Affect, Alienation, and Politics in Therapeutic Culture Suvi Salmenniemi, 2022-08-12 This book contributes to research on therapeutic culture by drawing on longstanding ethnographic work and by offering a new theoretical reading of therapeutic culture in today s society It suggests that the therapeutic field serves as a key site in which a number of contradictions of capitalism are confronted and lived out It shows that therapeutic engagements are inherently ambivalent and contradictory as they can be articulated and engaged with in many different ways and harnessed for diverse and often contradictory political projects The book takes issue with the interpretation of therapeutic culture as merely individualising depoliticizing and working in congruence with neoliberalism and shows that therapeutic engagements may also open up a space for contestation and critique of neoliberal capitalism animate collective action for social change and articulate alternative forms of life and subjectivities The book will speak to a wide variety of audiences in the social sciences and will be of particular interest to those working in the fields of sociology anthropology critical psychology cultural studies gender studies and critical social theory

The Interlude in Academe David J. Siegel, 2023-01-17 This book is an exploration of the idea that interludes or disruptions to our usual rhythms rituals and routines offer individuals and institutions alike an incomparable opportunity to examine the governing assumptions that undergird academic work and to experiment with alternative modes and models of intellectual life Using the COVID 19 pandemic as the prime example of an externally imposed interlude on a mass scale the book argues that the compulsion of most colleges and universities to return to business as usual reveals that the business of the academic enterprise is only tangentially about learning ideas or the life of the mind It is mostly about keeping the institutional machinery running at all costs typically at the behest of state and market forces Meanwhile interludes of any size or duration from massively disruptive global pandemics to brief elective personal retreats offer occasions for interrogating our entrenched policies and practices and are simultaneously spaces for the pursuit of learning and idea play both within and beyond institutions
