Lucien Hervé Olivier Beer, 2004 Lucien Hervé b 1910 one of the great architectural photographers of the twentieth century collaborated with Le Corbusier from 1949 until the renowned architect died in 1965 Hervé approached his subjects seeking not only to document the buildings he was commissioned to photograph but also especially to convey a sense of space texture and structure Through light and shadow Hervé defined the dialogue between substance and form By delineating a strong contrast between light and shadow as well as placing emphasis on building details the photographer was able to communicate the depth of a room the surface of a wall or the strength of a building's framework For too long Hervé the master of architectural photography has eclipsed Hervé the photographer whose career began as early as 1938 and whose subject matter varied widely Featuring more than one hundred of his photographs in every genre this book celebrates Hervé's work as an artist creating images that serve not simply as records but stand as works of a singular imagination Building Images - Constructions Through the Centuries to Le Corbusier Lucien Hervé, 2024 Aesthetics and Technology in Building Pier Nervi, 2018-07-23 The UNESCO headquarters in Paris The Pirelli skyscraper in Milan The Palazetto dello Sport in Rome The soaring beauty of Pier Luigi Nervi's visionary designs and buildings changed cityscapes in the twentieth century His uncanny ingenuity with reinforced concrete combined with a gift for practical problem solving revolutionized the use of open internal space in structures like arenas and concert halls Aesthetics and Technology in Building The Twenty First Century Edition introduces Nervi's ideas about architecture and engineering to a new generation of students and admirers More than 200 photographs details drawings and plans show how Nervi put his ideas into practice Expanding on the seminal 1961 Norton Lectures at Harvard Nervi analyzes various functional and construction problems He also explains how precast and cast in place concrete can answer demands for economy technical and functional soundness and aesthetic perfection Throughout he uses his major projects to show how these now iconic buildings emerged from structural truths and far sighted construction processes This new edition features dozens of added images a new introduction and essays by Joseph Abram Roberto Einaudi Alberto Bologna Gabriele Neri and Hans Christian Schink on Nervi's life work and legacy

Chatting with Henri Matisse Henri Matisse, 2013-08-15 In 1941 the Swiss art critic Pierre Courthion interviewed Henri Matisse while the artist was in bed recovering from a serious operation It was an extensive interview seen at the time as a vital assessment of Matisse's career and set to be published by Albert Skira's then newly established Swiss press. After months of complicated discussions between Courthion and Matisse and just weeks before the book was to come out, the artist even had approved the cover design. Matisse suddenly refused its publication. A typescript of the interview now resides in Courthion's papers at the Getty Research Institute. This rich conversation conducted during the Nazi occupation of France is published for the first time in this volume where it appears both in English translation and in the original French version. Matisse unravels memories of his youth and his life as a bohemian student in Gustave Moreau's atelier. He recounts his experience with collectors including Albert C. Barnes. He discusses fame, writers, musicians, politicians, and most fascinatingly, his travels. Chatting with Henri Matisse, introduced by Serge Guilbaut, contains a preface by Claude Duthuit, Matisse's grandson, and essays by Yve Alain Bois and Laurence Bertrand Dorléac. The book includes unpublished correspondence and other original documents related to Courthion's interview and abounds with details about avant-garde life, tactics, and artistic creativity in the first half of the twentieth century. — G. Detlef Mertins, Michael William Jennings, 2010. Published in the 1920s by a who's who of avant-garde artists, G. helped shape a new phase in modern art. This is the first English translation. — Art, Anti-art, Non-art, Reiko Tomii, Getty Research Institute, 2007. Introduction to two decades of artistic ferment in postwar Japan. As that devastated nation confronted the fraught legacy of World War II, a rapid succession of avant-garde groups began experimenting with new media and processes of making art, disrupting conventions to address the changes occurring around them. The works that remain from this era are largely ephemeral: exhibition flyers, programs for performances, musical scores, issues of short-lived journals, documentary photographs, pieces of mail art, and multiples made from the detritus of modern life, but the ideals of engagement and innovation that invigorated this creative surge are not. — China on Paper, Marcia Reed, Paola Demattè, Getty Research Institute, 2011. Published to accompany the exhibition held at the Getty Research Institute, Nov 6, 2007 to Feb 10, 2008. — Meyer Schapiro Abroad, Meyer Schapiro, 2009. Schapiro's letters to his future wife Lillian Milgram were written in 1926 and 1927 while he was a graduate student touring the artistic monuments of Europe and the Near East. Bearing intimate witness to this formative journey, they augment the visual and factual details he so painstakingly recorded in his notebooks with impassioned reflections on art and lively accounts of his encounters with an older generation of art historians. Back cover — Photography, Reconstruction and the Cultural History of the Postwar European City, Tom Allbeson, 2020-11-16. Examining imagery of urban space in Britain, France, and West Germany up to the early 1960s, this book reveals how photography shaped individual architectural projects and national rebuilding efforts alike. Exploring the impact of urban photography at a pivotal moment in contemporary European architecture and culture, this book addresses case studies spanning the destruction of the war to the modernizing reconfiguration of city spaces, including ruin photobooks, bombed cities, architectural photography of housing projects, and imagery of urban life from popular photomagazines as well as internationally renowned projects like UNESCO's Paris Headquarters, Coventry Cathedral, and

Berlin's Gedächtniskirche This book reveals that the ways of seeing shaped in the postwar years by urban photography were a vital aspect of not only discourses on the postwar city but also debates central to popular culture from commemoration and modernization to democratization and Europeanization This book will be a fascinating read for researchers in the fields of photography and visual studies architectural and urban history and cultural memory and contemporary European history
