Reporting Science Jeffrey H. Goldstein, 2024-08-08 Originally published in 1986 this is a nonscientific book about science It is concerned with the relationships among social science journalism public information and public policy Reporting Science The Case of Aggression explores some of the obstacles and suggestions for overcoming them to the mutual exchange of information when that information concerns research and theory on a sensitive issue in this instance violence Among the issues explored are What is the social scientist's responsibility if any for the public dissemination of his or her work How accurate are mass media reports of scientific research on such socially sensitive issues as violence and the effects of mass media portrayals of sex and aggression How do science journalists select particular pieces of research for study How can interested scientists more effectively present their work to the public What are the ethical issues involved in greater scientist-journalist cooperation

Hinde,Jo Groebel,1987 Memorializing Violence Alison Crosby,Heather Evans,2025-02-11 Memorializing Violence brings together feminist and queer reflections on the transnational lives of memorialization practices asking what it means to grapple with loss mourning grief and desires to collectively remember and commemorate as well as urges to forget in the face of disparate yet entangled experiences of racialized and gendered colonial imperial militarized and state violence The volume uses a transnational feminist approach to ask How do such efforts in seemingly unconnected remembrance landscapes speak to with and through each other in a world order inflected by colonial imperial and neoliberal logics structures and strictures How do these memorializing initiatives not only formulate within but move through complex transnational flows and circuits and what transpires as they do What does it mean to inhabit loss mourning resistance and refusal through memorialization at this moment and what's at stake in doing so What might transnational feminist analyses of gender race sexuality class and nation have to offer in this regard New Methodological Perspectives on Observation and Experimentation in Science Wenceslao J. González,2010-12-29

Observation and experimentation are central topics of philosophy and methodology of science. The empirical sciences have commonly been associated to observational and experimental processes because they have been considered crucial for testing the contents of these. Thus observation and experimentation have received attention from different angles and they have been historically relevant in the advancement of science. Their philosophical methodological analysis includes some key aspects: those related to axiological, epistemological and methodological issues.

New Methodological Perspectives on Observation and Experimentation in Science deals with a classic topic that is seen from new angles. Its nine chapters seek non-traditional aspects, trying to extend the boundaries of this philosophical methodological theme. They are presented in five sections: 1. A Philosophical Methodological Context; 2. Experience and Scientific Observations; 3. Empirical Support and Experiments in Science; 4. Changes in the Framework on Observation and Experimentation; and 5. Enlarging the Philosophical Scope. Law and Ecology.

Wenceslao J. Gonzalez is Professor of Logic and Philosophy of Science, University of A Coruña. He is a Full Member of the International Academy for Philosophy of Sciences (AIPS), Visiting fellow at the Center for Philosophy of Science, University of Pittsburgh, and a Team Leader of the European Science Foundation program entitled 'The Philosophy of Science in a European Perspective'. He has been named a Distinguished Researcher by the Main National University of San Marcos in Lima, Peru. He has been a visiting researcher at the Universities of St Andrews, Münster and London (LSE). He has given lectures at the Universities of Pittsburgh, Stanford, Quebec, and Helsinki. The conferences in which he has participated include those organized by the Universities of Uppsala, New South Wales, Bologna, Canterbury, NZ, and Beijing. He has edited 26 volumes on philosophy and methodology of science.

Vikings and the Vikings Paul Hardwick, Kate Lister, 2019-11-12

This essay collection is a wide-ranging exploration of Vikings, the television series that has successfully summoned the historical world of the Norse people for modern audiences to enjoy. From a range of critical viewpoints, these all-fresh essays explore the ways in which past and present representations of the Vikings converge in the show's richly textured dramatization of the rise and fall of Ragnar Loobrok and the exploits of his heirs, creating what many viewers label a true representation of the age. From the show's sources in both saga literature and Victorian revival to its engagement with contemporary concerns regarding gender, race, and identity via setting, sex, society, and more, this first book-length study of the History Channel series appeals to fans of the show, Viking enthusiasts, and anyone with an interest in medievalist representation in the 21st century.
