The Postethnic Literary Florian Sedlmeier, 2014-12-11 The book explores the discursive and theoretical conditions for conceptualizing the postethnic literary It historicizes US multicultural and postcolonial studies as institutionalized discursive formations which constitute a paratext that regulates the reception of literary texts according to the paradigm of representativeness Rather than following that paradigm the study offers an alternative framework by rereading contemporary literary texts for their investment in literary form By means of self reflective intermedial transpositions the writings of Sherman Alexie Chang rae Lee and Jamaica Kincaid insist upon a differentiation between the representation of cultural sign systems or subject positions and the dramatization of individual gestures of authorship As such they form a postethnic literary constellation further probed in the epilogue of the study focused on Dave Eggers

Languageing Without Languages Robin Sabino, 2018-06-05 Drawing on usage based theory neurocognition and complex systems Languageing Beyond Languages elaborates an elegant model accommodating accumulated insights into human language even as it frees linguistics from its two thousand year old ideological attachment to reified grammatical systems Idiolects are redefined as continually emergent collections of context specific probabilistic memories entrenched as a result of domain general cognitive processes that create and consolidate linguistic experience Also continually emergent conventionalization and vernacularization operate across individuals producing the illusion of shared grammatical systems Conventionalization results from the emergence of parallel expectations for the use of linguistic elements organized into syntagmatic and paradigmatic relationships In parallel vernacularization indexes linguistic forms to sociocultural identities and stances Evidence implying entrenchment and conventionalization is provided in asymmetrical frequency distributions extant villages across Europe often dependent on castles and manors which symbolise the so called feudal centuries But the intervening period the fourth to tenth centuries is that with the least documentation and with the fewest survivals What happened to the settlement units that made up the Roman rural world When and why do new settlement forms emerge Landscapes of Change is essential reading for anyone wanting an up to date summary of the results of archaeological and historical investigations into the changing countryside of the late Roman late antique and early medieval world between the fourth and tenth centuries AD It questions numerous aspects of change and continuity assessing the levels of impact of military and economic decay the spread and influence of Christianity and the role of Germanic Slav and Arab settlements in disrupting and redefining the ancient rural landscapes

The Development of Education in Medieval Iceland Ryder Patzuk-Russell, 2021-02-08 Medieval Iceland is known for the fascinating body of literary works it produced from ornate court poetry to mythological treatises to sagas of warrior poets and feud culture This book investigates the institutions and practices of education which lay behind not only this literary corpus but the whole of medieval Icelandic culture religion and society By bringing together a broad spectrum of sources including sagas law codes and grammatical treatises it addresses the history of education in medieval Iceland from multiple perspectives It shows how the slowly developing institutions of the church shaped educational practices within an entirely rural society with its own distinct vernacular culture It emphasizes the importance of Latin despite the lack of surviving manuscripts and teaching and learning in a highly decentralized environment Within this context it explores how medieval grammatical education was adapted for bilingual clerical education which in turn helped create a separate and fully vernacularized grammatical discourse The Essential Speaking and Listening Lyn Dawes, 2008-05-09 The aim of this book is to help teachers teach children to speak and listen effectively by having them engage with the teacher and their fellow students in conscious dialogue
