New England Nature David K. Leff, Eric D. Lehman, 2020-12-01 Since its founding four hundred years ago New England has been a vital source of nature writing Maybe it's the diversity of landscapes huddled so close together or the marriage of nature and culture in a relatively small six state region Maybe it's the regenerative powers of the ecosystem in a place of repeated exploitations Or maybe we have simply been thinking about our relationship with the natural world longer than everyone If all successive nature writing is a footnote to Henry David Thoreau then New England has a strong claim to being the birthplace of the genre But there are as the sixty entries in this anthology demonstrate many other regional voices that extol the wonders and beauty of the outdoors explore local ecology and call for environmental sustainability Between these covers Noah Webster calls for our stewardship of nature and Lydia Sigourney finds sublime pleasure in it Jonathan Edwards and Helen Keller both find miracles while Samuel Peters and Mark Twain find humor Author Nathaniel Hawthorne discovers a place to hide his metaphors while the enslaved James Mars discovers an actual hiding place Through it all is the apprehension of a profound and lasting splendor the glory of physical nature as W E B Dubois calls it something beyond our everyday concerns and yet tied so closely to our daily lives that we cannot escape it Nature writing cultivates our sense of beauty inflaming curiosity and the passion to explore It opens us to deep primal experiences that enrich life Anyone wanting to understand our relationship with the world must start here American Nature Writing 2001 John A. Murray, 2001 The eighth edition of this acclaimed series offers a showcase for contemporary nature writing at the start of the new millennium With subjects as diverse as the far flung locations they describe the twenty writers featured here share one defining objective to show us that we need only look outdoors to find something worthy of our attention In these pages readers encounter a profusion of natural settings Larry Glass considers the contrast between urban and rural life from his Allegheny Mountain retreat Carol Kosarek records a violent encounter between her dog and an injured calf in the hill country of Texas Louise Wagenknecht examines the impact that the Pacific Northwest logging industry had on her childhood Gretchen Yost recounts her experience fighting fires in Wyoming's Wind River Range David Petersen reflects on elk hunting in Colorado Bill Sherwonit contemplates the flora and fauna near his suburban Anchorage home Whether their explorations take them to north shore of Lake Michigan or to the far reaches of southern Uganda these writers both established and emerging voices demonstrate the continuing vitality of this literature of place For Love of the World Sherman Paul, 1992-10-01 Along with poets philosophers and deep ecologists nature writers who may be something of all three address the world alienation of Western civilization By example as well as with words they teach us to turn from the self to the world from ego to ecos In these deeply felt meditative essays Sherman Paul contemplates the cosmological homecoming of nature writers who show us how to reenter the world participate in it and recover respect for it In For Love of the World Sherman Paul considers Thoreau John Muir and Aldo Leopold major writers in the American tradition of nature writing Henry Beston and Loren Eiseley writers not yet so canonical and Richard Nelson and Barry Lopez our estimable contemporaries Paul's meditative mode follows the practice of naturalists who enter the field come into the open and relate their immediate experiences In the most primary and direct way his essays belong to our moment in history when nothing is more essential than our reattachment to earthly existence They will reawaken our love of the world the necessary eros of ecos and our wonder at and gratitude for being
