, which is given in transliteration and Arabic script.

Culture persane et médecine ayurvédique en Asie du Sud Fabrizio Speziale, 2018-02-27. Cet ouvrage traite des interactions entre l'Ayurveda et la culture médicale persane en Asie du sud. Il présente pour la première fois une étude du mouvement de traduction en persan des sources ayurvédiques qui a eu lieu à partir du XIV<sup>e</sup> siècle. L'image de la culture ayurvédique qui émerge à partir des traités persans offre un nouvel éclairage sur l'histoire de l'Ayurveda à l'époque de l'hégémonie politique musulmane. Les traités persans appliquent de nouvelles catégories à l'analyse des matériaux traduits et ils transforment les modalités de présentation du savoir ayurvédique. En parallèle, l'ouvrage de Fabrizio Speziale aborde le phénomène symétrique de persanisation de l'univers intellectuel des médecins hindous qui traversent l'apprentissage du persan et s'approprient des connaissances médicales de la culture musulmane. This book looks at the interactions between Ayurveda and Persian medical culture in South Asia. It presents for the first time a study of the translation movement of Ayurvedic sources into Persian which took place from the 14th century onwards. The image of Ayurvedic culture emerging from Persian texts provides a new insight into the history of Ayurveda under Muslim political hegemony in South Asia. Persian treatises apply new categories to the analysis of translated materials and transform the way Ayurvedic knowledge is presented. At the same time, Fabrizio Speziale's book deals with the symmetric phenomenon of Persianization of the Hindu physicians who, through the learning of Persian language, appropriated medical knowledge of Muslim culture.

This is a detailed study of the illustrations to Amir Khusrau's Khamsah in which twenty discourses are followed by a brief parable and four romances. Amir Khusrau (1253-1325) lived the greater part of his adventurous life in Delhi; he composed in Persian and also in Hindi. From the point of view of manuscript illustration, his most important work is his Khamsah Quintet. Khusrau's position as a link between cultures of Persia and India means that the early illustrated copies of the Khamsah have a particular interest. The first extant exemplar is from the Persian area in the late 14th century, but a case can be made that work was probably illustrated earlier in India.

Fifty Years in the East Farhad Daftary, 2014-12-02 I B Tauris in association with the Institute of Ismaili Studies. Few fields of Islamic studies have witnessed as much progress in modern times as Ismaili studies, and in even fewer instances has the role of a single individual been as pivotal in initiating progress as that of Wladimir Ivanow (1886-1970) whose memoirs are now published here for the first time. The breakthrough in modern Ismaili studies occurred mainly as a result of the recovery and study of a large number of texts relating to the field which had not been available to the earlier generations of orientalists. The Persian and Arabic Ismaili manuscripts, many edited and published by Ivanow, reflect a rich diversity of intellectual and literary traditions. Ivanow left his native Russia soon after the October Revolution of 1917 and settled in India where he was formally commissioned in 1931 by Sultan Muhammad Shah Aga Khan III, the 48th Imam of the Nizari Ismailis, to investigate the history and teachings of the Ismailis. Henceforth, Ivanow began the systematic recovery and study of texts from this tradition of Shi'i Islam discovered in India, the Middle East and Central Asia amongst other regions. He also played a key role in the establishment of the Ismaili Society, the first research institution of its kind with a major collection of Ismaili manuscripts. Ivanow made these manuscripts available to other scholars, thereby contributing to further progress in the field. Ivanow completed his memoirs entitled Fifty Years in the East in 1968, shortly before his death. This work, originally written in Russian, is comprised of an autobiography and vivid accounts from his travels. These convey his ethnologist's interest in the archaeology of the way of life and profound curiosity for regional customs and languages. The memoirs, written in Tehran during Ivanow's final years, have now been edited with substantial annotations by Farhad Daftary. They reveal for the first time the circumstances under which modern Ismaili studies were initiated and an eyewitness account of several regions during the early decades of the twentieth century before the rapid onset of modernisation.

 Adam Gacek, World Survey of Islamic Manuscripts Geoffrey Roper, Al-Furqan Islamic Heritage Foundation (London, England), 1992. The World Survey of Islamic Manuscripts is the first ever attempt to account for all Islamic languages in over 90 countries of the world. It also seeks to provide detailed information for all holdings, thereby filling a lacuna for collections not as yet catalogued and even for many catalogued collections where the work has remained incomplete.

The Development of Islamic Library Collections in Western Europe and North America Stephan Roman, 1990. This is an examination of Islamic library collections in ten countries: Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, Great
