 is now intricately linked not just to economic growth but more importantly to the quality of life of people in terms of their social status political participation cultural freedom environmental justice and inclusive development For previously colonized nations like Nigeria these linkages are believed to have been influenced by the legacies of colonial rule positively or otherwise Through the Gender Lens A Century of Social and Political Development in Nigeria looks at how colonialism has enabled or hindered the roles of the state in promoting inclusive development in general and gender equality in particular in the process of nation building In this edited volume scholars analyze a host of policies strategies and programs as well as empirical evidence to expose how types of governance from direct colonial rule in the country from 1914 through her independence in 1960 a Republic in 1963 and to different post independence governance periods have influenced gender relations and the impacts of these on Nigerian women Diverse sectoral perspectives from education health culture environment and especially politics are presented to explain the level of attainment or otherwise of gender equality and the implications for Nigeria s road to sustainable development The emphasis on the role of the state in development particularly indicts the social and political domains of governance Hence the main focus of inquiry in the volume In its twelve chapters the authors analyze available data and other information to draw relevant conclusions identify lessons of experience including from some cross country comparisons and make concrete recommendations for more gender inclusive systems of governance in the next century of Nigeria s nationhood COVID-19 and Gender-Based Violence in Zimbabwe Isaiah Munyiswa,Pauline Mateveke,Ezra Chitando,2024-12-02 This book investigates the experiences of women in Zimbabwe facing COVID 19 and gender based violence arguing that the insights from this extremely tough period could be used as a springboard for positive legal cultural and policy changes In 2020 COVID 19 caught the world by surprise and often the socio cultural factors impacting the treatment and care of those infected by the virus were not fully considered In Zimbabwe the socially constructed role of women as caregivers left them particularly vulnerable Not only this but COVID 19 lockdowns coincided with particularly high levels of sexual exploitation and gender based violence with women again comprising the majority of victims Authors in this book analyse the pandemic experiences of women in Zimbabwe both in the workplace or in the home with the hope of fostering positive cultural change and sensitising policy makers to the need for legislation that protects women in moments of disasters The important lessons and discussion points raised by this book will be important to policymakers both within Zimbabwe and beyond and to researchers working on gender public health philosophy sociology and politics in Africa

Gender Inequalities, Sexual and Reproductive Health, and Sustainable Development in the Global South Praveen Kumar Pathak, Shah Md Atiqul Haq, Niharika Tripathi, Tizta Degfie, 2025-08-22 Investing in Sexual and Reproductive Health SRH has been recognized as one of the prudent strategies to ensure the well being of girls and women and also to advance broader social and economic development for the nations and future generations Moreover it provides an excellent opportunity for millions of girls and women to make an informed choice about the number timing and spacing between births experience safe motherhood deliver healthy newborns and have a safe and satisfying sexual life However several young girls and women encounter an array of structural barriers patriarchy and unfavorable gendered norms practices including child marriage son preference gender based violence against women female foeticide lower access to economic property rights restriction of mobility etc that hinder their socioeconomic progress and health status Discourse on leveraging gender equity and reproductive health could be further strengthened with the involvement of young boys and men Given that restrictive gender norms affect both men's and women's reproductive health potential therefore integrating young boys and men along with young girls and women shall be a comprehensive strategy to
