Research Methods Melanie Nind, Daniel Kilburn, Rebekah Luff, 2018-03-08 The importance of the teaching and learning of social research methods is increasingly recognised by research councils and policy bodies as crucial to the drive to increase capacity amongst the research community The need for greater scholarly engagement with how research methods are taught and learnt is also driven by the realisation that epistemological and methodological developments have not been accompanied by a pedagogical literature or culture Training initiatives need this pedagogic input if they are to realise the educational aspirations for methodologically skilled and competent researchers able to apply adapt and reflect on a range of high level research methods and approaches The contributors to this collection have fully engaged with this need to develop and share pedagogical knowledge in relation to the teaching of research methods Together they span qualitative quantitative and mixed methods a range of disciplinary and national contexts and face to face and blended teaching and learning Through detailed examples the collection addresses how best teaching practices develop in response to distinctive challenges that will resonate with readers in so doing it will inspire and inform their own development This book was originally published as a special issue of the International Journal of Social Research Methodology Critical Sociolinguistic Research Methods

Monica Heller, Sari Pietikäinen, Joan Pujolar, 2017-10-25 Critical Sociolinguistic Research Methods is a guide to conducting concrete ethnographic and discourse analytic research projects written by top scholars for students and researchers in social science fields Adopting a critical perspective focusing on the role of language in the construction of social difference and social inequality the authors walk the reader through five key moments in the life of a research project composing research questions designing the project doing fieldwork performing data analysis and writing academic texts or otherwise engaging in conversation with different types of social actors about the project These moments are illustrated by colour coded examples from the authors experiences that help researchers and students follow the sequential stages of a project Clear and highly applicable with a detailed workbook full of practical tips and examples this book is a great resource for graduate level qualitative methods courses in linguistics and anthropology as well as methods courses in the humanities and social sciences that focus on the role of language in research It is a timely text for investigating language issues that matter and have consequences for people s lives Opera as Anthropology Vlado Kotnik, 2016-09-23 This book contemplates the relationship between opera and anthropology It rests on the following central arguments on the one hand opera is quite a new and exotic topic for anthropologists while on the other anthropology is still perceived as an unusual approach to opera Both initial arguments are indicative of the current situation of the relationship between anthropological discipline and opera research The book introduces the work of anthropologists and ethnographers whose personal and professional affinity for opera has been explicated in their academic and biographical accounts Anthropological ethnological ethnographic and semiotic accounts of opera by Claude Lévi-Strauss, Michel Leiris, William O. Beeman, Denis Laborde, Paul Atkinson and Philippe Joseph Salazar establish that opera can be a pertinent object of anthropological interest, ethnographic investigation, cultural analysis and historical reflection. By touching on opera not merely as a musical aesthetic or artistic category but as a social, cultural, historical and transnational phenomenon that over the last four centuries has significantly influenced and reflected the identity of Western culture and society, this monograph suggests that opera and anthropology no longer need be alien to one another.

Reindeer herder's thinking Kirill Istomin, Mark Dwyer, 2021-11-19. This book is based on more than a decade of anthropological fieldwork and scholarship among Komi and Nenets nomadic reindeer herders of North eastern Europe and North western Siberia. Focused on herding techniques and the way of life of arctic nomads, the authors cogitate the unique attributes of reindeer herding and how they influence the herder's cognitive skills. Two central cognitive abilities are explored: the ability to find their way in expansive and homogenous arctic tundra terrain often in extreme weather conditions and navigating with neither maps nor navigation equipment, and the ability to decipher and predict reindeer behaviour. This book acknowledges and reviews current theories and models of human cognition developed in cognitive science. The authors build bridges between cognitive science and anthropology by presenting further case studies that reveal and demystify cognitive mechanisms. Axiomatically, they challenge the field of anthropology by demonstrating fundamental weaknesses and debunking anthropological theories that ignore cognitive facts. The authors advocate that the field of anthropology should no longer isolate itself from other scientific disciplines since in doing so its marginalisation will amplify and its relevance diminish. This book exemplifies the contribution of anthropology to building greater understanding of human cognition. However, this can only be achieved through embracing advancements made in other disciplines rather than ignoring their existence.

Empowering Educators Patrick Alan Danaher, Karen Noble, Kevin M. Larkin, Marta Kawka, Henriette van Rensburg, Lyn Brodie, Henriette Rensburg, 2016-04-29. Educators cannot empower their students without being empowered themselves. This book presents a number of proven principles and successful strategies that have been demonstrated by rigorous research to be effective in assisting teachers to carry out their fundamental mission of helping their students to achieve significant learning outcomes.

The World of Girls and Boys in Rural and Urban Ethiopia Eva Poluha, 2007. This collection of essays is about the lives, ideas and modes of interaction of children in Ethiopia against the background that in-depth knowledge of perceptions of cultural values and practices regarding children would contribute to improved work with them and to the promotion of their rights as children. The study is supported by Save the Children Sweden and Norway and the essays are a collaboration between those bodies and the Department of Social Anthropology at Addis Ababa University. Some essays are based on Master theses from the Department and others on fieldwork. Seminars and meetings formed part of the research with and about children. The editor provides a theoretical, methodological and ethical aspects overview and makes proposals on possible new themes. The five other contributors cover Conceptualizations of Children and Childhood. The
