nutrients Despite evidence of nutritional deficiencies occurring more frequently than previously appreciated there is no well established protocol of laboratory studies that the clinical chemist or scientist should provide to help the physician detect lack of essential nutrients before extensive and possibly irreparable damage has occurred to the individual patient Considerable research data are needed to determine the best biologic material i e erythrocytes leucocytes plasma serum urine cerebrospinal fluid lymph for analysis to determine accurately at an early stage metabolic deficiencies due to a specific nutritional element Improved techniques for analysis of key metabolites and nutrients are available in the research laboratory and many of them can be adapted to the clinical laboratory
