Natural Theology Versus Theology of Nature?/ Natürliche Theologie versus Theologie der Natur? Gert Hummel, 2015-07-01 No detailed description available for Natural Theology Versus Theology of Nature Nat rliche Theologie versus Theologie der Natur

Recognizing the Gift Daniel A. Rober, 2016-06-01 Recognizing the Gift puts twentieth century Catholic theological conversations on nature and grace particularly those of Henri de Lubac and Karl Rahner into dialogue with Continental philosophy notably the thought of Jean Luc Marion and Paul Ricoeur It argues that a renewed theology of nature and grace must build on the accomplishments of the recent past while acknowledging that an engagement with the political is unavoidable for theology Ultimately the aim is to revive and broaden discussion of nature and grace by drawing together the insights of contemporary theologians and Continental philosophers Too often these areas of inquiry remain quite separate in part due to differing priorities This work tries to open that conversation in part by critically pointing out in dialogue with Ricoeur the need in Marion s work for an acknowledgment of recognition reciprocity and the political It thus argues for a theology of nature and grace in terms of recognition of the gift drawing out the reciprocal and political nature of gift and givenness in opposition to those including Marion who would seek to avoid politics and reciprocity as a proper avenue of inquiry for theology

Nature and Grace James A. Carpenter, 1988 To move us out of entrapment in anthropocentricity into a liberating theocentricity Publisher Discusses the theology of Augustine Ivenaues Tillich Rahner Metz Moltmann Whitehead and Westermann

The Protestant Ethic and the Spirit of Punishment T. Richard Snyder, 2001 Snyder shows that the spirit of punishment in our culture is rooted in and reinforced by popular Christian misunderstandings of human nature and God s grace These misunderstandings include two consequential errors the absence of any notion of creation grace and an understanding of redemption grace couched exclusively in individualistic internalized and nonhistorical terms In both cases the social historical dimensions of grace necessary for holistic redemption are ignored Publisher

God and Contemporary Science Philip Clayton, 1997 It is widely believed that contemporary science has ruled out divine action in the world Arguing that theology can and must respond to this challenge Philip Clayton surveys the available biblical and philosophical resources

Recent work in cosmology quantum physics and the brain sciences offers exciting new openings for a theology of divine action If Christian theism is to make use of these opportunities says Clayton it must place a greater stress on divine immanence In response to this challenge Clayton defends the doctrine of panentheism the view that the world is in some sense within God although God also transcends the world God and Contemporary Science offers the first book length defense of panentheism as a viable option within traditional Christian theology Clayton first defends a postfoundationalist model of theology that is concerned more with the coherence of Christian belief than with rational obligation or proof He makes the case that the Old and New Testament theologies do not stand opposed to panentheism but actually support it at a number of points He then outlines the philosophical strengths of a panentheistic view of God's relation to the world and God's activity in the world The remainder of the book applies this theological position to recent scientific developments theories of the origin of the universe quantum mechanics or the physics of the very small the debate about miracles and neuroscientific theories of human thought

Early Ecotheology and Joseph Sittler Panu Pihkala, 2017 When did Christians begin to address environmental questions What can be learned from these pioneering thinkers This study reveals that between 1910 and 1954 many theologians called for responsibility towards nature The focal point is the work of Joseph Sittler 1904 1987 an American Lutheran and ecumenical theologian The role of these early ecotheologians is discussed in relation to environmental history and education The findings show that ecotheology was not as strongly separated from other environmentalism as it was after the 1960s Series Studies in Religion and the Environment Studien zur Religion und Umwelt Vol 12 Subject Religious Studies Environmental Studies Ecotheology Joseph Sittler Evangelical Hospitality Tory K. Baucum, 2008 Evangelical Hospitality Catechetical Evangelism in the Early Church and Its Recovery for Today describes a church that has lost touch with its deep memory of evangelization the recovery of that memory in catechetical ministry and the practices this recovery spawns in the Church After describing the social construction of faith communities the book examines four core practices that are entailed in creating cultures of faith places where believing in Christ becomes plausible and possible Evangelical Hospitality concludes with perennial principles from Christian communities that learn to construct faith cultures

BOOK JACKET The Dynamics of Grace Stephen J. Duffy, 2007-11-01 The doctrine of grace concerning the healing freeing and empowering presence of the Spirit in human life is central in Christianity This readable yet in depth historical and interpretive study retraces the long trajectory of the theology of grace as thinkers grappled with the mystery that envelops the interplay between God's life with us and our common life together Retrieving the rich symbols of the Christian past and reinterpreting them within their own cultural context theologians in different eras shaped the development of a Christian anthropology that plays upon all the registers of the greatness and misery of the human condition The presuppositions questions and benchmark anthropologies of early Christianity Augustine Aquinas Luther Trent and Rahner are critically analyzed in light of recent historical studies and in light of a new climate of ecumenical convergence

The exploration ends by probing the anthropology of contemporary liberation theologies that mark another turning point in the tradition by breaking grace out of the realm of privacy and into the sociopolitical arena From Sin to Amazing Grace Patrick S. Cheng, 2012-03-01 Throughout the history of Christianity lesbian gay bisexual and transgender LGBT or queer people have been condemned as unrepentant sinners who are in dire need of God's saving grace As a result of this condemnation LGBT people have been subjected to great spiritual emotional and physical abuse and violence This issue takes on a particular urgency in light of the ongoing harassment and bullying of LGBT young people by their classmates Cheng argues that people need to be liberated from the traditional legal model of thinking about sin and grace as a violation of divine and natural laws in which grace is understood as the strength to refrain from violating such laws Rather Cheng proposes a Christological model based upon the theologies of Irenaeus Bonaventure and Barth in which sin and grace are defined in terms of what God has done for us in Jesus Christ This book serves as a useful resource for all people who struggle to make sense of the traditional Christian doctrines of sin and grace in the context of the 21st century This Sacred Earth Roger S. Gottlieb, 2003-11-07 Updated with nearly forty new selections to reflect the tremendous growth and transformation of scholarly theological and activist religious environmentalism the second edition of This Sacred Earth is an unparalleled resource for the study of religion's complex relationship to the environment Jonathan Edwards and Deification James R. Salladin, 2022-02-01 The language of deification or participation in the divine nature as a way to understand salvation often sounds strange to Western Christians But perhaps Western theologies have more in common with theosis than we thought James Salladin considers the role of deification in the theology of Jonathan Edwards exploring how Edwards's soteriology compares with the broader Reformed tradition Celebrating God's Cosmic Perichoresis Bryan Jeongguk Lee, 2011-08-05 In the face of today's unprecedented ecological crisis Christianity is often seen not only as sharing in the guilt of causing this crisis but also as unwilling and incapable of providing any help in re-envisioning the required new way of life on earth This view is justified when we consider how modern Christian theology has tended to denigrate the natural world and how the prevalent world deserting Christian eschatology forms a spirituality that is fundamentally insensitive and indifferent to nature In light of this a meaningful Christian contribution to today's world of enormous ecological suffering must lie in envisioning a fundamentally new ecological vision of humanity's relationship to nature as well as providing an ethical energy to transform our current path of self-destruction In this book Bryan J. Lee finds in Jürgen Moltmann's eschatological panentheism a viable pathway toward a Christian ecological re-envisioning of the relationship between God and humanity and between humanity and nature Furthermore Lee demonstrates in a persuasive way how Christian worship can and should be the epicenter of ecological transformation of the society emphatically interpreting Christian worship as an ecological eschatological anticipation of God's cosmic perichoresis The Concept of Freedom in the Writings of St. Francis de Sales Eunan McDonnell, 2009 Through the examination of the concept of freedom in the writings of St. Francis de

Sales the author concludes that in contradistinction to a contemporary understanding of freedom perceived as self determination a Salesian understanding privileges freedom's relationship to the good This situates St Francis de Sales in the classical Thomistic tradition of freedom's necessary relationship to the good but involves a methodological shift as he employs the Renaissance starting point of the turn to the subject This study demonstrates how St Francis arrives inductively at what St Thomas demonstrated deductively namely the essential relationship of freedom to the good Along with this Thomistic influence the author analyses the Salesian indebtedness to Augustinian anthropology which explains the primacy St Francis gives to the will and consequently to love Love understood as the heart's movement towards the good allows the Salesian approach to move beyond the confines of a traditional faculty psychology to embrace a more biblical understanding of the human person This examination of love's relationship to freedom reveals their teleological and archaeological natures coming back to our origins wherein we discover the source of our freedom bestowed on us as a gift from God

Roman Faith and Christian Faith Teresa Jean Morgan, 2015 This study investigates why faith pistis fides was so important to early Christians that the concept and praxis dominated the writings of the New Testament It argues that such a study must be interdisciplinary locating emerging Christianities in the social practices and mentalities of contemporary Judaism and the early Roman empire This can therefore equally be read as a study of the operation of pistis fides in the world of the early Roman principate taking one small but relatively well attested cult as a case study in how micro societies within that world could treat it distinctively Drawing on recent work in sociology and economics the book traces the varying shapes taken by pistis fides in Greek and Roman human and divine human relationships whom or what is represented as easy or difficult to trust or believe in where pistis fides is deferred and reified in practices such as oaths and proofs how pistis fides is related to fear doubt and scepticism and which foundations of pistis fides are treated as more or less secure The book then traces the evolution of representations of human and divine human pistis in the Septuagint before turning to pistis pisteuein in New Testament writings and their role in the development of early Christologies incorporating a new interpretation of pistis Christou and ecclesiologies It argues for the integration of the study of pistis pisteuein with that of New Testament ethics It explores the interiority of Graeco Roman and early Christian pistis fides Finally it discusses eschatological pistis and the shape of the divine human community in the eschatological kingdom

Divine Revolution Dean Brackley, 2004-09-27 A compelling exploration of one of the central issues if not the central issue facing theology in our time the relation between transcendent salvation and temporal liberation What does the salvation that the church proclaims mean for the poor of the world In Divine Revolution Dean Brackley presents in a comprehensive yet manageable way what Catholic theology has to say about this complex and urgent topic He addresses the historical as well as the systematic dimensions of the question providing insights that point toward an understanding of the issues that challenge conservative and liberal interpretations alike In a work of great daring and clarity Brackley surveys the confusion surrounding the social historical dimension of salvation in Catholic thought He shows the irony of the fact that after 2 000 years what salvation means for the poor in relationship to their concrete plight remains a quaestio disputata for official Magisterial teaching Going deeply into the relationship of salvation and liberation Brackley explores the thought of Maritain Rahner and Gutierrez to demonstrate how the synbolon of the Reign of God that Jesus announces transcends the tired theological distinctions of all sides in the debate Drawing from developments in feminist and Protestant theology as well as contemporary social theory Divine Revolution offers a fresh understanding of what it means to participate in God s revolutionary reign Catholic tradition Brackley argues has great potential to articulate a hope which responds to the suffering of the poor in our time When conventional wisdom says compassion fatigued Americans are tired of hearing about the poor Brackley responds The poor are far more tired of being poor They too would like to move on to other things but they cannot Thomas à Kempis Greg Peters,2021-02-19

Given that Thomas a Kempis Imitation of Christ is one of the most frequently translated and read late medieval books of devotion it is surprising that there are few studies of the work in English This book fills the void by offering an explication of Thomas spiritual theology in the Imitation while situating him in his late medieval monastic context and as someone familiar with and influenced by the Modern Devotion and the Sisters and Brothers of the Common Life Thomas emphasis on grace and his dependence on Augustine of Hippo show to some extent that he anticipated theological developments of the Protestant Reformation At the same time Thomas eucharistic spirituality so central to his overall spiritual theology is quintessentially medieval Thomas vision of the spiritual life was expansive and all inclusive rich and accessible for both the monk and the devout follower and imitator of Jesus Christ who lived in the world Thomas spirituality is for everyone a synthesis of Christian thought that steers away from the late medieval Scholastic theologies of the university towards a monastic theology and spirituality for anyone who desires to follow Jesus Christ devoutly His vision remains relevant for all twenty first century Christian believers The Thomist ,1990 A speculative quarterly review Emil Brunner's

Integration of Faith and Reason Dong In Baek,2024-05-06 In the philosophical purview of our intellectual endeavors Emil Brunner s sojourn through the theological corridors reveals a tapestry of rigorous mental exercises and paradigmatic shifts Commencing his exploration harmonized with the liberal theological currents Brunner found himself adrift embroiled in the tumultuous seas of Karl Barth s unequivocal No to the paradigms of natural theology etching an indelible ideological chasm Traversing three profound metamorphic epochs initiating within the precincts of consciousness theology an echo chamber of Schleiermacher s musings segueing into the gravitational pull of dialectical theological realms and reaching zenith in his unparalleled emphasis on the Truth as Encounter Brunner s spiritual and intellectual topography is an odyssey of profound depths This literary endeavor plumbs the profundities of Brunner s philosophical theological metamorphosis A journey delineating his intricate dance with Bergson s intuitive paradigm his symbolic lexicon of faith an eventual critique of dialectical theology s embrace culminates in an intricate interpretation of sin and the imago Dei Of paramount significance is Brunner's theological bifurcation from Barth on the quintessential essence of human divine dynamics. While both theological maestros recognize sin's pervasive imprint on the human soul, Brunner postulates the tantalizing possibility of personal divine rendezvous. In this erudite exposition on Brunner's theology, we embark on an intellectual odyssey elucidating the subtle shades and profound resonances of his cognitive evolution. An evolution wherein juxtaposed against theological titans, he architects an idiosyncratic theological timbre echoing through the annals of time.

The Routledge Handbook of Placemaking Cara Courage, Tom Borrup, Maria Rosario Jackson, Kylie Legge, Anita Mckeown, Louise Platt, Jason Schupbach, 2020-12-30. This Handbook is the first to explore the emergent field of placemaking in terms of the recent research, teaching, and learning and practice agenda for the next few years. Offering valuable theoretical and practical insights from the leading scholars and practitioners in the field, it provides cutting-edge interdisciplinary research on the placemaking sector. Placemaking has seen a paradigmatic shift in urban design, planning, and policy to engage the community voice. This Handbook examines the development of placemaking, its emerging theories, and its future directions. The book is structured in seven distinct sections curated by experts in the areas concerned. Section One provides a glimpse at the history and key theories of placemaking and its interpretations by different community sectors. Section Two studies the transformative potential of placemaking practice through case studies on different places, methodologies, and theoretical frameworks. It also reveals placemaking's potential to nurture a holistic community engagement, social justice, and human-centric urban environments. Section Three looks at the politics of placemaking to consider who is included and who is excluded from its practice and if the concept of placemaking needs to be reconstructed. Section Four deals with the scales and scopes of art-based placemaking, moving from the city to the neighborhood and further to the individual practice. It juxtaposes the voice of the practitioner and professional alongside that of the researcher and academic. Section Five tackles the socio-economic and environmental placemaking issues deemed pertinent to emerge more sustainable placemaking practices. Section Six emphasizes placemaking's intersection with urban design and planning sectors and includes case studies of generative planning practice. The final seventh section draws on the expertise of placemakers, researchers, and evaluators to present the key questions, today's new methods, and approaches to evaluation of placemaking in related fields and notions for the future of evaluation practices. Each section opens with an introduction to help the reader navigate the text. This organization of the book considers the sectors that operate alongside the core placemaking practice. This seminal Handbook offers a timely contribution and international perspectives for the growing field of placemaking. It will be of interest to academics and students of placemaking, urban design, urban planning, and policy, architecture, geography, cultural studies, and the arts.
