Guide to Export Controls Philip L. Ray,Eric L. Hirschhorn,1986 Vessel Health and Preservation: The Right Approach for Vascular Access Nancy L. Moureau,2024-12-28 This second edition offers updated and revised information on vessel health and preservation VHP It presents a model of care and systematic application of vascular access and administration of intravenous treatment to show how establishing and maintaining a route to the bloodstream with optimal methods is essential for patients in acute care today This model concept was first published in poster form in 2008 and in JVA in 2012 which has received a great deal of attention especially in the US UK and Australia Until now little thought has been given to an intentional process to guide selection insertion and management of vascular access devices VADs and by default actions are based on crisis management when a quickly selected VAD fails The book details how VHP establishes a framework or pathway model for each step of the patient experience intentionally guiding improving and eliminating risk when possible The evidence points to the fact that reducing fragmentation establishing a pathway and teaching the process to all stakeholders reduces complications with intravenous therapy improves efficiency and diminishes cost As such this book has become a strong point of reference appealing to vascular access specialists bedside nurses physicians and other health professionals Few authoritative guides provide the depth and descriptive evidence included in this VHP model of care suitable for hospital administrators directors educators and others to apply within their services In Search of an Identity Edward Vickers,2003 This volume traces the influences that have shaped the secondary school history curriculum during Hong Kong s prolonged political transition between the 1960s and the early 21st century focusing especially on the relationship between history teaching and identity formation The author s experience as a local history teacher during the mid 1990s made him conscious of the peculiarities of the history curriculum at this time in particular the neglect in both syllabuses and textbooks of Hong Kong's own history and the unique division between History and the entirely separate subject of Chinese History

Christian Tourist Attractions, Mythmaking, and Identity Formation Erin Roberts, Jennifer Eyl, 2018-11-29

Christian Tourist Attractions Mythmaking and Identity Formation examines a sampling of contemporary Christian tourist attractions that position visitors as the inheritors of ancient sacred traditions and make claims about the truth of the historical narratives that they promote Rather than approaching these attractions as sacred expressions of religious experience or as uncontested accounts of history the book applies recent work on mythmaking and identity formation to argue that these presentations of the past function as strategic discourses that serve material concerns in the present From an approach informed by social and materialist theories of religion the volume draws upon a variety of methodological approaches that enable readers to understand the often bewildering array of objects claims demands and activities not to mention the seemingly endless array of gifts and personal items available for purchase that appear at attractions including Ark Encounter the Creation Museum the Holy Land Experience Bible Walk Museum Christian Zionist tours of Israel and the recently opened Museum of the Bible Discourse analysis practice theory rhetorical criticism and embodied theories of cognition help make sense not only of the Christian tourist attractions under examination but also of the ways that religion is entangled with contemporary social political and economic interests more broadly
