Race and the Obama Phenomenon G. Reginald Daniel, Hettie V. Williams, 2014-07-17 The concept of a more perfect union remains a constant theme in the political rhetoric of Barack Obama From his now historic race speech to his second victory speech delivered on November 7 2012 that striving is evident Tonight more than two hundred years after a former colony won the right to determine its own destiny the task of perfecting our union moves forward stated the forty fourth president of the United States upon securing a second term in office after a hard fought political contest Obama borrows this rhetoric from the founding documents of the United States set forth in the US Constitution and in Abraham Lincoln s Gettysburg Address How naive or realistic is Obama s vision of a more perfect American union that brings together people across racial class and political lines How can this vision of a more inclusive America be realized in a society that remains racist at its core These essays seek answers to these complicated questions by examining the 2008 and 2012 elections as well as the events of President Obama s first term Written by preeminent race scholars from multiple disciplines the volume brings together competing perspectives on race gender and the historic significance of Obama s election and reelection The president heralded in his November 2012 acceptance speech The idea that if you re willing to work hard it doesn t matter who you are or where you come from or what you look like whether you re black or white Hispanic or Asian or Native American These essayists argue the truth of that statement and assess whether America has made any progress toward that vision

Fathers of the Lega George Newth, 2023-08-25 This book investigates the historical roots of the Italian Republic's oldest surviving political party the populist far right Lega Nord tracing its origins to post war Italy The author examines two main case studies the Movements for Regional Autonomy MRAs the Piedmontese Movement for Regional Autonomy the MARP and the Bergamascan Movement for Autonomy the MAB both of which formed a first wave of post war populist regionalism from 1955 until 1960 The regionalist leagues which later emerged in both Piedmont and Lombardy in the 1980s and which would later form part of the Lega Nord represented in many ways a revival of the MRAs populist regionalist discourse and ideology and therefore a second wave of post war populist regionalism Despite this neither the MRAs nor the twenty year gap between these waves of activism have received the attention they deserve Drawing on a series of archival and secondary sources this book takes an innovative approach which blends concepts and theories from historical sociology and political science It also provides a nuanced examination of the continuities and discontinuities between the MRAs and the Lega from the 1950s until time of publication This contributes to debates not only in contemporary Italian history but also populism and the far right While rooted in historical approaches the book's interdisciplinarity makes it suitable for students and researchers across a variety of subject areas including European history modern history and political history
