

A person is silhouetted against a night sky, standing on a dark, grassy hill. The person is looking up at a vast, starry sky. A prominent purple and pink nebula is visible in the upper center of the frame. The lower part of the sky is a warm orange-brown color, suggesting a sunset or sunrise. The overall mood is contemplative and serene.

Moral Development in the Professions James R. Rest, Darcia Narvaez, 1994-11 Every year in this country some 10 000 college and university courses are taught in applied ethics And many professional organizations now have their own codes of ethics Yet social science has had little impact upon applied ethics This book promises to change that trend by illustrating how social science can make a contribution to applied ethics The text reports psychological studies relevant to applied ethics for many professionals including accountants college students and teachers counselors dentists doctors journalists nurses school teachers athletes and veterinarians Each chapter begins with the research base of the cognitive developmental approach especially linked to Kohlberg and Rest's Defining Issues Test. Finally the book summarizes recent research on the following issues: moral judgment scores within and between professions pre and post test evaluations of ethics education programs, moral judgment and moral behavior models of professional ethics education and models for developing new assessment tools. Researchers in different professional fields investigate different questions, develop different research strategies and report different findings. Typically researchers of one professional field are not aware of research in other fields. An important aim of the present book is to bring this diverse research together so that cross fertilization can occur and ideas from one field can transfer to another.

Social Connectionism Frank Van Overwalle, 2013-03-07. Many of our thoughts and decisions occur without us being conscious of them taking place. Connectionism attempts to reveal the internal hidden dynamics that drive the thoughts and actions of both individuals and groups. Connectionist modeling is a radically innovative approach to theorising in psychology and more recently in the field of social psychology. The connectionist perspective interprets human cognition as a dynamic and adaptive system that learns from its own direct experiences or through indirect communication from others. Social Connectionism offers an overview of the most recent theoretical developments of connectionist models in social psychology. The volume is divided into four sections, beginning with an introduction and overview of social connectionism. This is followed by chapters on causal attribution, person and group impression formation and attitudes. Each chapter is followed by simulation exercises that can be carried out using the FIT simulation program. These guided exercises allow the reader to reproduce published results Social Connectionism will be invaluable to graduate students and researchers primarily in the field of social psychology but also in cognitive psychology and connectionist modeling
