The Fall of Crete 1941: Was Freyberg Culpable? Major James Bliss, 2015-11-06 On 20 May 1941 Generaloberst Kurt Student's Luftwaffe XI Fliegerkorps conducted the first operational airborne invasion in history to seize Crete Major General Bernard Cyril Freyberg VC 2nd New Zealand Expeditionary Force commanded the British forces defending the island Freyberg forewarned of the details of the invasion possessed numerical superiority over the enemy but was defeated within twelve days Freyberg later blamed for the defeat due to his perceived faulty defensive dispositions was dealt a losing hand from the start His troops consisted of those that could be rescued from the failed Greek Campaign and lacked sufficient weapons communications and transport to conduct the defense Despite the best efforts of the Royal Navy overwhelming Luftwaffe air superiority in the absence of the Royal Air Force isolated Crete and the relentless drive of the attacking German forces captured it Poor tactical leadership by Freyberg's subordinate commanders and their failure to prosecute his operational plan led to defeat by the barest margin While a tactical loss Freyberg's destruction of the 7th Flieger Division resulted in Hitler never considering an operational airborne assault again Freyberg although accepting responsibility for the defeat should not be held entirely culpable for the loss of Crete

The Balkans 1940-41 (2) Pier Paolo Battistelli, 2021-07-22 This concise yet detailed overview gives a balanced account of this key Blitzkrieg campaign in the Balkans during the opening years of World War II The Wehrmacht's last Blitzkrieg campaign was indeed a lightning war since German forces were required to seize both Yugoslavia and Greece before redeploying immediately to the East ready to attack the Soviet Union in a matter of weeks Although the plans for the conquest of Yugoslavia were developed in haste the campaign was extremely successful in a short space of time both Yugoslavia and Greece had fallen accompanied by the capture of large numbers of British Australian and New Zealand troops The 1941 Balkan campaign was an apparently brilliant military accomplishment that demonstrated once again the superiority of the Wehrmacht and its cutting edge campaigning skills This superbly detailed work details the opposing forces that took part in this campaign documents their weapons and analyzes the effectiveness of their tactics It explores the initial Axis campaign against Yugoslavia the breakthrough of the Metaxas Line and advance into Macedonia and the withdrawal of Allied troops south Detailed battlescenes depict key moments in the land sea and air battles that took place in the Balkans vividly bringing to life events of almost 80 years ago

architecture of Ali Pasha of Ioannina one of the most prolific patrons in the history of the Ottoman Empire who undertook a building program so ambitious that it ultimately got him killed Ali Pasha is still a household name in present day Greece and Albania where he served as Ottoman governor from 1788 to 1822 To consolidate his rule over an incredibly diverse population the governor set out on a sweeping building program that included mosques palaces military fortifications dervish lodges and even Orthodox Christian monasteries Drawing upon a wealth of primary sources Neumeier reveals how Ali Pasha's buildings shifted the sociopolitical order by testing the standards of patronage established by the imperial court and relocating administrative authority from center to province To reconstruct the world that Ali Pasha built Neumeier draws from both extensive fieldwork and abundant archival material whose far flung nature from Istanbul to London reflects the impressively wide scope of Ali Pasha's influence Rigorously researched and packed with fascinating stories this book presents an innovative spatial history of the Ottoman frontier during the age of revolutions a pivotal period in the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries when there was no obvious blueprint for power It will be of interest to specialists in art and architectural history the Ottoman Empire and Mediterranean Islamic and Modern Greek studies Encyclopedia of World War II Alan Axelrod,2007 A reference to the ideological military political biographical and social topics surrounding World War II which is often considered the pivotal event of the twentieth century Echoes of Exile Daniela
