Peregrinations Of The Word Essays In Medieval Philosophy:

Peregrinations of the Word Louis Mackey, 1997 An examination of medieval philosophers approach to the relation of faith and reason     Anselm of Canterbury and the Desire for the Word Eileen C. Sweeney, 2012-04 Sweeney discusses the tensions of prayerful meditations and argumentative essays in Anselm's writings in a cumulative and comparative interpretation     World Philosophies Ninian Smart, 1999 World Philosophies is a comprehensive survey of the world's philosophical and religious traditions by one of our foremost religious thinkers Ninian Smart discusses notable figures such as Plato and Kierkegaard in the West the Buddha and Mao Zedong in Asia Tempels and Knibanga in Africa and Royce and Rodo in America Covering a wide range of topics including Indian ideas of testimony and evidence Chinese notions of moral development Buddhist concepts of cosmology and Latin American critiques of materialism Smart sheds new light on the astonishing diversity of philosophies that have developed throughout history     Words Ernst van den Hemel, Asja Szafraniec, 2016-06-15 A wide ranging anthology of essays that examine the uses purposes and influence of religious language It is said that words are like people One can encounter them daily yet never come to know their true selves This volume examines what words are how they exist in religious phenomena Going beyond the common idea that language merely describes states of mind beliefs and intentions the book looks at words in their performative and material specificity The contributions in this volume examine and employ a number of linguistic and semiotic ideologies They develop the insight that our implicit assumptions about language guide the way we understand and experience religious phenomena They also explore the possibility that insights about the particular status of religious utterances may in turn influence the way we think about words in our language     Burning Bodies Michael D. Barbezat, 2018-12-15 Burning Bodies interrogates the ideas that the authors of historical and theological texts in the medieval West associated with the burning alive of Christian heretics Michael Barbezat traces these instances from the eleventh century until the advent of the internal crusades of the thirteenth century depicting the exclusionary fires of hell and judicial execution the purifying fire of post mortem purgation and the unifying fire of God's love that medieval authors used to describe processes of social inclusion and exclusion Burning Bodies analyses how the accounts of burning heretics alive referenced affirmed and elaborated upon wider discourses of community and eschatology Descriptions of burning supposed heretics alive were profoundly related to ideas of a redemptive Christian community based upon a divine unifying love and medieval understandings of what these burnings could have meant to contemporaries cannot be fully appreciated outside of this discourse of communal love For them human communities were bodies on fire Medieval theologians and academics often described the corporate identity of the Christian world as a body joined together by the love of God This love was like a fire melting individuals together into one whole Those who did not spiritually burn with God's love were destined to burn literally in the fires of Hell or Purgatory and the fires of execution were often described as an earthly extension of these fires Through this analysis Barbezat demonstrates how presentations of heresy and to some extent actual responses to perceived heretics were shaped by long standing images of biblical commentary and exegesis He finds that this imagery is more than a literary curiosity it is in fact a formative historical agent

Divine Enticement:Theological Seductions Karmen Mackendrick,2013 Divine Enticement argues for a reconception of theology and its subject matter as modes of seduction of both body and mind Theological language as evocation opens onto rereadings of faith sacrament ethics prayer and scripture The conclusion argues for a sense of theology as calling upon infinite possibility

Literary Form, Philosophical Content Jonathan Allen Lavery,Louis Groarke,2010

Conversation, Friendship and Transformation Jennifer Constantine Jackson,2016-12-08 Conversation is the central spiritual exercise in philosophical and theological reflection on language and love Groundbreaking in its interdisciplinary approach Conversation Friendship and Transformation invites readers to an exploration of theological reflection on conversation and friendship as transformative ways of knowing self others and God Contemporary contributions in the areas of rhetorical theory friendship studies and gender collaboration provide a fruitful lens through which conversation as discourse may be understood as a pathway for theological inquiry Augustine's De doctrina christiana and Confessions manifest a foundational example of reflection on the nature of language and love in the context of basic questions of Christianity and culture Two texts from the medieval tradition are brought forth to confirm and develop Augustine's contributions The Letters of Heloise and Abelard have received substantial scholarly attention from the work of medievalists historians and literary critics but require more intentional theological reflection about the relation between the truths of the Christian faith and the collaborative participation of men and women Thomas Aquinas discussion of oratio in the Summa Theologiae is presented for the first time as a pivotal treatise in this profoundly influential text in the history of Western thought

Friendship and Rhetoric in the Middle Ages R. Jacob McDonie,2019-09-10 Friendship and Rhetoric in the Middle Ages The Linguistic Performance of Intimacy from Cicero to Aelred covers approximately 1 200 years of literature This is a book on medieval literature that foregrounds language as the agent for cultivating medieval friendship from the first century BC to c 1160 AD in oratorical ecclesiastical monastic and erotic contexts Taking a different approach than many works in this area which search for the lived experience of friends behind language this book stands apart in looking at friendship s enactment through rhetorical language among classical and medieval authors A Philosophical Anthropology of the Cross Brian Gregor,2013-03-18 What does the cross both as a historical event and a symbol of religious discourse tell us about human beings In this provocative book Brian Gregor draws together a hermeneutics of the self through Heidegger Gadamer Ricoeur and Taylor and a theology of the cross through Luther Kierkegaard Bonhoeffer and J ngel to envision a phenomenology of the cruciform self The result is a bold and original view of what philosophical anthropology could look like if it took the scandal of the cross seriously instead of reducing it into general philosophical concepts

Anselm's Pursuit of Joy Gavin R. Ortlund,2020-05-01 The interpretation of Anselm of Canterbury s Proslogion has a long and rich tradition However its study is often narrowly focused on its so called ontological argument As a result engagement with the text of this work tends to be lopsided and the prayerful purpose that undergirds the whole book is often completely ignored Even the most rigorous engagements with the Proslogion often have little to say for instance about how the prayers of Proslogion 1 14 and 18 contribute materially to Anselm s argument or how his doctrine of God develops organically from the divine formula in the early chapters to the doctrines of eternity simplicity and Trinity in later chapters There are very few works that offer a sustained analysis to Anselm s flow of thought throughout the entire Proslogion and no one has explored how Anselm s doctrine of creaturely joy in heaven in Proslogion 24 26 is a fitting climax and resolution to the book Anselm s Pursuit of Joy attempts a sustained chapter by chapter textual analysis of the Proslogion and offers the first effort to situate Anselm s doctrine of heaven in Proslogion 24 26 as the climax of the earlier themes of Anselm s work Gavin Ortlund suggests that the basic purpose of Anselm s argument in the Proslogion is to seek the visio Dei that he articulates as his soul s deepest desire Proslogion 1 While Anselm s argument for God s existence Proslogion 2 4 is an important piece of this effort it is only one step of a larger trajectory of thought that leads Anselm to meditate further on God s nature as the highest good of the human soul Proslogion 5 23 and then to anticipate the joy of possessing God in heaven Proslogion 24 26 In other words the establishment of God s existence is only the penultimate consequence of Anselm s famous formula that than which nothing greater can be thought his ultimate concern is with the infinite creaturely joy that is entailed by his existence The Proslogion is far more than an argument for God s existence a meditation on God as the chief happiness of the human soul

Maximus the Confessor as a European Philosopher Sotiris Mitralaxis,Georgios Steiris,Marcin Podbielski,Sebastian Lalla,2017-09-18 The study of Maximus the Confessor s thought has flourished in recent years international conferences publications and articles new critical editions and translations mark a torrent of interest in the work and influence of perhaps the most sublime of the Byzantine Church Fathers It has been repeatedly stated that the

Confessor's thought is of eminently philosophical interest. However, no dedicated collective scholarly engagement with Maximus the Confessor as a philosopher has taken place, and this volume attempts to start such a discussion. Apart from Maximus' relevance and importance for philosophy in general, a second question arises: should towering figures of Byzantine philosophy like Maximus the Confessor be included in an overview of the European history of philosophy or rather excluded from it as is the case today with most histories of European philosophy? Maximus' philosophy challenges our understanding of what European philosophy is. In this volume, we begin to address these issues and examine numerous aspects of Maximus' philosophy, thereby also stressing the interdisciplinary character of Maximian studies. Contributors include Fr. Maximos Constas, Justin Shaun Coyle, Vladimir Cvetkovi, Natalie Depraz, Demetrios Harper, Michael Harrington, Georgi Kapriev, Karolina Kocha,czyk, Boni, ska, Nicholas Loudovikos, Andrew Louth, John Panteleimon Manoussakis, Michail Mantzanas, Smilen Markov, Sotiris Mitralaxis, Marcin Podbielski, Dionysios Skliris, Georgios Steiris, Stoyan Tanev, Torstein Theodor Tollefsen, Jordan Daniel Wood. Thomas Aquinas on the Passions Robert Miner, 2009-04-09 Provides an understanding of Thomas Aquinas' account of the passions, the elemental forces that affect human happiness. Baptist Sacramentalism 3 Anthony R. Cross, Philip E. Thompson, 2020 This collection of essays includes historical and theological studies in the sacraments from a Baptist perspective. Subjects explored include the liturgy and sacrament, presence of the Kingdom, some fallacies of Baptist anti-sacramentalism, a profound mystery, first communion, sacraments in a virtual world, richly are thy children fed the sacraments, sacramental practices of the believing community, priesthood of all the people, laying on of hands, holistic approach to water baptism, powerful practices and enough to set a Kingdom laughing. Church, World and the Christian Life Nicholas M. Healy, 2000-09-18 This book analyzes the impact of pluralism and inclusivism upon ecclesiology. Spiraling Webs of Relation Joanne DiNova, 2005-09-16 This work builds on indigenous theory as evident in the writing of Willie Ermine Gregory Cajete, Craig Womack, Jace Weaver, Laurie Anne Whitt, Linda Tuhiwai Smith, Voila Cordova, Dennis McPherson, and others. It works towards a criticism that, in accordance with the precepts of such theory, is community-oriented. It argues for an examination of literature in terms of its function for or against the community in the expansive sense of the term. Dante's Aesthetics of Being Warren Ginsberg, 1999 Explores the domain of the aesthetic in Dante. Surface Tension Julie Carr, 2013-04-23 Taking Dante, Gabriel Rossetti, William Morris, and Gerard Manley Hopkins as its primary subjects, Surface Tension reveals how these later Victorian poets repeatedly imagine the aesthetic moment charged, variegated, intensely focused, as capable of birthing a new and newly redemptive culture. Turning to contemporary experimental poets and theorists of poetry such as Andrew Joron, Lisa Robertson, Christopher Nealon, and Joan Retallack, it goes on to reveal how our own poetry's fascination with complex surfaces and imagined social transformation has deep and under-recognized ties to Victorian concepts. Surface Tension offers new insights into the debt we owe to the most radical of the Victorians while yielding new understandings of how late Victorian poetry, even when least explicitly political, engages and often re-envision the period's pressing anxieties about social progress, decadence, and revolution. The Politics of Praise William W. Young iii, 2017-03-02 While the revelation of God's name is a central theological topic, its ethical and political significance are often overlooked. In a world filled with violence committed in the name of God, how might invoking God's name enable peace, community, and hope? The Politics of Praise argues that the redemptive potential of naming God lies in how this event transforms friendship. It breaks new ground by tracing the connections between naming God and friendship in the work of Thomas Aquinas and Jacques Derrida. Advancing an innovative reading of Aquinas on the divine names, the book explores how Dionysius' mysticism shapes Aquinas' appropriation of Aristotle's ethics, then retraces how Derrida's reading of religion renders possible an alternative conception of friendship. These explorations lead to a surprising convergence between Aquinas and Derrida on the conditions of friendship.
