Black Directors in Hollywood Melvin Donalson, 2010-01-01 An in depth look at the pioneering work and lasting influence of black Hollywood directors from Gordon Parks to Spike Lee and beyond

Hollywood film directors are some of the world's most powerful storytellers shaping the fantasies and aspirations of people around the globe. Since the 1960s African Americans have increasingly joined their ranks bringing fresh insights to the characters we watch and profoundly changing the way stories are told. Today black directors are making films in all popular genres while inventing new ones to speak directly from and to the black experience. This book offers a comprehensive look at the work of black directors in Hollywood from pioneers such as Gordon Parks, Melvin Van Peebles, and Ossie Davis to current talents including Spike Lee, John Singleton, Kasi Lemmons, and Carl Franklin. Discussing sixty-seven individuals and over 135 films, Melvin Donalson thoroughly explores how black directors' storytelling skills and film techniques have widened both the thematic focus and visual style of American cinema. Assessing the meanings and messages in their films, Donalson convincingly demonstrates that black directors are balancing Hollywood's demand for box office success with artistic achievement and responsibility to ethnic, cultural, and gender issues.

An introduction outlines the historical evolution of this film genre and covers the whole range of cinematic interpretations from the response to Jack the Ripper and other real-life serial killers through the late 1960s to the current state of the genre. Arranged alphabetically by title, the filmography covers over 500 feature films and select television movies. Each entry contains a listing of the film's main credits, a synopsis of the film, a summary of the film's respective merits, and a discussion of how they fit into the themes and structures outlined in the introduction. Only films that portray the serial killer as a repeat pattern killer and directly or by suggestion reveal the killer's aberrant sexual motivations or their craving for manipulation, domination, and control with subsequent desires to punish women or society are included.
