Love, Divine and Human: Contemporary Essays in Systematic and Philosophical Theology Oliver D. Crisp, James M. Arcadi, Jordan Wessling, 2019-10-31. This volume offers an array of newly commissioned essays addressing the topic of love in the Christian tradition. Drawn from a range of expert theologians and philosophers in contemporary analytic and non-analytic theology, these essays join current debates within the theology of love and aim to propose new avenues for future research. Including the last essay written by Marilyn McCord Adams, Love Divine and Human deals with a rich variety of issues related to divine and human love. The broad scope of the book includes divine transcendence and its methodological bearing on the doctrine of divine love, the nature and scope of divine love, the interrelation between God's love and wrath, the plausibility of an impassable God of love, and the application of various conceptions of divine love to the problem of divine hiddenness, human ethics, and human free will among other topics. This unified collection of cutting-edge papers will advance discussion for all those focused on the theology of love.

For the Love of the World Edwin Zackrison, 2021-08-04. The world can be subject to interpretations that cause Christians to disagree and even fight. Interpretations often end in startling disputes. For some, that world includes the inheritance of denominational interpretations. Historically conditioned conclusions are taken out of their context. Booklets have been produced for young people that largely define the world as dancing, smoking, drugs, music, theater, and music. This book will not spend time on these parochial notions. Rather, it will deal with God's love for the world. While Christians are often warned against the world, God loved the world from a different standpoint and made the ultimate sacrifice to give this world the chance to be restored to rightness with him. Philosophies of Love David L. Norton, Mary F. Kille, 1989-01-18.
