Predators Of The Wild Cheetah And Leopard:

Cheetah & Leopard - Predators of the Wild Time Life Video, Reintroduction of Top-Order Predators Matt W. Hayward, Michael Somers, 2009-04-13 Large predators are among the most threatened species on the planet and ways of conserving them in the face of increasing human populations and associated resource requirements are becoming critical. This book draws upon the experiences of some of the world's foremost large carnivore specialists to discuss the numerous issues associated with reintroducing large predators back into their natural habitats. Reviews of internationally renowned reintroduction programs for wolves, European lynx and African wild dog reveal the successes and failures of these actions. Experts on tigers, snow leopards and jaguars contend that there are other conservation options of higher priority that will ensure their security in the long term. Other experts discuss more theoretical aspects such as whether we know enough about these species to be able to predict their behavioural or ecological response to the reintroduction process. Social, economic, political and genetic considerations are also addressed.

Cattle, Their Predators and Geomatics Research Michael O'Neal Campbell, 2025-08-06 Cattle are currently the most important domesticated mammals with populations numbering in the hundreds of millions and occupying large tracts of land while the conservation of large mammalian carnivores is becoming a dominant discourse in modern geopolitics, also claiming large portions of the Earth's land surface. Computer-based surveying and communication systems including geomatics, Big Data and Big Tech are becoming an essential part of human communication and environmental assessments and are critical to large-scale assessments of land conflicts. A current, critical but neglected issue concerns the measurement of the interfaces of large carnivore and cattle ecologies in a cross-continental format. This book offers a novel approach to the interfaces of the sciences of conservation biology, animal ecology, agricultural development and geomatics, which are increasingly interconnected in modern global development scenarios. For animal ecology and conservation biology, it is about the management systems that have developed from ecological and human parameters. For agricultural development, topics concern ancestral development, physiological characteristics, ecological requirements and predation opportunities and conflicts of cattle breeds. For geomatics, the topics concern the image-based and survey-based technologies that enable more critical environmental assessments. The book takes a novel approach by examining the ancestry of cattle, including the aurochs and current wild buffalos, gaur, banteng, yaks, bison, the process of domestication into taurine and indicine cattle, the semi-domestication of yaks and water buffalo, the ecologies of ancestral and modern large carnivores including bears, big cats and canids, and how the requirements of these large charismatic mammals conflict with the requirements of cattle and agricultural development in Asia, Europe, Africa, North America and South America. This integrative approach contributes to the interests of academic researchers, students, practitioners and policy makers, and general readers.

G. M. Cromsigt, Sally Archibald, Norman Owen-Smith, 2017-03-02 This book synthesises key insights from a century of ecological research and monitoring efforts in one of Africa's oldest protected areas Biogeography and Ecology of Southern Africa Marinus J.A. Werger, A.C. van Bruggen, 2012-12-06 Southern Africa is certainly not a naturally bounded area so that there are several possibilities for delineating it and concepts about its extent Wellington discussed the various possibilities for delineation and suggested that one line stands out more clearly and definitely as a physical boundary than any other namely the South Equatorial Divide the watershed between the Zaïre Cuanza and Rufiji Rivers on the one hand and the Zambezi Cunene and Rovuma Rivers on the other This South Equatorial Divide is indeed a major line of separation for some organisms and is also applicable in a certain geographical sense though it does not possess the slightest significance for many other groups of organisms ecosystems or geographical and physical features of Africa The placing of the northern boundary of southern Africa differs in fact strongly per scientific discipline and is also influenced by practical considerations regarding the possibilities of scientific work as subordinate to certain political realities and historically grown traditions This is illustrated for example in such works as the Flora of Southern Africa where the northern boundary of the area is conceived as the northern and eastern political boundaries of South West Africa South Africa and Swaziland Botswana traditionally included in the area covered by the Flora Zambesiaca thus forms a large wedge in Southern Africa Watching Wildlife Cynthia Chris, 2006 Tidligere natur og dyrefilm fokuserede på dyreknefamilien og den gode forlader Under indtryk af genrens skift til tv mediet er fokus nu rettet mod parring forskelle mellem hanner og hunner og ofte med en tvivlsom henvisning til samme mænstre hos mennesker Boobies, Baobabs and Bot Flies. Experience of a 'foreigner' Dermot J Douglas, 2013-12-15 This book will entertain you make you laugh inform you and sometimes make you squirm It is a book that can be dipped into when you have a few spare moments and take you on amazing adventures to the ends of the earth The inspiration for this book is Dermot and Mary Douglas itchy feet which have brought them to places both close and remote from Achill to the Amazon rainforests to the Galapagos Islands It is a book of self contained stories written with humour affection and insight Wherever they travel Dermot and Mary consider themselves outsiders or foreigners permitting them the curiosity to look beyond the superficial to experience the depth and richness that lies beneath These stories relate experiences with fascinating and complex cultures encounters with rare and increasingly vulnerable animals and plants consequences of nutritional adventures both exquisite and disgusting and reflections on fascinating aspects of the historical development or physical achievements of ancient peoples Fears, Phobias and Rituals Isaac Marks, 1987-04-30 This book draws on fields as diverse as biochemistry physiology pharmacology psychology psychiatry and ethology to form a fascinating synthesis of information on the nature of fear and of panic and anxiety disorders Dr Marks offers both a detailed discussion of the clinical aspects of fear related syndromes and a broad exploration of the sources and mechanisms of fear and defensive behavior Dealing first with normal fear he establishes a firm scientific basis for understanding it He then presents a thorough analysis of the development symptoms and treatment of fear related syndromes Phobic and obsessive compulsive disorders are examined in detail The book is illustrated with examples of fear and defensive behavior in other living organisms By drawing provocative analogies between animal and human behavior it sheds new light on the origins of fears phobias and obsessive compulsive problems as well as on their treatment by drugs and psychological means Clinical psychologists ethologists and anyone interested in the mechanisms of behavior will be fascinated by this authoritative study The text is intriguing and informative and the bibliography of over 2 100 entries makes it an invaluable reference
