denominations but new church development brings similar change to individual aging congregations in their vicinity Author Stephen Compton argues that a decline in new church starts in the last half of the 20th century was the major contributor to the decline of mainline church groups not liberalism or lack of faith as is often cited He shows in this book how introducing considerable numbers of new congregations into these old denominations can cause these venerable institutions to revisit the meaning of church and congregation develop a clearer vision of their collective mission and grow in their ability to bring about positive change in the world In effect he contends new churches in an aging organization do not merely make it grow They make it change in ways that make it more effective in its mission and ministries This book will appeal to leaders across denominational lines including those not ordinarily called mainline and especially to pastors and leaders of older congregations Program Handbook for Army Service Club Personnel United States.
