Power of Emotions: On the Affective Constitution of Political Struggle Andreas Ventsel,Peeter Selg,2025-07-11

The emergence of political identities and communities in social media is largely driven by affective responses to current events a tendency facilitated by the dominance of emotionally and visually oriented communication However this mode of community formation leads first to the inherent instability and transience of these groups and second to the oversimplification of complex socio political issues into binary yes no alternatives Within this framework deliberation and argumentation based problem solving become increasingly difficult as discourse is supplanted by emotional reactions that position individuals either for or against an issue Particularly significant is the role of affect and emotion in communication during times of crisis whether in the context of migration the COVID 19 pandemic or the war in Ukraine This affective role is evident in the anchoring of public discourse to personal emotions and the generation and dissemination of hashtags and tags that consolidate diverse phenomena under a unified label Such collective identity coalesces around connective action which is primarily driven either by opposition to the established order or by the reinforcement of a preexisting system s foundations Consequently the emergence of these affective publics must be analyzed within the broader context of power dynamics and evolving forms of identification in the contemporary media sphere forms rooted in shared practices of expression action and interpretation This edited volume will explore the manifestations of affective semiosis meaning making at the socio cultural and discursive levels Cultural context emotional reactions and affective semiosis play a crucial role in shaping how issues related to identity and security are articulated in both domestic and foreign policy as well as in the ways solutions to these challenges are sought By adapting the concept of affective semiosis for the analysis of discursive structures this volume offers an innovative and effective approach to identifying the triggers of emotional reactions in discourse and examining their impact on the construction of political identities fear scenarios misinformation campaigns polarization and other dynamics within networked societies The volume includes both theoretically oriented papers as well as analyses of empirical materials
