Performance Scorecards Measuring The Right Things In The Real World:

Performance Scorecards Richard Y. Chang, Mark Morgan, 2000-04-14 Base your business decisions on up to the minute snapshots of your company's performance. Because they can be customized to track indicators specific to your organization's success, Performance Scorecards are a busy manager's best resource for quickly aligning strategy and promoting behaviors that lead to desired results. Use them to gauge sales, employee satisfaction, quality, whatever factors most influence your company's progress. You'll be able to make better, more informed decisions, guide and manage shifts in business direction, and keep every employee focused on important business goals. Through their fictional account of manager Vince Sharp's use of the scorecards, Chang and Morgan show readers exactly how the process works. Total Performance Scorecard Hubert Rampersad, 2004-02-18 In the post-Enron climate, corporate executives are increasingly pressured to increase productivity and create an ethical, trustworthy organizational climate. Total Performance Scorecard introduces a concept of organizational improvement and change management that combines the Balanced Scorecard model with the learning organization theory. The TPS contains a personal balanced scorecard which is tied to an organizational balanced scorecard. These scorecards reflect not only performance goals but personal learning and growth goals as well, and the organizational scorecards also address organizational climate issues. Continuous improvement, change management, 360-degree feedback, and the learning organization are theories that the TPS makes use of in a very straightforward way. If implemented, the TPS enables a company to tie personal goals to organizational goals and tie personal performance to organizational performance, all within a culture that supports integrity, personal growth, learning, and open communication. Nirvana Building a New Performance Vision Thomas J. LaBonte, 2023-05-26 Despite their best efforts, many organizations find it difficult to shake the silo mentality that stands in the way of real strides in performance improvement. Building a New Performance Vision addresses this issue head-on by arguing that training, human resources, organizational development, quality, information technology, and knowledge management professionals should all be playing on the same HPI team. Each of these functions spends most of its energy promoting individual agendas and not the organization's business and performance needs. The cure for this unhappy state of affairs is the creation of a single unified HPI process and function that brings together these disparate groups under the banner of shared business goals. Readers are offered a clear path to accomplish this organizational feat through the use of step-by-step instructions, tools, tips, and job aids. Actionable Performance Measurement Marvin T. Howell, 2005-06-30 Measurement is absolutely essential for any organization or company, functional area, department, business unit, project, or individual. Companies must know how their processes are performing, how well they are meeting customers' needs, how targeted improvements are being achieved, and how management is doing. Accurate performance measures tell companies where they are and to take action if they are not on track or if performance does not meet expectations. Actionable Performance Measurement presents many different methods to help readers develop metrics and performance measures. To aid in corporate measures development and strategic tactical and or business planning a quick and effective method of identifying specific key results areas is outlined and explained Both customer and employee focuses are presented how to measure each and how to develop good surveys In addition Howell explains several methods for setting realistic but stretch targets as well as a technique for measuring apples and oranges Readers will be able to measure employee and customer satisfaction and be prepared to capably lead or be a member of a corporate or business unit measurement team to assess existing performance indicators effectiveness Included is a student workbook to be used as a teaching tool in conjunction with the books

The Leadership Scorecard Jack J. Phillips, Lynn Schmidt, 2012-06-25 Strong leaders are essential to business success which makes leadership development a business imperative in today's competitive environment. Leaders are needed that can do more than manage; leaders are needed that can make a business great. In addition, there is increasing pressure on organizations to demonstrate the wise investment of development dollars. This requires the effective use of leadership development methods as well as the ability to demonstrate the success of those methods. The Leadership Scorecard combines an explanation and discussion on best practice leadership development methods and incorporates ROI measurement evaluation methodology.

Developing a Learning Culture in Nonprofit Organizations Stephen J. Gill, 2010 Nonprofit organizations are under increasing pressure to demonstrate impact and that the funds raised to operate their organizations are maximized and used effectively. This book demonstrates how to create a culture of learning, intentional learning from reflection and feedback, focused on successes and failures that will lead to ongoing performance measurement and improvement. Because nonprofit organizations rely heavily on volunteers and are focused on mission, not money, it is critical for them to create a culture in which learning is a motivator for change. The book breaks down learning into four levels: individual, team, whole organization, and community. Learning at each of these levels is described and then specific tools are presented The tools are hands on and practical which facilitate reflection and feedback
