Algorithms and Complexity Vangelis Th. Paschos, Peter Widmayer, 2015-05-15 This book constitutes the refereed conference proceedings of the 9th International Conference on Algorithms and Complexity CIAC 2015 held in Paris France in May 2015 The 30 revised full papers presented were carefully reviewed and selected from 93 submissions and are presented together with 2 invited papers The papers present original research in the theory and applications of algorithms and computational complexity Digital Products C. Werner Dankwort, Josef Hoschek, 2012-12-06 In addition to the classical needs competition on the global market requires from industry product innovations quality time to market reduction of costs Q T C The modern process networks of product development and manufacturing passing the borders of countries and including several companies could not work without an extensive use of information technology This is going far beyond the former idea of Computer Aided Design Thus the 3 d Workshop on Current CAx Problems did not focus on functionalities or methods aiding design like in the first two workshops but on Digital Products Living Data is the Future problems of the virtual simulation of the entire industrial process starting with the development of a product and covering the complete life cycle The workshop aimed at bringing together the three groups industry mainly automotive manufacturers system suppliers and fundamental research During the workshop communication between these three groups had to be intensified and especially also among competing companies of the same branch to pave the way for concerted actions which are essential for all in the future LIFE, 1946-02-18 LIFE Magazine is the treasured photographic magazine that chronicled the 20th Century It now lives on at LIFE com the largest most amazing collection of professional photography on the internet Users can browse search and view photos of today s people and events They have free access to share print and post images for personal use Discerning Characters Christopher J. Lukasik, 2011-07-11 In this path breaking study of the intersections between visual and literary culture Christopher J Lukasik explores how early Americans grappled with the relationship between appearance and social distinction in the decades between the American Revolution and the Civil War Through a wide range of evidence including canonical and obscure novels newspapers periodicals scientific and medical treatises and plays as well as conduct manuals portraits silhouettes and engravings Discerning Characters charts the transition from the eighteenth century's emphasis on performance and manners to the search for a more reliable form of corporeal legibility in the wake of the Revolution The emergence of physiognomy which sought to understand a person's character based on apparently unchanging facial features facilitated a larger shift in perception about the meanings of physical appearance and its relationship to social distinction The ensuing struggle between the face as a pliable medium of cultural performance and as rigid evidence of social standing Lukasik argues was at the center of the post Revolutionary novel which imagined physiognomic distinction as providing stability during a time of cultural division and political turmoil As Lukasik shows this tension between a model of character grounded in the fluid performances of the self and one grounded in the permanent features of the face would continue to shape not only the representation of social distinction within the novel but more broadly the practices of literary production and reception in nineteenth century America across a wide range of media The result is a new interdisciplinary interpretation of the rise of the novel in America that reconsiders the political and social aims of the genre during the fifty years following the Revolution In so doing Discerning Characters powerfully rethinks how we have read and continue to read both novels and each other

The Face of Agamemnon John Galway, 2013 This novel is based on a story related in the course of an interview conducted for a national Irish radio RTE programme in 1984 with the putative leader of the Estonian Resistance during World War II The man interviewed died about two years later leaving me a manuscript purporting to be the complete story Further research however opened up quite a different perspective from which a former lieutenant began to emerge as the main protagonist If his story could be verified which seemed impossible it would connect him with one of the great thefts of ancient art perpetrated during World War II It would also connect him with an international incident that severely strained relations between the Russian authorities and Germany in 1993 when a number of these stolen items were displayed in Moscow's Pushkin Museum

Computational Topology in Image Context Rebeca Marfil, Mariletty Calderón, Fernando Díaz del Río, Pedro Real, Antonio Bandera, 2019-01-10 This book constitutes the proceedings of the 7th International Workshop on Computational Topology in Image Context CTIC 2019 held in Málaga Spain in January 2019 The 14 papers presented in this volume were carefully reviewed and selected from 21 submissions Papers deal with theoretical issues but most of them put the attention on the applicability of concepts and algorithms These were designed to deal with objects and images but also with the speech signal The final application must be for instance in the medical domain or in the robotics one
