Massialas, Samir Ahmad Jarrar, 2016-03-22 The operation of schools in the Arab world is a topic about which very little is known in the West This volume first published in 1991 provides information about the Arab school and thus contributes to an understanding of what is taught by whom and under what conditions It seeks to define the interaction between traditional elements and innovative forces impinging on the Arab school as well as reviewing policies that concern the education of Arab children It is maintained that Arab schools are in a state of transition reproducing society and its norms on one hand while on the other operating as agents seeking to transform society This work examines this claim in detail providing a unique discussion about education in the Arab world

Political Transformation of Gulf Tribal States Shaul Yanai, 2014-09-01 The reform movements and attempts to establish parliamentary institutions in the Persian Gulf states of Kuwait Bahrain and Dubai between the First World War and the independent era of the 1970s were not inspired by western example or by any tradition of civil representation The move to a parliamentary system not only represented a milestone in the history of the region creating a legacy for future generations but was a unique transition in the Arab world The transformation of these states from loose chiefdoms of minimal coherence and centralization into centralizing and institutionalized monarchies involved the setting up of primary institutions of government the demarcation of borders and establishment of a monarchical order As this new political and social order evolved ideas of national struggle and national rights penetrated Gulf societies Gulf citizens who had spent time in Arab states mostly in Egypt and Iraq took part in the genesis of a public Arab Gulf national discourse enabling the Gulf population to become acquainted with national struggles for independence As a result merchants of notable families newly educated elements and even workers began to oppose the dominance of the rulers Both the rulers and the commercial elites including members of the ruling families tried to formulate a new and different social contract with the rulers seeking to entrench their political power by using new administrative means and financial power Opposition against this current crystallized in 1938 among the ranks of the commercial oligarchy as well as within the ruling families In spite of its failure to create its own political institutions the oligarchy remained the foremost social and economic class But the ruling families could no longer treat national oil revenues as their private income and they began to channel part of these funds to public needs The most important consequence of the 1938 movement was the formation of a new social contract between the two traditional power centers the governing structures were fitted into the political and economic reality brought about by the oil wealth but remained essentially tribal and committed to the power division between the major Gulf families Bureaucracy and

Development in the Arab World Jabbra, 2022-04-25 The Search for Arab Democracy Larbi Sadiki, 2004 How to be a democrat and a Muslim at the same time is the subject of ongoing contests This book maps out the variety of voices contesting Islam and democracy in the Arab world insisting that neither category can be taken as unitary or fixed In the Arab Middle East the contest is over which whose and how much democracy takes place within an existing contest over which whose and how much Islam must be given pre eminence in the political and cultural sphere There is a Democracy and there are democracies There is an Islam and there are islams Larbi Sadiki deploys the conceptual tools of contemporary Western political philosophy and theory to articulate and defend some provocative theses The book challenges Eurocentric conceptions of democracy that all too frequently display a lack of concern for specificity and context analyzes and interrogates Orientalist and Occidental discourses on democracy and considers some of the justifications for democracy in the global arena giving space for self representation by women and Islamists among others Using interviews with Muslims from every social and economic stratum the book shows how Arabs themselves understand imagine and view democracy

The Silent Revolution Khawla Mattar, May Seikaly, 2014-12-31 How immune is the Gulf region to the changes that have engulfed the Arab world since 2011 This volume responds to this question by examining the impact of the Arab Spring on Gulf regimes and societies and contributing to debates on political participation and citizenship sectarianism gender and identity formation as well as the role of the media in exposing the paradoxes of the Gulf system and its relationship to international political actors

Confidence Building Measures In The Middle East Gabriel Ben-dor, 2019-03-11 Confidence Building Measures CBMs were pioneered in Europe at the height of the Cold War The immediate goal of such measures is to create enough trust between parties in international conflicts to avoid mutually unfavourable sometimes dangerous outcomes due to misunderstandings The long term goal of CBMs is to move the contending parties closer

Nasser's Egypt, Arab Nationalism, and the United Arab Republic James P. Jankowski, 2002 During the crucial decade of the 1950s in Egypt both Gamal Abdel Nasser and the idea of Arab nationalism were assuming more and more influence in Egypt and the greater Arab world Exploring this phenomenon James Jankowski also offers important insights into the political context in which Nasser maneuvered Jankowski focuses on the period from the 1952 Revolution in Egypt to the dissolution of the short lived union of Egypt and Syria in 1961 and on the outlook and actions of Nasser the dominant figure in Egypt's new revolutionary regime Concisely and convincingly he identifies the unique blend of ideological and practical considerations that led Egypt to a progressively deeper involvement in Arab nationalism He draws on newly available materials from the U S and British archives and on the memoir literature now available in Arabic to present a detailed reconstruction of this formative period in Egyptian political history Jankowski traces Egypt's and Nasser's movement from a peripheral to a central position in Arab nationalist politics

The Middle East, 1989 The Politics of Arab Integration Giacomo Luciani, Ghassan Salamé, 2015-07-16 This volume first published in 1988 is the result of a major research project the most important inquiry into the fundamental political structure of the Arab world It is often argued that Arab states are arbitrary political creations that lack historical or present legitimacy and are unable to relate to each other in a productive way It is further suggested that the demise of pan Arabism merely underlines the inability of individual Arab states to integrate either domestically or internationally This book Volume Four in the Nation State and Integration in the Arab World research project carried out by the Istituto Affari Internazionali sets out to answer the questions of Arab integration with articles from a wide range of contributors from around the world

Rethinking Arab Democratization Larbi Sadiki, 2009-02-12 Rethinking Arab Democratization unpacks and historicizes the rise of Arab electoralism narrating the story of stalled democratic transition in the Arab Middle East It provides a balance sheet of the state of Arab democratization from the mid 1970s into the 21st century In seeking to answer the question of how Arab countries democratize and whether they are democratizing at all the book pays attention to specificity highlighting the peculiarities of democratic transitions in the Arab Middle East To this end it situates the discussion of such transitions firmly within their local contexts but without losing sight of the global picture namely the US drive to control and democratize the Arab World The book rejects exceptionalism foundationalism and Orientalism by showing that the Arab World is not immured from the global trend towards political liberalization But by identifying new trends in Arab democratic transitions highlighting their peculiarities and drawing on Arab neglected discourses and voices the book pinpoints the contingency of some of the arguments underlying Western theories of democratic transition when applied to the Arab setting Oxford Studies in Democratization is a series for scholars and students of comparative politics and related disciplines Volumes concentrate on the comparative study of the democratization process that accompanied the decline and termination of the cold war The geographical focus of the series is primarily Latin America the Caribbean Southern and Eastern Europe and relevant experiences in Africa and Asia The series editor is Laurence Whitehead Official Fellow Nuffield College University of Oxford

Palestinians Born in Exile Juliane Hammer,2009-08-17 In the decade following the 1993 Oslo Peace Accords some 100 000 diasporic Palestinians returned to the West Bank and Gaza Among them were children and young adults who were born in exile and whose sense of Palestinian identity was shaped not by lived experience but rather through the transmission and re creation of memories images and history As a result returning to the homeland that had never actually been their home presented challenges and disappointments for these young Palestinians who found their lifeways and values sometimes at odds with those of their new neighbors in the West Bank and Gaza This original ethnography records the experiences of Palestinians born in exile who have emigrated to the Palestinian homeland Juliane Hammer interviews young adults between the ages of 16 and 35 to learn how their Palestinian identity has been affected by living in various Arab countries or the United States and then moving to the West Bank and Gaza Their responses underscore how much the experience of living outside of Palestine has become integral to the Palestinian national character even as Palestinians maintain an overwhelming sense of belonging to one another as a people
