Natural Victims:

Knowing Victims Rebecca Stringer, 2014-06-20 Knowing Victims explores the theme of victimhood in contemporary feminism and politics. It focuses on popular and scholarly constructions of feminism as victim feminism, an ideology of passive victimhood that denies women's agency and provides the first comprehensive analysis of the debate about this ideology which has unfolded among feminists since the 1980s. The book critically examines a movement away from the language of victimhood across a wide array of discourses and the neoliberal replacement of the concept of structural oppression with the concept of personal responsibility. In derogating the notion of victim, neoliberalism promotes a conception of victimization as subjective rather than social, a state of mind rather than a worldly situation. Drawing upon Nietzsche, Lyotard, rape crisis feminism and feminist philosophy, Stringer situates feminist politicizations of rape, interpersonal violence, economic inequality and welfare reform as key sites of resistance to the victim-blaming logic of neoliberalism. She suggests that although recent feminist critiques of victim feminism have critically diagnosed the anti-victim movement, they have not positively defended victim politics. Stringer argues that a conception of the victim as an agentic bearer of knowledge and an understanding of resentment as a generative force for social change provides a potent counter to the negative construction of victimhood characteristic of the neoliberal era. This accessible and insightful analysis of feminism, neoliberalism and the social construction of victimhood will be of great interest to researchers and students in the disciplines of gender and women's studies, psychology, sociology, politics and philosophy.

Victims Before the International Criminal Court Christoph Safferling, Guren Petrossian, 2021-09-16 The book analyses the difficulties the International Criminal Court faces with the definition of those persons who are eligible for participating in the proceedings. Establishing justice for victims is one of the most important aims of the court. It therefore created a unique system of victim participation. Since its first trial, the court struggles to live up to the expectancies its statute has generated. The book offers a new approach of how to define victimhood by looking at the different international crimes. It seeks to offer guidance for the right to participate in the different stages of the proceedings by looking at the practice in national jurisdictions. Lastly, the book offers insights into the functioning of the reparation regime at the ICC by virtue of the Trust Fund for Victims and its different mandates. The critical analysis of the ICC practice with regard to definition, participation and reparation aims at promoting a realistic approach which will avoid the disappointing of expectations and thus help to enhance the acceptance of the ICC.

Reparations for Victims of Genocide, War Crimes and Crimes Against Humanity Carla Ferstman, Mariana Goetz, Alan Stephens, 2009 This book provides detailed analyses of systems that have been established to provide reparations to victims of genocide, crimes against humanity and war crimes and the way in which these systems have worked and are working in practice. Many of these systems are described and assessed for the first time in an academic publication. The publication draws upon a groundbreaking Conference organised by the Clemens Nathan Research Centre (CNRC) and REDRESS at the Peace Palace in The Hague with the support of the Dutch Carnegie Foundation Both CNRC and REDRESS had become very concerned about the extreme difficulty encountered by most victims of serious international crimes in attempting to access effective and enforceable remedies and reparation for harm suffered In discussions between the Conference organisers and Judges and officials of the International Criminal Court it became ever more apparent that there was a great need for frank and open exchanges on the question of effective reparation between the representatives of victims of NGOs and IGOs and other experts It was clear to all that the many current initiatives of governments and regional and international institutions to afford reparations to victims of genocide crimes against humanity and war crimes could benefit greatly by taking into full account the wide and varied practice that had been built up over several decades In particular the Hague Conference sought to consider in detail the long experience of the Conference on Jewish Material Claims against Germany the Claims Conference in respect of Holocaust restitution programmes as well as the practice of truth commissions arbitral proceedings and a variety of national processes to identify common trends best practices and lessons This book thus explores the actions of governments as well as of national and international courts and commissions in applying processing implementing and enforcing a variety of reparations schemes and awards Crucially it considers the entire complex of issues from the perspective of the beneficiaries survivors and their communities and from the perspective of the policy makers and implementers tasked with resolving technical and procedural challenges in bringing to fruition adequate effective and meaningful reparations in the context of mass victimisation

Compensating Catastrophe Victims Véronique Bruggeman, 2010-01-01 This book shows that amelioration of the current compensation solutions for disaster victims is indeed a possibility In a heated yet often poorly informed debate it offers clarity and insights regarding the financial compensation for victims of catastrophes which in addition to raising academic interest are certain to help build a framework for future policymakers and lawmakers faced with shaping compensation programmes for catastrophe victims

The Standing of Victims in the Procedural Design of the International Criminal Court Tatiana Bachvarova, 2017-05-08 This book canvasses the autonomous position of victims before the International Criminal Court It seeks to provide an objective and balanced perspective and neither rejects the idea of victims participation nor seeks to extend it beyond the contours determined by the founders of the ICC The author contributes to the existing debate in academia and in practice by delineating the core most complex and contentious matters ensuing from the role assigned to victims The scrupulously selected issues unveil and blueprint the essential characteristics that delimit the standing of victims as independent actors in the ICC s arena distinct from the parties and other non party participants As an integral part of the ICC s synergy victims converge and interact with its other components Therefore the position and role of victims are contemplated in the context of the Court s procedural mechanism and the mission pursued by the parties and the Chamber The philosophy underpinning the ICC s design and the standing of victims therein also requires analysis from a wider perspective Accordingly the volume draws an in depth parallel with relevant developments and trends at the international and domestic level Close attention is paid to the legal instruments and jurisprudence of internationalized criminal justice bodies human rights institutions and non criminal jurisdictions to the extent useful for shedding further light on the issues at hand Recourse is also made to various national systems whenever relevant

General Theory of Victims

François Laruelle, 2015-06-04 The most accessible expression of François Laruelle's non philosophy or non standard thought General Theory of Victims forges a new role for contemporary philosophers and intellectuals by rethinking their relation to victims A key text in recent continental philosophy it is indispensable for anyone interested in the debates surrounding materialism philosophy of religion and ethics Transforming Joseph de Maistre's adage that the executioner is the cornerstone of society General Theory of Victims instead proposes the victim as the cornerstone of humanity and the key figure for contemporary thought Laruelle condemns philosophy for participating in and legitimating the great persecutions of the twentieth century and lays out a new vision of victim oriented ethics To do this he engages the resources of both quantum physics and theology in order to adapt a key concept of non philosophy Man in person for a new understanding of the victim As Man in person the victim is no longer exclusively defined by suffering but has the capacity to rise up against the world's persecution Based on this Laruelle develops a new ethical role for the intellectual in which he does not merely represent the victim but imitates or clones it thereby assisting the victim's uprising within thought

The Ashgate Research Companion to International Criminal Law Yvonne McDermott, 2016-03-23 International criminal law is at a crucial point in its history and development and the time is right for practitioners academics and students to take stock of the lessons learnt from the past fifteen years as the international community moves towards an increasingly uni polar international criminal legal order with the International Criminal Court ICC at the helm This unique Research

Companion takes a critical approach to a wide variety of theoretical practical legal and policy issues surrounding and underpinning the operation of international criminal law as applied by international criminal tribunals The book is divided into four main parts The first part analyses international crimes and modes of liability with a view to identifying areas which have been inconsistently or misguidedly interpreted overlooked to date or are likely to be increasingly significant in future The second part examines international criminal processes and procedures and here the authors discuss issues such as victim participation and the rights of the accused The third part is a discussion of complementarity and sentencing while the final part of the book looks at international criminal justice in context The authors raise issues which are likely to provide the most significant challenges and most promising opportunities for the continuing development of this body of law As international criminal law becomes more established as a distinct discipline it becomes imperative for international criminal scholarship to provide a degree of critical analysis both of individual legal issues and of the international criminal project as a whole This book represents an important collective effort to introduce an element of legal realism or critical legal studies into the academic discourse

Third Parties in Criminal Proceedings Stefano Ruggeri, Antonella Falcone, Viviana Di Nuzzo, 2025-01-01 This book deals with the role and the protection of third parties in criminal proceedings Starting from a comparative law definition of formal parties in criminal proceedings based on seven domestic jurisdictions this research focuses on the increasing impact of criminal investigations and criminal trials on different categories of third parties i.e. those individuals who without being suspected or accused of a criminal offence are involved in criminal investigations and trials The complex features of this topic require a further analysis from another comparative perspective that looks at the protection of victims and third parties at the levels of international and supranational law Particular attention is firstly devoted to the acknowledgment of a set of procedural safeguards to victims and individuals other than formal participants in criminal proceedings by means of the enormous contribution made by international human rights courts with a specific focus on the European Court of Human Rights and the Inter American Court of Human Rights Regarding victims in particular their multifaceted status are also examined from the viewpoint of international criminal justice as well The European scenario moreover allows for further deepening of the role and the procedural guarantees granted to third parties and victims from the viewpoint of EU law in relation to the area of freedom security and justice in which additional human rights challenges emerge in the field of transnational criminal justice Comparison shall at all levels be carried out in the light of the enormous transformations due to the digital transition which has brought about unbelievable changes in every area of mankind's life including criminal justice Ever newer tools indeed
