Instructor's Guide United States. Office of Civil Defense,1972 Complexity Theory in Public Administration Elizabeth Anne Eppel,Mary Lee Rhodes,2020-05-21 This book reframes theoretical methodological and practical approaches to public administration by drawing on complexity theory concepts It aims to provide alternative perspectives on the theory research and practice of public administration avoiding assumptions of traditional theory building The contributors explain both how ongoing non linear interactions result in macro patterns becoming established in a complexity informed world view and the implications of these dynamics Complexity theory explains the way in which many repeated non linear interactions among elements within a whole can result in processes and patterns emerging without design or direction thus necessitating a reconsideration of the predictability and controllability of many aspects of public administration As well as illustrating how complexity theory informs new research methods for studying this field the book also shines a light on the different practices required of public administrators to cope with the complexity encountered in the public policy and public management fields This book was originally published as a special issue of the Public Management Review journal Impact of Career Development Program Upon Local Coordinators Charles L. Mulford,Gerald E. Klonglan,David A. Hay,1972 The general objective of the study was to investigate the effectiveness of the OCD Career Development Program The specific objectives were to determine the program s impact on the local civil defense coordinator s knowledge of and ability to build and operate a viable local civil defense organization and to link the official vertical civil defense systems to the local community horizontal social systems A portion of the data required to meaningfully evaluate a training program such as the Career Development Program was collected by a mail questionnaire which determined the perceptions of 128 local civil defense graduates of Career Development regarding changes in their knowledge behavior attitudes and degree of participation in civil defense related activities resulting from their attendance at the Career Development Program The four impact areas knowledge behavior attitudes and degree of participation were utilized as the major criteria in assessing the degree to which Staff College is achieving the objectives established for the Career Development Program Author Catalog of Federal Education
