Repetitive Beat Generation:

Repetitive Beat Generation Steve Redhead,2000 A collection of interviews with some of the most popular and influential writers to emerge in the 1990 s revealing the deep influence that music has had on many of these writers   Ethically Speaking James McGonigal,Kirsten Stirling,2006 As politics and cultures interact within an increasingly diverse Scotland and differences in values become more evident across generations the need for clear understanding and cooperation within and between communities becomes a pressing issue This relates both to local and larger concerns language violence morality gender and sexuality education ethnicity truth and lies The chapters gathered here focus on significant Scottish writers of the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries Edwin Morgan A L Kennedy Liz Lochhead John Burnside Jackie Kay Robin Jenkins Muriel Spark William McIlvanney Ali Smith James Kelman and others and the communities described are certainly Scottish but the issues raised are universal Questions are asked about the relationship of the individual to others and therefore on a larger scale about the means through which any community is both constructed and sustained linguistically spiritually ethically If their multiple voices evoke a zigzag of contradictions it is at any rate a creative zigzag which discovers or uncovers many contradictory aspects of life in modern Scotland that should particularly be brought to light in a re emergent nation Ethically speaking Scottish writers point out the need to attend to many different narratives and retellings in order that Scots might live more honestly and clear sightedly with themselves and with the wider world

Dancefloor-Driven Literature Simon A. Morrison,2020-05-14 Almost as soon as club culture took hold during the UK s Second Summer of Love in 1988 its sociopolitical impact became clear with journalists filmmakers and authors all keen to use this cultural context as source material for their texts This book uses that electronic music subculture as a route into an analysis of these principally literary representations of a music culture why such secondary artefacts appear and what function they serve The book conceives of a new literary genre to accommodate these stories born of the dancefloor dancefloor driven literature Using interviews with Irvine Welsh author of Trainspotting 1994 alongside other dancefloor driven authors Nicholas Blincoe and Jeff Noon as case studies the book analyzes three separate ways writers draw on electronic dance music in their fictions interrogating that very particular intermedial intersection between the sonic and the linguistic It explores how such authors write about something so subterranean as the nightclub scene and analyses what specific literary techniques they deploy to write lucidly and fluidly about the metronomic beat of electronic music and the chemical accelerant that further alters that relationship   Rewriting Scotland Cristie L. March,2002 Rewriting Scotland examines six of the most influential and cutting edge contemporary Scottish writers as they redefine outmoded notions of Scottish identity From Irvine Welsh s windows into Scottish youth culture in Trainspotting to Janice Galloway s examinations of the duality of female isolation and empowerment this unique work reveals new explorations of Scottish gender politics sexuality voice and self awareness   Litpop: Writing and Popular Music Rachel Carroll,Adam Hansen,2016-05-13

Bringing together exciting new interdisciplinary work from emerging and established scholars in the UK and beyond Litpop addresses the question how has writing past and present been influenced by popular music and vice versa Contributions explore how various forms of writing have had a crucial role to play in making popular music what it is and how popular music informs literary writing in diverse ways The collection features musicologists literary critics experts in cultural studies and creative writers organised in three themed sections Making Litpop explores how hybrids of writing and popular music have been created by musicians and authors Thinking Litpop considers what critical or intellectual frameworks help us to understand these hybrid cultural forms Finally Consuming Litpop examines how writers deal with music s influence how musicians engage with literary texts and how audiences of music and writing understand their own role in making Litpop happen Discussing a range of genres and periods of writing and popular music this unique collection identifies theorizes and problematises connections between different forms of expression making a vital contribution to popular musicology and literary and cultural studies   DJ Culture in the Mix Bernardo Attias,Anna Gavanas,Hillegonda Rietveld,2013-10-24 The DJ stands at a juncture of technology performance and culture in the increasingly uncertain climate of the popular music industry functioning both as pioneer of musical taste and gatekeeper of the music industry Together with promoters producers video jockeys VJs and other professionals in dance music scenes DJs have pushed forward music techniques and technological developments in last few decades from mashups and remixes to digital systems for emulating vinyl performance modes This book is the outcome of international collaboration among academics in the study of electronic dance music Mixing established and upcoming researchers from the US Canada the UK Germany Austria Sweden Australia and Brazil the collection offers critical insights into DJ activities in a range of global dance music contexts In particular chapters address digitization and performativity as well as issues surrounding the gender dynamics and political economies of DJ cultures and practices   The University of Google Tara Brabazon,2016-02-17 Looking at schools and universities it is difficult to pinpoint when education teaching and learning started to haemorrhage purpose aspiration and function Libraries and librarians have been starved of funding Teachers cram their curriculum with skill development and generic competencies because knowledge creativity and originality are too expensive to provide to unmotivated students and parents obsessed with league tables not learning Meanwhile the internet offers a glut of information on everything under the sun a mere mouse click away Bored surfers fill their cursors and minds with irrelevancies We lose the capacity to sift discard and judge Information is no longer for social good but for sale Tara Brabazon argues that this information fetish has been profoundly damaging to our learning institutions and to the ambitions of our students and educators In The University of Google she projects a defiant and passionate vision of education as a pathway to renewal where research is based on searching and students are on a journey through knowledge rather than consumers in the shopping centre of cheap ideas Angry humorous and practical in equal measure The University of Google is based on real teaching experience and on years of engaged and sometimes exasperated reflection on it It is far from a luddite critique of the information age Tara Brabazon celebrates the possibilities of digital platforms in education but deplores the consequences of placing funding on technology and not teachers In doing so she opens a new debate on how to make our educational system both productive and provocative in the post information age The Routledge Handbook of International Beat Literature A.
