Apple, 2016-04-20 As Asian education systems increasingly take on a stronger presence on the global educational landscape of special interest is an understanding of the ways in which many of these states direct their schools towards higher achievement What is missing however are accounts that take seriously the particular construction of the strong developmental state witnessed across many Asian societies and that seek to understand the politics and possibilities of curriculum change vis a vis precisely the dominance of such a state By engaging in analyses based on some of the best current social and cultural theories and by illuminating the interactions among various state and non state pedagogic agents the chapters in this volume account for the complex post colonial historical and cultural consciousnesses that many Asian states and societies experience At a time when much of the educational politics in Asia remains in a state of transition and as many of these states seek out through the curriculum new forms of social control and novel bases of political legitimacy such a volume offers enduring insights into the real if not also always relative autonomy that schools and communities maintain in countering the hegemonic presence of strong states New Critical Writings in Political Sociology Alan Scott, 2024-11-01 The articles collected together in this volume are concerned with why and how people get involved in politics whether through formal mechanisms such as voting through some of the more informal means and settings of social movement networks and political protest or through engagement in public debate But just as important is the question of why people do not get involved in politics What social conditions ideas and values facilitate or discourage political activity How is it that some people are systematically disempowered in democratic societies in comparison with others What social forms offer the most promise for extending and deepening democracy This volume brings together the most seminal papers which together form a record of how political
