

A photograph of a dirt path leading through a forest. The trees are covered in autumn foliage, with shades of orange, yellow, and brown. The path is light-colored and leads towards a bright, hazy opening in the distance. The overall mood is serene and contemplative.

Thoughts become perception, perception becomes reality. Alter your thoughts, alter your reality.

User Perception and Influencing Factors of Technology in Everyday Life Mesquita, Anabela, 2012-08-31

An increasing amount of research is being developed in the area where technology and humans meet

The success or failure of technologies and the question whether technology helps humans to fulfill their goals or whether it hinders them is in most cases not a technical one. User Perception and Influencing Factors of Technology in Everyday Life addresses issues of human and technology interaction. The research in this work is interdisciplinary ranging from more technical subjects such as computer science, engineering and information systems to non-technical descriptions of technology and human interaction from the point of view of sociology or philosophy. This book is perfect for academics, researchers and professionals alike as it presents a set of theories that allow us to understand the interaction of technology and humans and to put it to practical use. Autonomous and Integrated Parking and Transportation Services Amalendu

Phenomenological Ontology of Breathing Petri Berndtson, 2023-02-28 This book studies the phenomenological ontology of breathing. It investigates breathing and air as a question of phenomenological philosophy and looks at phenomenological questions concerning respiratory methodology, ontological experience of respiration, respiratory spirituality and respiratory embodiment. Drawing on the ideas of Maurice Merleau-Ponty, Gaston Bachelard, Martin Heidegger, Edmund Husserl, Luce Irigaray and David Kleinberg, Levin, the book argues for the ontological primacy of breathing and develops a new principle of philosophy that the author calls Silence of Breath, Abyss, Yawn of Air. It asserts that breathing is not a thing.

or person oriented relation but perpetual communication with the immense elemental atmosphere of open and free air This new phenomenological method of breathing offers readers a chance to begin to wonder rethink re experience and reimagine all questions of life in an innovative and creative way as aerial and respiratory questions of life Part of the Routledge Critical Perspectives on Breath and Breathing series the book breaks new ground in phenomenology and phenomenological ontology by offering a decisive and insightful treatment of breath It will be indispensable for students and researchers of philosophy phenomenology and ontology It will also be of special interest to Merleau Ponty scholars as it investigates uncharted dimensions of Merleau Ponty s philosophy

Defending Husserl Uwe Meixner,2014-01-31 The phenomenological approach to the philosophy of mind as inaugurated by Brentano and worked out in a very sophisticated way by Husserl has been severely criticized by philosophers within the Wittgensteinian tradition and implicitly by Wittgenstein himself Their criticism is in the epistemological regard directed against introspectionism and in the ontological regard against an internalist and qualia friendly non functionalist or broadly dualistic idealistic conception of the mind The book examines this criticism in detail looking at the writings of Wittgenstein Ryle Hacker Dennett and other authors reconstructing their arguments and pointing out where they fall short of their aim In defending Husserl against his Wittgensteinian critics the book also offers a comprehensive fresh view of phenomenology as a philosophy of mind In particular Husserl s non representationalist theory of intentionality is carefully described in its various aspects and elucidated also with respect to its development taking into account writings from various periods of Husserl s career Last but not least the book shows Wittgensteinianism to be one of the effective roots of the present day hegemony of physicalism

"Genial" Perception William C. Edinger,2022-05-15 Genial Perception offers a critical examination of Wordsworth s and Coleridge s naturalist construction of creative and critical perception and a historical study of the perceptual dimension of poetic taste Genial is the adjectival form of genius and eighteenth century critical naturalism understands genial perception as a gift of nature as an inborn power operating autonomously through the senses and imagination and thus independently of cultural influence By exploring the philology of keywords and binaries inherited by the two poet critics and used to describe and interpret their perceptual experience both creative imaginative and critical Genial Perception traces how that experience reveals an unacknowledged indebtedness to discourse and language having been silently and perhaps unconsciously shaped by patterns and trends in the literary culture in which Wordsworth and Coleridge came of age This study shows that critical perception often thought to be too elusive and subjective to make a proper subject for historical investigation can be approached through study of the terms the language of the practical criticism that attempts to communicate it that both critical and creative perception are far more dependent on language than is commonly recognized and that philology by recovering the original usage functions and contexts of critical keywords provides for an accurate historical understanding of the claims made by critics in the long eighteenth century for genial perception and can illuminate the dynamics of genial perception itself
