Technical Communication James Conklin,George F. Hayhoe,2010-10-27 This volume brings together a representative sample from the growing body of work in qualitative research in technical communication Including examples of qualitative methodologies including ethnography case study focus groups action research grounded theory and interview research used by technical communicators to strengthen their practice the result is a rich harmony of perspectives as diverse as the field of technical communication itself Civic Engagement and Technical Communication James M. Dubinsky,J. Harrison

Carpenter,2023-04-14 This special issue on civic engagement and technical communication focuses on the ways educators can help students become actively engaged members of society particularly a rhetorical democracy The first essay examines the concept of community as a locus for civic engagement and question some of the definitions of community seen embedded in current pedagogical practices The next article seeks to shape understanding of practice The tension of developing students civic awareness and engagement is the topic of the third paper The fourth article helps students gain skills and organization awareness and improves the perceived relevance of the work The final two essays approach the issue of civic engagement from slightly different angles one examining the role of teacher as both rhetor and instructor and the other looking to the past for possible solutions for the future By continuing the conversation about the relationship between technical communication and the public good and focusing specifically on pedagogical strategies and their theoretical and historical underpinnings the authors in this special issue clarify roles that technical communication and technical communicators play in civil society as well as ways curricula can be shaped to prepare students to fill those roles Research Strategies for Small Businesses Don E. Gudmundson,2016-07-22 This book originally published in 1996 develops a model of information gathering for small businesses Whilst all small business owners gather and process some information the quality and types of information gathered is limited Size and resource constraints force small business owners to make difficult decisions related to the research that they conduct The model developed in this book is tested in part through a study of the information gathering practices of small owners managers in the landscaping industry in Wisconsin USA The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric Lynée Lewis Gaillet, Winifred Bryan Horner, 2010-03-15 Through two previous editions The Present State of Scholarship in Historical and Contemporary Rhetoric has not only introduced new scholars to interdisciplinary research but also become a standard research tool in a number of fields and pointed the way toward future study Adopting research methodologies of revision and recovery this latest edition includes all new material while still following the format of the original and is constructed around bibliographical surveys of both primary and secondary works addressing the Classical Medieval Renaissance and eighteenth through twentieth century periods within the history of rhetoric The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric doesn't simply update but rather recasts study in the history of rhetoric The authors experienced and well known scholars in their respective fields redefine existing strands of rhetorical study within the periods expand the scope of rhetorical engagement and include additional figures and their works The globalization and expansion of rhetoric are demonstrated in each of these parts and seen clearly in the inclusion of more female rhetors discussions of historical and contemporary electronic resources and examinations of rhetorical practices falling outside the academy and the traditional canon New to this edition is a cumulative review of twentieth century rhetoric along with a thematic index designed to facilitate interdisciplinary or specialized study and scholarly research across the traditional historical periods As programs incorporating rhetorical studies continue to expand at the university level students and researchers are in need of up to date bibliographical resources No other work matches the scope and approach of The Present State of Scholarship in the History of Rhetoric which carries scholarship on rhetoric into the twenty first century

Research Methods for the Digital Humanities lewis levenberg, Tai Neilson, David Rheams, 2018-11-04 This volume introduces the reader to the wide range of methods that digital humanities employ and offers a practical guide to the study interpretation and presentation of cultural material and practices In this instance the editors consider digital humanities to include both the use of computing to understand cultural material in new ways and the application of theories and methods from the humanities to interpret new technologies Each chapter provides a step by step guide to cutting edge methodologies so that students can make informed decisions about the methods they use consider ethical practices follow practical procedures and present their work effectively Readers will develop practical and reflexive understandings of the software and digital devices that they study and use for research and the book will help new researchers collaborate and contribute to their scholarly communities and to public discourse As contemporary humanities work becomes increasingly interdisciplinary and increasingly permeated by and with digital technologies this volume helps new researchers navigate an evolving academic environment Humanities and social sciences students will find this textbook an invaluable resource for assessing and creating digital projects Re/Orienting Writing Studies William P. Banks, Matthew B. Cox, Caroline Dadas, 2019-04-15

Re Orienting Writing Studies is an exploration of the intersections among queer theory rhetoric and research methods in writing studies Focusing careful theoretical attention on common research practices this collection demonstrates how queer rhetorics of writing composing textual analysis history assessment and embodiment identity significantly alter both methods and methodologies in writing studies The chapters represent a diverse set of research locations and experiences from which to articulate a new set of innovative research practices While the humanities have engaged queer theory extensively research methods have often been hermeneutic or interpretive At the same time social science approaches in composition research have foregrounded inquiry on human participants but have often struggled to understand where lesbian gay bisexual transgender and queer people fit into empirical research projects Re Orienting Writing Studies works at the intersections of humanities and social science methodologies to offer new insight into using queer methods for data collection and queer practices for framing research Contributors Chanon Adsanatham Jean Bessette Nicole I Caswell Michael J Faris Hillery Glasby Deborah Kuzawa Maria Novotny G Patterson Stacey Waite Stephanie West Puckett Handbook of Research Design and Social Measurement Delbert C. Basic Quantitative Research Methods for Urban Planners Reid Ewing, Keunhyun Park, 2020-02-24 In most planning practice and research planners work with quantitative data. By summarizing, analyzing, and presenting data, planners create stories and narratives that explain various planning issues. Particularly in the era of big data and data mining, there is a stronger demand in planning practice and research to increase capacity for data-driven storytelling. Basic Quantitative Research Methods for Urban Planners provides readers with comprehensive knowledge and hands-on techniques for a variety of quantitative research studies, from descriptive statistics to commonly used inferential statistics. It covers statistical methods from chi-square through logistic regression and also quasi-experimental studies. At the same time, the book provides fundamental knowledge about research in general, such as planning data sources and uses conceptual frameworks and technical writing. The book presents relatively complex material in the simplest and clearest way possible and, through the use of real-world planning examples, makes the theoretical and abstract content of each chapter as tangible as possible. It will be invaluable to students and novice researchers, from planning programs, intermediate researchers who want to branch out methodologically, practicing planners who need to conduct basic analyses with planning data, and anyone who consumes the research of others and needs to judge its validity and reliability.

Equipping Technical Communicators for Social Justice Work Rebecca Walton, Godwin Y. Agboka, 2021-06-01 Equipping Technical Communicators for Social Justice Work provides action-focused resources and tools, heuristics, methodologies, and theories for scholars to enact social justice. These resources support the work of scholars and practitioners in conducting research and teaching classes in socially just ways. Each chapter identifies a tool, highlights its relevance to technical communication, and explains how and why it can prepare technical communication scholars for socially just work. For the field of technical and professional communication to maintain its commitment to this work, how social justice intersects with inclusivity through UX, technological, civic, and legal literacies, as well as through community engagement, must be acknowledged. Equipping Technical Communicators for Social Justice Work will be of significance to established scholar-teachers and graduate students as well as to newcomers to the field.
