F. Walter,2003 A Desperado's Daily Bread Konrad Ventana,2009-05 Konrad Ventana throws open the curtain to a perennial drama with a depth of language that can only be described as symphonic Blazing with eye opening drama keen psychological insights and layers of linguistic pyrotechnics the reader is at once awed and entertained This riveting drama follows the trail of a western outlaw biochemist of the subterranean territories through the neo shamanistic dystopia neo contemplative hoo ha and blatant neoteny of the 1970 s New Age movements on the hunt for more profound and sublime naturalistic roots The reader will be stunned by the enduring power of artistic ideals vis vis wan and vapid philosophical idealisms in molding the indomitable traditions of society With this first Post Lux Swan Song Konrad Ventana manipulates language in a timeless theme as elegant as a classical ballet as poignant as our heartfelt emotions and as enduring as the resonance of a new and illuminating apperception This most remarkable book is truly a picture window to behold New Mexico Magazine ,2002 Daily Fare Kathleen Aguero,1993 Daily Fare presents seventeen artfully crafted essays in which writers representing a broad spectrum of the American experience ponder the meaning of living in a nation of diverse and competing cultures Consistently thought provoking and often intensely personal these pieces confront such themes as the question of identity the individual s relation to culture problems of communication and the need to strike a balance between preserving traditions and merging them Memories both tender and painful fill these pages Toi Derricotte recalling her experiences as the only black person at an artist colony often found her sense of isolation almost unbearable No one can help Only I myself But how can I let go My face is a mask like Uncle Tom s my heart twisted in rage and fear In The Death of Fred Astaire Leslie Lawrence reflects on the difficult decisions that led to her becoming a lesbian mother and the mix of emotions apprehension maternal longing and finally joyous fulfillment that accompanied her choices In Kubota Garrett Hongo describes how his grandfather enjoined him to learn and to give witness to the injustices committed against Japanese Americans by their own government during World War II Hongo accepts this responsibility as a ritual payment the young owe their elders who have survived Several bilingual essayists contemplate their relationship to the English language a language that can empower its users or deny them access to the dominant culture For Judith Ortiz Cofer reading books from the public library as a child gave her a sense of freedom as well as her first intimations of the writing career she would later pursue Alberto Alvaro Rios however reminds us that learning English in the first grade also meant being punished for using Spanish Spanish was bad Okay We then must be bad kids Still other essays explore what it means to confront the confusions of a plural family heritage or to be a black artist from a Catholic background when so much of black culture is tied to the Protestant tradition Despite the current interest in multiculturalism Kathleen Aguero observes the notion of culture in the United States today is too often synonymous with predominantly white male heterosexual upper class Eurocentric interests In bringing together writers from beyond this tradition Daily Fare provides a valuable perspective on our current moment in history As Jack Agueros summing up both the dilemma and the pleasure of our society's diversity writes It's hard and wasteful to be purely ethnic in America definitely wasteful to be totally assimilated

Colonized Through Art Marinella Lentis, 2017 Colonized through Art explores how the federal government used art education for American Indian children as an instrument for the colonization of consciousness hoping to instill the values and ideals of Western society while simultaneously maintaining a political social economic and racial hierarchy Focusing on the Albuquerque Indian School in New Mexico the Sherman Institute in Riverside California and the world's fairs and local community exhibitions Marinella Lentis examines how the U.S. government's solution to the Indian problem at the end of the nineteenth century emphasized education and assimilation Educational theories at the time viewed art as the foundation of morality and as a way to promote virtues and personal improvement These theories made the subject of art a natural tool for policy makers and educators to use in achieving their assimilationist goals of turning student savages into civilized men and women Despite such educational regimes for students however indigenous ideas about art oftentimes emerged from below particularly from well known art teachers such as Arizona Swayney and Angel DeCora Colonized through Art explores how American Indian schools taught children to abandon their cultural heritage and produce artificially native crafts that were exhibited at local and international fairs The purchase of these crafts by the general public turned students work into commodities and schools into factories
