Kelly,Arthur Rose,2018-05-17 This book is open access and available on www.bloomsburycollections.com It is funded by Knowledge Unlatched In a unique approach to historical representations the central question of this book is what is history By describing history through its supplementary function to the field of history rather than the ground of a study this collection considers new insights into historical thinking and historiography across the humanities It fosters engagement from around the

Reflections on the Marxist theory of history Paul Blackledge,2013-07-19 A decade after Francis Fukuyama announced the End of History anti capitalist demonstrators at Seattle and elsewhere have helped reinvigorate the Left with the reply

another world is possible More than anyone else it was Marx who showed that slogans such as this were no utopian fantasies and that capitalism was just as much a historical mode of production no more natural and certainly no less contradictory than were the feudal and slave modes which preceded it Paul Blackledge opens this study with a defence of the Marxist approach to the study of history against what he argues as being the naive empiricism of traditional historians and the relativism of the postmodernists He moves on to outline Marx and Engels analyses of concrete historical processes and their critiques of the alternative historiographic methodologies of their contemporaries He then discusses neglected historical works produced by Marxists in the half century or so after Marx and Engels deaths Two central chapters survey recent Marxist debates on first the nature of modes of productions including slave feudal and tributary systems and the revolutionary transitions between them and second the methodological debate over the issue of structure and agency in the movement of history Finally he shows the political relevance of these debates through a concluding survey of competing Marxist attempts to periodise the present postmodern conjuncture This book should be read by historians students of cultural social and political theory and anti capitalist activists
