Repositioning the victim in criminal justice Olivier Tell, Gabrielle Browne, 2023-02-01 Following erce campaigning by victims groups the international community has entered into a debate that aims to move the victim from the margins to the centre of the criminal justice system For the rst time restorative justice is explicitly regulated at the European Union legal level as a Victims Directive aims to establish a baseline for its safe implementation across member states This ground breaking and timely edited collection aims to contribute to this international debate The book aims to challenge current thinking while highlighting good practices that respect and safeguard victims in justice processes The book uses a combination of theoretical and empirical analysis while utilising original research data collected by the European project Restorative Justice in Europe which was coordinated by the Editor Dr Theo Gavrielides Leading experts take bold steps in advancing the debate for a victim led criminal justice system The book also aims to give voice to victims directly by involving them as authors of its chapters case studies and as research participants The book also includes sample training material best practice and guidelines created by the RJE project through the contribution of victims offenders and experts from across Europe As a victim I believe an increased uptake by victims relies strongly on the active implementation by practitioners of the Victims Directive If victims feel empowered by the process they will be more likely to participate in it to the benefit of the victim the offender and the community Gabrielle Browne a victim of sexual assault and a member of the RJE Expert Advisory Group Governments around the world should open a debate about what is the most important for victims in the justice process victim of crime and RJE participant Thank you for your active engagement with the Ministry of Justice in progressing this important project that will help inform future restorative justice policy Gaining the insight of victims offenders and practitioners will be important in considering how restorative justice practice can be made more effective for the public UK Ministry of Justice To cite this ebook Gavrielides T et al 2023 Repositioning the victim in criminal justice a restorative justice evidence based offer London RJ4All Publications ISBN 978 1 911634 74 4 DOI 10 13140 RG 2 2 23974 60483 Juvenile Offenders and Victims ,1999 Victims and the Labour of Justice at the International Criminal Court Leila Ullrich, 2024

Perpetrators of International Crimes Alette Smeulers, Maartje Weerdesteijn, Barbora Holá, 2019-02-07 Why would anyone commit a mass atrocity such as genocide crimes against humanity war crimes or terrorism This question is at the core of the multi and interdisciplinary field of perpetrator studies a developing field which this book assesses in its full breadth for the first time Perpetrators of International Crimes analyses the most prominent theories methods and evidence to determine what we know what we think we know as well as the ethical implications of gathering this knowledge It traces the development of perpetrator studies whilst pushing the boundaries of this emerging field The book includes contributions from experts from a wide array of disciplines including criminology history law sociology psychology political science religious studies and anthropology They cover numerous case studies including prominent ones such as Nazi Germany

Rwanda and the former Yugoslavia but also those that are relatively under researched and more recent such as Sri Lanka and the Islamic State These have been investigated through various research methods including but not limited to trial observations and interviews Justice for Victims before the International Criminal Court Luke Moffett, 2014-06-27 Many prosecutors and commentators have praised the victim provisions at the International Criminal Court ICC as justice for victims which for the first time include participation protection and reparations This book critically examines the role of victims in international criminal justice drawing from human rights victimology and best practices in transitional justice Drawing on field research in Northern Uganda Luke Moffet explores the nature of international crimes and assesses the role of victims in the proceedings of the ICC paying particular attention to their recognition participation reparations and protection The book argues that because of the criminal nature and structural limitations of the ICC justice for victims is symbolic requiring State Parties to complement the work of the Court to address victims needs In advancing an innovative theory of justice for victims and in offering solutions to current challenges the book will be of great interest and use to academics practitioners and students engaged in victimology the ICC transitional justice or reparations Honour Killings and Criminal Justice Ferya Taş-Çifçi, 2020-03-06 Despite recent reforms to the Turkish Penal Code the country retains a high level of honour based violence This book analyses the motives behind honour based violence in Turkey and examines the criminal justice system s approach to this type of crime The work takes a socio legal approach to explore the concepts of honour patriarchy and hierarchy along with the roles of culture and tradition It also examines how the legal system deals with this phenomenon focusing on the decisions of the criminal courts in honour killing cases and drawing on prisoner interviews These analyses show the extent to which the State follows a patriarchal approach when dealing with honour killings and inform recommendations for improving the legal and criminal justice system so as to deter crimes of this nature

The Gacaca Courts, Post-Genocide Justice and Reconciliation in Rwanda Phil Clark, 2010-09-09 Since 2001 the Gacaca community courts have been the centrepiece of Rwanda s justice and reconciliation programme Nearly every adult Rwandan has participated in the trials principally by providing eyewitness testimony concerning genocide crimes Lawyers are banned from any official involvement an issue that has generated sustained criticism from human rights organisations and international scepticism regarding Gacaca's efficacy Drawing on more than six years of fieldwork in Rwanda and nearly five hundred interviews with participants in trials this in depth ethnographic investigation of a complex transitional justice institution explores the ways in which Rwandans interpret Gacaca Its conclusions provide indispensable insight into post genocide justice and reconciliation as well as the population's views on the future of Rwanda itself Victims in the War on Crime Markus Dirk Dubber,2006-01-01 Two phenomena have shaped American criminal law for the past thirty years the war on crime and the victims rights movement As incapacitation has replaced rehabilitation as the dominant ideology of punishment reflecting a shift from an identification with defendants to an identification with victims the war on crime has victimized offenders and victims alike What we need instead Dubber argues is a system which adequately recognizes both victims and defendants as persons Victims in the War on Crime is the first book to provide a critical analysis of the role of victims in the criminal justice system as a whole It also breaks new ground in focusing not only on the victims of crime but also on those of the war on victimless crime After first offering an original critique of the American penal system in the age of the crime war Dubber undertakes an incisive comparative reading of American criminal law and the law of crime victim compensation culminating in a wide ranging revision that takes victims seriously and offenders as well Dubber here salvages the project of vindicating victims rights for its own sake rather than as a weapon in the war against criminals Uncovering the legitimate core of the victims rights movement from underneath existing layers of bellicose rhetoric he demonstrates how victims rights can help us build a system of American criminal justice after the frenzy of the war on crime has died down Victimology Leah E.

Interventions to Address Intimate Partner Violence Tod Augusta-Scott,Katreena Scott,Leslie M. Tutty,2017-04-21 Innovations in Interventions to Address Intimate Partner Violence Research and Practice speaks to what can be done to effectively intervene to end intimate partner violence against women Including contributions from both researchers and practitioners chapters describe service innovations across systems in large urban and remote rural contexts aimed at majority and minority populations and that utilize a range of theoretical perspectives to understand and promote change in violence and victimization Reflecting this range contributions to this volume are organized into five sections legal responses to domestic violence intervention with men who have perpetrated domestic violence responses to women who have experienced domestic violence restorative approaches to intimate partner violence and a section on integrating intervention for domestic violence across systems The book highlights advances in practice which will be of interest to researchers practitioners policy makers and students Working with Client Experiences of Domestic Abuse Jeannette Roddy,2023-06-30 This edited volume shares relevant theory and practical strategies to support counsellors to work effectively with those who have experienced domestic abuse. The effect of relational and other abuses can impact an individual's ability to engage with family, friends, counsellors or other professionals trying to support them due to reduced ability to trust and the impact of complex trauma. Helping someone to recover requires specific knowledge and skills not usually part of a standard professional training program. This book acts as a training manual providing an overview of what clients need at different stages of recovery. It contains chapters written by staff who deliver counselling and mental health training and provides their insight into the specific issues that clients may present, suggesting constructive and accessible suggestions for practice and a chapter on counsellor self-care. The reflections exercises in each chapter will help the reader assess their competency. Working with Client Experiences of Domestic Abuse will be of interest to mental health professionals, counselling training courses and domestic violence services who wish to incorporate counselling as part of their service offer.

Masculinities and Queer Perspectives in Transitional Justice Philipp Schulz, Brandon Hamber, Heleen Touquet, 2024-10-03 This book addresses the theory and practice of transitional justice through the lens of masculinities and queer perspectives. What and where are the intersections between masculinities and queer theories and frameworks for better understanding lived experiences of violence, justice and transitions? How can masculinities and queer perspectives enhance and complexify our understandings of the intersections between gender, sexualities, armed conflict and post-conflict transitions? Incorporating masculinities and queer perspectives in transitional justice in tandem and alongside one another, this book contributes empirically, conceptually and methodologically to an exploration of gender in processes of dealing with violent pasts. More specifically, and by taking on the task of combining bringing into conversation and utilizing both masculinities and queer perspectives, the book aims to facilitate and contribute toward more inclusive, holistic and intersectional approaches of gender in dealing with the past. This book will appeal to scholars and students working in the areas of transitional justice, peace and conflict research, international relations, gender studies and socio-legal studies. Truth Commissions and Courts William A. Schabas, Shane Darcy, 2007-10-12 Criminal justice for human rights abuses committed during periods of political repression or dictatorship is one of the great challenges to post-conflict societies. In many cases there has been no justice at all. Sometimes serious political concerns that efforts at accountability might upset fragile peace settlements have militated in favour of no action and no accountability. In many cases the outgoing tyrants have conditioned their departure upon a pledge that there be no prosecutions. But thinking on these issues has evolved considerably in recent years. Largely driven by the view that collective amnesia amounts to a violation of fundamental human rights, especially those of the victims of atrocities, attention has increasingly turned to the dynamics of post-conflict accountability At the high end of the range of course sit the new international criminal justice institutions the ad hoc tribunals for the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda the Special Court for Sierra Leone the various hybrid tribunals in Kosovo East Timor and Cambodia and the new International Criminal Court But in terms of sheer numbers the most significant new institutions are truth and reconciliation commissions Of variable architecture depending upon the prerogatives of the society in question and the features of the past conflict they have emerged as a highly popular mechanism within the toolbox of transitional justice In some cases the truth commission is held out as an alternative to criminal justice
