Re-Reading the Prophets through Corporate Globalization Matthew J. M. Coomber, 2022-07-29 Judah faced radical and rapid societal change as it was absorbed by the Assyrian Empire in the eighth century BCE But while Judean prophets displayed outrage for the injustices these changes caused their texts are often devoid of socio economic context Identities of perpetrators victims and even the nature of their actions are often absent This book sheds light on those contexts by employing a recurring pattern found around the world and across time as subsistence communities are absorbed into complex economic systems In addition to outlining this pattern s presence in Judah s archaeological record Coomber turns the lens in the other direction to gain new insights from a recent example of this pattern s unfolding Tunisia s absorption into international capitalism The result is an interpretive tool that asks new questions of ancient prophetic texts while also revealing threads through which the prophets find voice in addressing a radically different circumstance with similar consequences pertaining to land use the weaponization of debt and exploitation of labor

Re-Reading Tragic Africa Amy Rushton, 2024-05-31 Grounded in world systemic analysis this book revisits the literary and social implications of tragedy in relation to global narratives about Africa and within fiction by writers from the continent It argues that working through the full complexity of tragedy helps to identify and challenge plots that depict Africa as reaching a tragic impasse Instead reconsidering tragedy allows for further related interventions including the implications of narratives of development the argument for formally engaging with literary texts that present challenging material reformulations of African political and cultural agency and the possibilities to be found in utopian thinking It claims that contemporary fiction helps to scrutinise the familiar big picture of Africa and create space for discussions about wider political and historical commonalities between the continent and the rest of the world As such the novels discussed in this study are not simply about Africa these fictional narratives position Africa as a central actor within the global history of late capitalism Prophets and Prophecy in the Late Antique Near East Jae Hee Han, 2023-11-09 Offers an interdisciplinary account of prophecy as a topic of discourse among various late antique Near Eastern communities Against assumptions that prophecy ceased in the past this book argues that it remained a topic of discourse among various Near Eastern communities Printing and Prophecy Jonathan Green, 2011-11-17 Examining possible connections between prophecy and changes in media in the century after Gutenberg
