Representations Of The Intellectual The Reith Lectures:

Representations of the Intellectual Edward W. Said, 2012-10-24 In these impassioned and inspiring essays based on his 1993 Reith Lectures Edward Said explores what it means to be an intellectual Said is a brilliant and unique amalgam of scholar aesthete and political activist He challenges and stimulates our thinking in every area Washington Post Book World Are intellectuals merely the servants of special interests or do they have a larger responsibility In these wide ranging essays one of our most brilliant and fiercely independent public thinkers addresses this question with extraordinary eloquence Said sees the the intellectual as an exile and amateur whose role it is to speak the truth to power even at the risk of ostracism or imprisonment Drawing on the examples of Jonathan Swift and Theodor Adorno Robert Oppenheimer and Henry Kissinger Vietnam and the Gulf War Said explores the implications of this idea and shows what happens when intellectuals succumb to the lures of money power or specialization

Intellectual Pursuits Bernard Barber, 1998-05-14 This book is a venture in constructive clarification of several basic topics in current humanities and social science discourses that are badly muddled The heart of the clarification is contained in Barber s definition of culture derived from social system theory that provides us with a better understanding of today s debate on intellectuals and the pursuit of science Barber examines the ways in which intellectual culture is defined the construction of ideologies and ideologists and the structure of cultural sub systems high middle low The book deftly interweaves these concepts to illuminate the present and historical situations of conflict in the universities and elsewhere He distinguishes between those who emphasize the cultural norm of knowledge for its own sake and those whose norms are primarily ideological and reformist Intellectual Pursuits Toward an Understanding of Culture will challenge both students and scholars to consider their own intellectual positions from both within and without the academy and sharpens our perspectives on the role of intellectuals in society

The Intellectual as Hero in 1990s Ukrainian Fiction Mark Andryczyk, 2012-03-13 The 1990s were a period of tremendous artistic vigour experimentation and liberation for Ukrainian culture The artists who emerged at this time unleashed a tidal wave of creativity that deliberately and aggressively reshaped inherited models In this first English monograph on contemporary Ukrainian literature Mark Andryczyk provides an in depth analysis of the cultural explosion that engulfed Ukraine in its first decade of independence The Intellectual as Hero in 1990s Ukrainian Fiction weaves a fascinating narrative full of colourful characters by examining the prose of today s leading writers Andryczyk delves into the role of the intellectual in forging a post Soviet Ukrainian identity and follows these protagonists as they soar and stumble in pursuit of redefining their creative realm In addition to introducing readers to vibrant literary gems this book explores the artistic tendencies that determined the course of the Ukrainian cultural scene in the 1990s and continue to shape it today

The Pre-occupation of Postcolonial Studies Fawzia Afzal-Khan, Kalpana Seshadri-Crooks, 2000 The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies contains essays by both leading figures and younger scholars engaged in the field of postcolonial studies In this state of the field reader editors Fawzia Afzal Khan and Kalpana

Seshadri Crooks have created a dynamic forum for contributors from a variety of theoretical and disciplinary vantage points to question both the limits and the limitations of postcolonial thought. Since it burst on the academic scene as the hot new disciplinary field during the final decade of the twentieth century, postcolonial studies has faced criticism from those who question its troubling trajectories, its sometimes suspect epistemological and pedagogical methods, and its relatively narrow focus. With diverse essays that emerge from such disciplines as South Asian, Latin American, Arab, and Jewish studies, this volume responds to skeptics and adherers alike, addressing not only the broad theoretical issues at stake within the field but also the position of the field itself within the academy as well as its relationship to modern, postmodern, and Marxist discourses. Contributors offer critiques on ahistorical and universalizing tendencies in postcolonial work and confront the need for scholars to attend to issues of class ideology and the effects of neocolonial practices. Seeking to broaden the field's traditionally literary spectrum of methodologies, these essayists take up large thematic issues to examine specific sites of colonial activities with all of their historical, political, and cultural significance. Closing the volume is an insightful interview with Homi Bhabha in which he discusses postcolonial studies in the context of contemporary cultural politics and theory. The Pre Occupation of Postcolonial Studies not only offers an overview of the discipline but also pushes and pulls at the edges of postcolonial studies, offering a comprehensive view of the field's diversity of thought and envisioning clear pathways for its future.

Global Fissures Clara A.B. Joseph, 2006-01-01. The essays in this volume examine the tensions between two major political and intellectual structures: the global and the postcolonial, charting the ways in which such tensions are constitutive of changing power relations between the individual, the nation-state, and global forces. Contributors ask how postcolonialism, with its emphasis on cultural difference and diversity, can respond to the new neo-imperialist imperatives of globalization. Signalling the discursive grounds for debate is the fissures title, suggesting alternative categorizations of stereotypes like global homogenization and postcolonial resistance. Interwoven are considerations of the intellectual or writer's position today. Literary texts from a wide range of countries are analysed for their resistance to global hegemony and for representations of manipulative power structures in order to highlight issues such as environmental loss, nationality, migrancy, and marginality. Specific topics covered include westernizing the Indian academy, ecotourism, and the new media of computer technology; the corporatization of creativity in re-branding New Zealand, including film; and the hybrid forms of Latin American photography. Writers discussed include Chinua Achebe, Samuel Beckett, Hafid Bouazza, Bei Dao, Mahmoud Darwish, Witi Ihimaera, James Joyce, Yann Martel, Rohinton Mistry, Ellen Ombre, Michael Ondaatje, George Orwell, Arundhati Roy, Salman Rushdie, and Edward Said. Different essays stress the hegemony of global networks, the technological revolution's revitalizing of niche marketing while marginalizing postcolonial resistance, the implications of the internationalization of culture for the indigene and the potential of cultural hybridity to collapse cultural hierarchies

Improving Workplace Learning by Teaching Literature Christine Angela Eastman, 2016-04-19 This book investigates the integration of literary writing into work based or business writing It proposes ways of how to help people with considerable work experience use literature to engage with the problems they face in their work Many people like to read for pleasure but their skills in reading could always be improved This book makes an original contribution to the fields of education work based learning and business by encouraging students to explore history memoir fiction and non fiction to model their own writing and widen their knowledge beyond the work place and their customary reading Inside are onsite experiments with fiction and non fiction prose that show how people in the workplace respond and grow from contact with significant literature and culture that relates broadly to their work As a Coaching Master s student observes I have not been a prolific reader It has been a weakness and a gap I have probably read more in the last year during the project course than I have read in the past twenty years So that says something My ability to attend to what in a book has weight or relevance has markedly improved In the past I banked largely on my opinions because not being a prolific reader I had to It can be incredibly empowering to see that there are so many assets outside of my own mind When something comes up now I tend to weigh it I am more specific about how I use words

Edward Said Adel Iskandar, Hakem Rustom, 2010-08-30 This indispensable volume a comprehensive and wide ranging resource on Edward Said s life and work spans his broad legacy both within and beyond the academy The book brings together contributions from 31 luminaries to engage Said s provocative ideas

Image and Power Sarah Sceats, Gail Cunningham, 2014-09-11 Image and Power is an important work of literary and cultural criticism This collection of essays focuses on some of the major issues addressed by women s writing in the twentieth century concerning genre subjectivity and social and cultural expectations issues which in the past have been regarded from an essentially male perspective The text introduces women writers whose novels have been widely read and provides an important contribution to the debate about women in literature

The Changing Role of the Public Intellectual Dolan Cummings, 2013-09-27 Ideas can define and transform society but how healthy is intellectual life today In a period when Big Brother refers not to George Orwell but to a reality TV show and when bright young things are developing gameshow formats rather than scribbling essays when thinkers join think tanks to design short term government policy rather than reflecting on and challenging the status quo and when the ever growing number of graduates seem more interested in job prospects than academic endeavour is intellectual life in terminal decline This book looks at the idea of the public intellectual considering whether such thinkers are becoming an endangered species It also looks at the legacy of relativism and ethical doubts about the pursuit of knowledge and the effect of such developments on intellectual life The final section considers the expansion of higher education and the changing role of the academic Taken together the essays in this collection form a comprehensive overview of the intellectual climate today and the possibilities for the future This volume with Marxism-Leninism in Cold War Southeast Asia Matthew Galway,Marc H. Opper,2022-09-21 One of the most contentious theatres of the global conflict between capitalism and communism was Southeast Asia From the 1920s until the end of the Cold War the region was racked by international and internal wars that claimed the lives of millions and fundamentally altered societies in the region for generations Most of the 11 countries that compose Southeast Asia were host to the development of sizable communist parties that actively and sometimes violently contested for political power These parties were the object of fierce repression by European colonial powers post independence governments and the United States Southeast Asia communist parties were also the object of a great deal of analysis both during and after these conflicts This book brings together a host of expert scholars many of whom are either Southeast Asia based or from the countries under analysis to present the most expansive and comprehensive study to date on ideological and practical experiments with

Marxism Leninism in Southeast Asia The bulk of this edited volume presents the contents of these revolutionary ideologies on their own terms and their transformations in praxis by using primary source materials that are free of the preconceptions and distortions of counterinsurgent narratives A unifying strength of this work is its focus on using primary sources in the original languages of the insurgents themselves Globalizing Dissent Ranjan Ghosh, Antonia Navarro-Tejero, 2009-01-13
