Crafting the Woman Professional in the Long Nineteenth Century Kyriaki Hadjiafxendi,Patricia Zakreski,2016-05-13 Over the course of the nineteenth century women in Britain participated in diverse and prolific forms of artistic labour As they created objects and commodities that blurred the boundaries between domestic and fine art production they crafted subjectivities for themselves as creative workers By bringing together work by scholars of literature painting music craft and the plastic arts this collection argues that the constructed and contested nature of the female artistic professional was a notable aspect of debates about aesthetic value and the impact of industrial technologies All the essays in this volume set up a productive inter art dialogue that complicates conventional binary divisions such as amateur and professional public and private artistry and industry in order to provide a more nuanced understanding of the relationship between gender artistic labour and creativity in the period Ultimately how women faced the pragmatics of their own creative labour as they pursued vocations trades and professions in the literary marketplace and related art industries reveals the different ideological positions surrounding the transition of women from industrious amateurism to professional artistry

The Nature of the Book Adrian Johns, 2009-05-15 In The Nature of the Book a tour de force of cultural history Adrian Johns constructs an entirely original and vivid picture of print culture and its many arenas commercial intellectual political and individual A compelling exposition of how authors printers booksellers and readers competed for power over the printed page The richness of Mr Johns's book lies in the splendid detail he has collected to describe the world of books in the first two centuries after the printing press arrived in England Alberto Manguel Washington Times A mammoth and stimulating account of the place of print in the history of knowledge Johns has written a tremendously learned primer D Graham Burnett New Republic A detailed engrossing and genuinely eye opening account of the formative stages of the print culture This is scholarship at its best Merle Rubin Christian Science Monitor The most lucid and persuasive account of the new kind of knowledge produced by print A work to rank alongside McLuhan John Sutherland The Independent Entertainingly written The most comprehensive account available well documented and engaging Ian Maclean Times Literary Supplement

Crafting the Nation in Colonial India A. McGowan, 2009-07-20 Drawing on a wide range of archival evidence Abigail McGowan argues that crafts seized the political imagination in western India because they provided a means of debating the present and future of the country

State and Nature Peter Adamson, Christof Rapp, 2021-04-19 A much maligned feature of ancient and medieval political thought is its tendency to appeal to nature to establish norms for human communities From Aristotle's claim that humans are political animals to Aquinas invocation of natural law it may seem that pre modern philosophers were all too ready to assume that whatever is natural is good and that just political arrangements must somehow be natural The papers in this collection show that this assumption is at best too crude From very early for instance in the ancient sophists contrast between nomos and physis there was recognition that political arrangements may be precisely artificial not natural and it may be questioned whether even such supposed naturalists as Aristotle in fact adopt the quick inference from natural to good The papers in this volume trace the complex interrelations between nature and such concepts as law legitimacy and justice covering a wide historical range stretching from Plato and the Sophists to Aristotle Hellenistic philosophy Cicero the Neoplatonists Plotinus and Porphyry ancient Christian thinkers and philosophers of both the Islamic and Christian Middle Ages
