Naval Documents of the American Revolution (Volume 1 Part 2 of 3) Naval History Naval History Division, 2015-04-05
Volume 1 of 12 Part 2 of 3 Primary sources constitute the backbone of written history and history is the means by which a nation repossesses its past As the bicentennial of our own Declaration of Independence draws near it is all the more important to publish as completely as possible the original papers essential to a full understanding of our nation s birth Students of the American past will therefore welcome this series of volumes designed to illustrate through contemporary documents the role of the sea in the American Revolution These volumes make amply clear the critical role played by sea power in the achievement of American independence Although the documents emphasize naval and combined operations American allied and British they properly include a selection of items showing the activities of privateers and of the merchant marine It is evident that the thirteen colonies would have been hard put to win independence without this trident of maritime support the small but spirited American Navy epitomized in the audacity of John Paul Jones the powerful fleets of our allies French Spanish and Dutch converting a local revolt into a two continent war and the ceaseless flow of supplies to the rebels made possible by Yankee ingenuity and daring in merchant ship and privateer These documents characteristically speak in the casual and laconic tones of the sailor who regards the hazards of storms shoals and enemy fire as the expected impediments of life Between the lines they tell the story of courage and valor which established the high traditions of the American Navy and which ever since has inspired and fortified the American people in times of crisis John F Kennedy

Committee on Government Operations. Government Activities Subcommittee,1974 Revolutionary Staten Island Joe Borelli,2008-02-01 The history of Staten Island from early settlements to revolutionary battleground is explored in this local history The shores of Staten Island were one of the first places Giovanni da Verrazzano and Henry Hudson landed in North America and they became a safe harbor for thousands of refugees fleeing religious conflicts in Europe As Dutch Staaten Eylandt and then English Richmond County the island played a vital role in colonial development of the continent and the American Revolution Rebel raids along the kills and inlets kept British forces and local Tories constantly battling for position while Hessian and British troops occupied the island longer than any other county during the war Staten Island's strategic location was used to launch counterstrikes against Washington's forces in New Jersey while Major General John Sullivan led Continental army troops in defeat at the Battle of Staten Island Author Joe Borelli reveals the colonial history of Richmond County and its role in the fight for American independence Americans at War James R. Arnold,2018-05-18 This unprecedented compilation of eyewitness accounts records the thoughts and emotions of American soldiers spanning nearly 250 years of national history from the American Revolution to the Afghanistan War Understanding primary sources is essential to understanding warfare This outstanding collection provides a diverse set of eyewitness accounts of Americans in combat throughout U S history Offering riveting true stories it includes accounts from participants in the American Revolution the War of 1812 the Indian Wars the Mexican American War the Civil War the Spanish American War and Philippine Insurrection World War I World War II the Korean War the Vietnam War The Persian Gulf War the Afghanistan War and the Iraq War Most eyewitness accounts of war currently available to the public are those of writers who enjoy higher military rank Americans at War addresses this imbalance between officers' accounts and enlisted men's accounts by invoking oral history archives Contextual essays and timelines allow the reader to place the accounts in time and place while the entries themselves allow the reader to experience the thoughts and emotions of Americans who engaged in combat

examines Freemasonry in the eighteenth and nineteenth century Atlantic world Drawing on fresh empirical evidence the chapters position fraternalism as a critical component of Atlantic history Fraternalism was a key strategy for people swept up in the dislocations of imperialism large scale migrations and the socio political upheavals of revolution Ranging from confraternities to Masonic lodges to friendly societies fraternal organizations offered people opportunities to forge linkages across diverse and widely separated parts of the world Using six case studies the contributors to this volume address multiple themes of fraternal organizations their role in revolutionary movements their intersections with the conflictive histories of racism slavery and anti slavery their appeal for diasporic groups throughout the Atlantic world such as revolutionary refugees European immigrants in North America and members of the Jewish diaspora and the limits of fraternal brothering in addressing the challenges of modernity The chapters in this book were originally published as a special issue of Atlantic Studies Global Currents

Understanding U.S. Military Conflicts through Primary Sources James R. Arnold, Roberta Wiener, 2015-11-12 An easily accessible resource that showcases the links between using documented primary sources and gaining a more nuanced understanding of military history Primary source analysis is a valuable tool that teaches students how historians utilize documents and interpret evidence from the past This four volume reference traces key decisions in U S military history from the Revolutionary War through the 21st century conflicts in Afghanistan and Iraq by examining documents relating to military strategy and national policy judgments by U S military and political leaders A comprehensive introductory essay provides readers with the context necessary to understand the relationship between diplomatic documents military correspondence and other documentation related to events that shaped warfare diplomacy and military strategy Once the stage is set the work covers 14 conflicts that are significant to U S history Treatment of each of the conflicts begins with a historical overview followed by a chronology and approximately 30 primary source documents presented in chronological order Each document is accompanied by a description and annotations and by an analysis that highlights its importance to the event or topic under discussion Designed for secondary school and college students the work will be exceptionally valuable to teachers who will appreciate the ready made lessons that fit directly into core curriculum standards

The Development of Mine Warfare Norman E. Youngblood, 2006-06-30 In 1997 the International Campaign to Ban Landmines ICBL coordinated the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use Stockpiling Production and Transfer of Anti Personnel Mines and on their Destruction As of mid 2005 145 states had signed the agreement The ICBL s efforts were in large part a response to the careless use of landmines in the previous fifty years The history of mine use in warfare however goes back much further than the World Wars of the 20th century and includes both land and sea use This first comprehensive study traces the technical tactical and ethical developments of mine warfare from ancient times to the present Beginning with mine warfare s roots in ancient Assyria and China Youngblood takes the reader through the centuries of debate about how these hidden weapons should be used A look at 19th century developments explores the intertwined development of land and sea mines and the inventors behind them including Robert Fulton Samuel Colt and Immanuel Nobel father of Alfred Nobel Subsequent chapters examine the use of mines in the American Civil War the Russo Japanese War both World Wars and the battlefields of the Cold War and chart key battles and technical innovations such as the development of air delivered munitions Finally the author addresses the ethical concerns raised by the careless mining namely the impact on civilians and the difficulties of de mining and the treaties that regulate landmine use Smithsonian studies in history and technology, 1974

Down the Warpath to the Cedars Mark R. Anderson, 2021-04-15 In May 1776 more than two hundred Indian warriors descended the St Lawrence River to attack Continental forces at the Cedars west of Montreal In just three days fighting the Native Americans and their British and Canadian allies forced the American fort to surrender and ambushed a fatally delayed relief column In Down the Warpath to the Cedars author Mark R Anderson flips the usual perspective on this early engagement and focuses on its Native participants their motivations battlefield conduct and the event's impact in their world In this way Anderson's work establishes and explains Native Americans centrality in the Revolutionary War's northern theater Anderson's dramatic deftly written narrative encompasses decisive diplomatic encounters political intrigue and scenes of brutal violence but is rooted in deep archival research and ethnohistorical scholarship It sheds new light on the alleged massacre and atrocities that other accounts typically focus on At the same time Anderson traces the aftermath for Indian captives and military hostages as well as the political impact of the Cedars reaching all the way to the Declaration of Independence The action at the Cedars emerges here as a watershed moment when Indian neutrality frayed to the point that hundreds of northern warriors entered the fight between crown and colonies Adroitly interweaving the stories of diverse characters chiefs officials agents soldiers and warriors Down the Warpath to the Cedars produces a complex picture and a definitive account of the Revolutionary War's first Indian battles an account that significantly expands our historical understanding of the northern theater of the American Revolution
