Persona Granada:

Granada Television--The First Generation John Finch, Michael Cox, Marjorie Giles, 2003-11-08 This is a rich and readable collection of memoirs of those who worked at Granada during the first thirty years of its existence It captures a climate of creative activity unique in the history of broadcasting referred to now as the Golden Years of British Television Lords Birt and Macdonald Sir Denis Forman Michael Parkinson Michael Apted Stan Barstow Nick Elliott Victoria Wood Kenith Trodd Jack Rosenthal Anna Ford Chris Kelly and Alan Plater are just a few of the many well known contributors who were responsible for creating the foundations on which Granada's considerable worldwide reputation was based Shows like World in Action Brideshead Revisited A Family at War Coronation Street What the Papers Say and many more described in this book were pioneers in their respective fields Rhetoric in the New World Don Paul Abbott, 1996 Abbott's study begins with an examination of the Spanish rhetorical tradition a tradition that would affect many aspects of the colonial enterprise including the campaign to Christianize the New World the European perceptions of indigenous discourse and the effort to transplant humanistic educational institutions to Spain's two great colonies Mexico and Peru The Dream That Died Raymond Fitzwalter, 2008 This title presents a unique insider account of the rise and fall of ITV as seen through the fate of Granada Television and the ripple effect on the standard of broadcasting we see on our screens today It is the unfolding of the story of 25 years in which The best broadcasting system in the world was turned into Ignorance and self interest the idiocy and feeble mindedness that is 21st century ITV It is a book based on more than 90 exclusive interviews with key players who had their hands on the money and the power behind commercial television but who saw politicians businessmen and broadcasters convert high quality public service broadcasting into a ratings driven commercial wasteland undermining the BBC and Channel 4 Accompanied by a collection of original photographs The Dream That Died is essential for anyone involved in or learning about the broadcasting industry Kiplinger's Personal Finance, 1980-11 The most trustworthy source of information available today on savings and investments taxes money management home ownership and many other personal finance topics A sense of place Lez Cooke, 2018-02-28 This pioneering study examines regional British television drama from its beginnings on the BBC and ITV in the 1950s to the arrival of Channel Four in 1982 It discusses the ways in which regionalism regional culture and regional identity have been defined outlines the history of regional broadcasting in the UK and includes two detailed case studies of Granada Television and BBC English Regions Drama representing contrasting examples of regional television drama during what is often described as the golden age of British television The conclusion brings the study up to date by discussing recent developments in regional drama production and by considering future possibilities Written in a scholarly but accessible style the book uncovers a forgotten history of British television drama that will be of interest to lecturers and students of media and cultural studies as well as the general reader with an interest in the history of British television Bomber Boys on Screen S. P. MacKenzie, 2019-08-08 Since the Second World War depictions of Royal Air Force operations in film and television drama have become so numerous that they make up a genre worthy of scholarly attention In this illuminating study S P MacKenzie explores the different ways in which the men of RAF Bomber Command have been represented in dramatic form on the big and small screen from the war years to the present day Bomber Boys on Screen is the first in depth study of how and why the screen drama image of those who flew those who directed them and those who provided support for RAF bomber operations has changed over time sometimes in contested circumstances Until now dramas that focus on Bomber Command have tended to be mentioned only in passing or studied in isolation despite the prevalence of surveys of both the British war film genre and of aviation cinema In Bomber Boys on Screen MacKenzie examines the development presentation and reception of significant dramas on a decade by decade basis Titles from the beginning of the war The Lion Has Wings 1939 to the start of new century Bomber s Moon 2014 are situated in the context of technical possibilities and limitations evolving social and cultural norms in the United Kingdom and elsewhere and the development of moral and utilitarian controversies surrounding the wartime bomber offensive directed against Nazi Germany While the focus is on feature films and television plays reference is also made to documentaries memorials veterans organizations book titles war comics and other representations of the war fought by Bomber Command

Modern Lusts Detlef Siegfried,2020-07-01 As a jazz musician filmmaker anthropologist sexologist and crime novelist the boundlessly curious German autodidact Ernest Borneman exemplified the conflicting cultural and intellectual currents of the twentieth century In this long awaited English translation acclaimed historian Detlef

Siegfried chronicles Borneman's journey from a young Jewish Communist in Nazi Berlin to his emergence as a celebrated and reliably controversial transatlantic polymath. Through an innovative structure organized around the human senses, this biography memorably portrays a figure whose far-flung obsessions comprised a microcosm of postwar intellectual life.

Public Issue Television Peter Goddard, John Corner, Kay Richardson, 2008-03-15. Public issue television is a major contribution to understanding the relationship between television, politics, and society. Based on full access to the archives, it offers a fascinating historical account of how one television series, Granada's World in Action, celebrated for its tough journalism, visual directness, and public impact, functioned and developed over its run across 35 years between 1963 and 1998. This book gets deep inside the making of factual television and examines how a particular culture of production works within broader conditions of possibility and constraint. As well as discussing achievement and success, it examines the tensions, the debates, and open conflicts that formed part of the context within which the series was made and transmitted across four decades.

Looking North Dave Russell, 2004-10. Investigating areas as diverse as travel literature, fiction, dialect, the stage, radio, television, feature film, music, and sport, this book assesses the portrayal of the North of England within the national culture and how this has impacted upon attitudes to the region and its place within notions of Englishness. The relationship between these cultural forms and the construction of regional identity has received only limited consideration, and this fascinating work provides not only much new information but also a map for future writers. The North, although seen ultimately as other and the subject of much critical comment, is also shown here as capable of stimulating the creative imagination and invigorating English culture in sometimes surprising ways.

Dismantling Diasporas Anastasia Christou, Elizabeth Mavroudi, 2016-03-09. Re-energising debates on the conceptualisation of diasporas in migration scholarship and in geography, this work stresses the important role that geographers can play in interrupting assumptions about the spaces and processes of diaspora. The intricate material and complex ways in which those in diaspora contest, construct, and perform identity, politics, development, and place is explored throughout this book. The authors dismantle diasporas in order to re-theorise the concept through empirically grounded, cutting-edge global research. This innovative volume will appeal to an international and interdisciplinary audience in ethnic migration and diaspora studies, as it tackles comparative, multi-sited, and multi-method research through compelling case studies in a variety of contexts spanning the Global North and South. The research in this book is guided by four interconnected themes: the ways in which diasporas are constructed and performed through identity, the body, everyday practice, and place; how those in diaspora become politicised and how this leads to unities and disunities in relation to here and there; the ways in which diasporas seek to connect and re-connect with their homelands and the consequences of this in terms of identity formation, employment, and theorising who counts as a diaspora; and how those in diaspora engage with homeland development and the challenges this creates.

Halliwell's Horizon Michael Binder, 2011-06-12. The first full biography of the film encyclopaedist and television impresario Leslie Halliwell who in 1965 compiled The Filmgoer's Companion the first one volume reference book devoted to all aspects of the cinema In his capacity as chief buyer for the ITV network Halliwell was further responsible for bringing to British television screens some of the most popular films and shows of the 1970s and 80s including The Six Million Dollar Man Charlie's Angels The Winds of War Jaws Star Wars and the James Bond movies His promotion of the cinema through his books and seasons of golden oldies on Channel 4 won him awards from the London Film Critics Circle and the British Film Institute as well as a posthumous BAFTA Film historian Jeffrey Richards said of Halliwell's Horizon I enjoyed it enormously It combines exhaustive research with critical insight and affectionate regard bringing Halliwell and his work to vivid life
