Persian Mirrors:

Persian Mirrors Elaine Sciolino, 2000-10-03 No American reporter has more experience covering Iran or more access to the private corners of Iranian society than Elaine Sciolino. As a correspondent for Newsweek and The New York Times she has reported on the key events of the past two decades. She was aboard the airplane that brought Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to Tehran in 1979; she was there for the Iranian revolution, the hostage crisis, the Iran-Iraq war, the rise of President Mohammad Khatami, and the riots of the summer of 1999. In Persian Mirrors, Sciolino takes us into the public and private spaces of Iran: the bazaars, beauty salons, aerobics studios, courtrooms, universities, mosques, and the presidential palace, to capture the vitality of a society so often misunderstood by Americans. She demystifies a country of endless complexity, where on the streets women swathe themselves in black and behind high walls they adorn themselves with makeup and jewelry, where the laws of Islam are the law of the land and yet the government advertises as tourist attractions the ruins of the pre-Islamic imperial capital at Persepolis and the synagogue where Queen Esther is said to be buried, and where even the most austere clerics recite sensual romantic poetry insisting that it refers to divine and not earthly love. Iran is also a place with a dark side, where unpredictable repression is carried out officially and unofficially by forces intent on maintaining power and influence. Sciolino deftly uses her travels throughout Iran and her encounters with its people to portray the country as an exciting, daring laboratory where experiments with two highly volatile chemicals, Islam and democracy, are being conducted. Like the mirror mosaics found in Iran's royal palaces and religious shrines, there is more to the whole of the country than the fragments revealed to outsiders. Persian Mirrors captures this elusive Iran. Sciolino paints in astonishing detail and rich color the surprising inner life of this country, where a great battle is raging not for control over territory but for the soul of the nation.

Persian Mirrors Elaine Sciolino, 2001-10-01 The New York Times expert on Iran explores the beauty and contradiction underlying this enigmatic country.

The Medieval Reception of the Shāhnāma as a Mirror for Princes

Nasrin Askari, 2016-08-09 Nasrin Askari explores the medieval reception of Firdaus's Shāhnāma or Book of Kings, completed in 1010 CE, as a mirror for princes. Through her examination of a wide range of medieval sources, Askari demonstrates that Firdaus's oeuvre was primarily understood as a book of wisdom and advice for kings and courtly elites. In order to illustrate the ways in which the Shāhnāma functions as a mirror for princes, Askari analyses the account about Ardashir, the founder of the Sasanian dynasty, as an ideal king in the Shāhnāma. Within this context, she explains why the idea of the union of kingship and religion, a major topic in almost all medieval Persian mirrors for princes, has often been attributed to Ardashir.

A Critical Companion to the 'Mirrors for Princes' Literature, 2022-12-05 Why devote a Companion to the mirrors for princes, whose very existence is debated? These texts offer key insights into political thoughts of the past. Their ambiguous problematic status further enhances their interest. And although recent research has fundamentally challenged established views of these texts, until now there has been no critical introduction to the genre. This volume therefore fills this important gap while promoting a global historical perspective of different mirrors for princes traditions from antiquity to humanism via Byzantium Persia Islam and the medieval West This Companion also proposes new avenues of reflection on the anchoring of these texts in their historical realities Contributors are Makram Abbas Denise Aigle Olivier Biaggini Hugo Bizzarri Charles F Briggs Sylvie Edouard Jean Philippe Genet John R Lenz Louise Marlow Cary J Nederman Corinne Peneau Stéphane Piquinot Noelle Laetitia Perret Ginter Prinzing Volker Reinhardt Hans Joachim Schmidt Tom Stevenson Karl Uhl and Steven J Williams

Reflecting Mirrors, East and West: Transcultural Comparisons of Advice Literature for Rulers (8th - 13th century) Enrico Boccaccini, 2021-11-15 In Reflecting Mirrors East and West Enrico Boccaccini sheds new light on Mirrors for Princes the pre modern genre of advice literature for rulers A popular genre in the societies that emerged from the Late Antique eocumene Mirrors for Princes are considered here for the first time as a transcultural phenomenon that challenges the dichotomy of the Orient and the Occident Traditionally the historiographic tradition has viewed European and Middle Eastern Mirrors as distinct and incommensurable Analyzing the contents and discourses in four Mirrors ostensibly separated by space time and language Enrico Boccaccini convincingly draws out the surprising continuities between these texts while also showing how they are embedded in their own historical literary and political context Joseph A. Schumpeter: Historian of Economics Laurence S. Moss, 1996-07-04 With contributions from leading historians of economics from six countries this work analyses Schumpeter's contribution to the history of economics and uses it as a benchmark to assess the current state of the field

God's Rule Patricia Crone, 2004 Patricia Crone's God's Rule is a fundamental reconstruction and analysis of Islamic political thought focusing on its intellectual development during the six centuries from the rise of Islam to the Mongol invasions. Based on a wide variety of primary sources including some not previously considered from the point of view of political thought, this is the first book to examine the medieval Muslim answers to questions crucial to any Western understanding of Middle Eastern politics today, such as why states are necessary, what functions they are meant to fulfill, and whether or why they must be based on religious law. The character of Muslim political thought differs fundamentally from its counterpart in the West. The Christian West started with the conviction that truth, both cognitive and moral, and political power belonged to separate spheres. Ultimately, both power and truth originated with God, but they had distinct historical trajectories and regulated different aspects of life. The Muslims started with the opposite conviction: truth and power appeared at the same time in history and regulated the same aspects of life. In medieval Europe, the disagreement over the relationship between religious authority and political power took the form of a protracted controversy regarding the roles of church and state. In the medieval Middle East, religious authority and political power were embedded in a single divinely sanctioned Islamic community; a congregation and state made one. The disagreement therefore took the form of a protracted controversy over the nature and function of the leadership of Islam itself. Crone makes Islamic political thought accessible by relating it to the contexts in which it was formulated, analyzing it in terms familiar to today's reader, and where possible, comparing it with medieval European and modern political thought. By examining the ideological point of departure for medieval Islamic political thought, Crone provides an invaluable foundation for a better understanding of contemporary Middle Eastern politics and current world events.

Medieval Islamic Political Thought Patricia Crone, 2014-03-11 This book presents general readers and specialists alike with a broad survey of Islamic political thought in the six centuries from the rise of Islam to the Mongol invasions.

Iran and Christianity Mark Bradley, 2011-10-27 In this enlightening study, Mark Bradley looks at the growing underground church in Iran. Given the hostility of the regime, it is often assumed that Christianity is withering in Iran, but in fact, more Iranian Muslims have become Christians in the last 25 years than since the seventh century when Islam first came to Iran. Beginning with an in-depth look at the historical identity of Iran, religiously, culturally, and politically, Bradley shows how this identity makes Iranians inclined towards Christianity. He goes on to look at the impact of the 1979 revolution, an event which has brought war, economic chaos, and totalitarianism to Iran, and its implications for Iranian faith. The study concludes with an analysis of church growth since 1979 and an examination of the emerging underground church. This is a fascinating work guaranteed to improve any reader's knowledge of not only Iranian faith and church growth but of Iranian culture and history as a whole, thanks to the thorough treatment given to the country's background.

Facts and Artefacts Annette Hagedorn, Avîno'am Šālēm, 2007-01-01 The scholarly search on the art of the object is of enduring interest and enjoys a new renaissance in the last few years This book mainly explores the art and craft of Islamic artefacts and presents to the reader a diverse range of approaches Despite this variety in which also artefacts of the pre Islamic period as well as orientalized European artefacts of the modern era are included there is an overarching theme the linking of the interpretation of objects and their specific aesthetics to textual sources and the aim of setting them in historical and artistic context In this impressive collection honouring the German scholar of Islamic art Jens Kroger on his 65th birthday Avinoam Shalem and Annette Hagedorn bring together contributions from a highly distinguished group of scholars of Asiatic Sasanian Islamic as well as European art history Unpublished artefacts and new interpretations are presented in this book
