Research Into Illustration Evelyn Goldsmith,1984 The Psychology of Illustration Harvey A. Houghton,Dale M. Willows,2012-12-06 From the earliest stages of elementary school to the advanced college level various types of illustrations are included in educational materials in order to promote learning These illustrative adjuncts are often profuse and in many cases they may be the most striking feature that distinguishes one set of learning materials from another In addition the perceived effectiveness of the illustrations clearly plays an important role in the marketing of many educational materials Despite this pervasiveness and salience in education there has never been a systematic effort to bring together the results of research on illustrations in order to provide some level of guidance to the developers of commercial learning materials There is however a considerable research literature that is directly relevant to this aspect of education The purpose of the present two volume set is to summarize and interpret the existing research literature that deals with the various educational functions of illustrations In undertaking to produce an omnibus reference work on psychological and instructional issues surrounding illustrated learning material our paramount aim has been to stimulate closer collaboration between researchers producers and users of educational text The problems associated with moving the findings of educational research into the realm of everyday practice have been perennial ones While many researchers and practitioners are interested in fundamentally similar questions they typically speak dissimilar languages read different journals and carry out their work under disparate ideologies The SAGE Handbook for Research in Education Clifton F. Critical Discourse and Corpus Approaches to Systemic

Functional Grammar Chenguang Chang,Josef Schmied,Matthias Hofmann,2021-03-18 The present volume draws on the experience of the Workshop held in Germany in late 2018 to combine the specialisations of the two linguistic research teams of the two partner universities Sun Yat sen University in China and Chemnitz University of Technology in Germany It combines more theoretical approaches by experienced scholars and case studies by young researchers on topics and texts on current Chinese developments The contributions can also serve as a general model for open and critical international and intercultural academic discourse

Drawing multimodality's bigger picture: Metalanguages and corpora for multimodal analyses Janina Wildfeuer,Claudia Lehmann,2024-07-30 Multimodality has most recently been described no longer as a research field or discipline on its own but rather as a stage of development within a field Bateman 2022a 49 The realization that 1 many different fields and disciplines now enter their own multimodal phase with new interest in multimodal phenomena and that 2 these disciplines all commit to the development of multimodality research with their own theoretical principles and methodological tools brings with it not only an immense breadth of potential analytical objects but also many new meta methodological issues We need to find ways of combining insights from the variously imported theoretical and methodological backgrounds brought along by previous non multimodal stages of any contributing disciplines Bateman 2022a 49 At the same time the search for a meta methodology for multimodal analyses is pushed further by the recent trend towards more empirical approaches to multimodal phenomena and the development and use of larger multimodal corpora that just as well require theoretical and methodological refinements We need to develop ways of strengthening claims with robustly applicable methods which nevertheless remain firmly anchored theoretically Bateman 2022b 64 For a productive handling of these issues disciplinary triangulation and finding a common language or metalanguage Maton newest results from data collection methods and multimodal corpus analyses that expand the current quantitative work by e g applying existing theories and methods to larger datasets or exploring the newest communication technologies We are particularly interested in seeing how works addressing these aspects contribute to finding ways of productive triangulation and integration for and within a meta methodology for multimodality research This Research Topic aims to bring together scholars from a variety of disciplines interested in multimodality research to review explore and advance the contributions that John Bateman as one of the key figures in multimodality research has made to both theory and method building as well as to the driving forward of multimodal empirical and corpus analyses We welcome contributions that for example critically address the theoretical and methodological advancements that John Bateman has made with regard to the notions of semiotic mode discourse semantics genre textuality etc apply one of the many approaches that John Bateman has developed for the empirical analysis of multimodal artefacts e g the GeM model for page based documents his work on multimodal film and audio visual analysis and the discourse semantics and or annotation approach to visual narratives to larger corpora or currently newly developing communicative situations expand on one of the abovementioned aspects with new ideas and insights from disciplines that have not yet been included in multimodality research Design for Health Emmanuel

Tsekleves,Rachel Cooper,2017-05-18 One of the most complex global challenges is improving wellbeing and developing strategies for promoting health or preventing illbeing of the population The role of designers in indirectly supporting the promotion of healthy lifestyles or in their contribution to illbeing has emerged This means designers now need to consider both morally and ethically how they can ensure that they do no harm and that they might deliberately decide to promote healthy lifestyles and therefore prevent ill health Design for Health illustrates the history of the development of design for health the various design disciplines and domains to which design has contributed Through 26 case studies presented in this book the authors reveal a plethora of design research methodologies and research methods employed in design for health The editors also present following a thematic analysis of the book chapters seven challenges and seven areas of opportunity that designers are called upon to address within the context of healthcare Furthermore five emergent trends in design in healthcare are presented and discussed This book will be of interest to students of design as well as designers and those working to improve the quality of healthcare Communities of Practice - Vol. 1 Chris Kimble,Paul Hildreth,2008-01-01 The aim of this set of books is to combine the best of current academic research into the use of Communities of Practice in education with hands on practitioner experience in order to provide teachers and academics with a convenient source of guidance and an incentive to work with and develop in their own Communities of Practice This set of books is divided into two volumes volume 1 deals principally with the issues found in colocated Communities of Practice while volume 2 deal principally with distributed Communities of Practice
