Selling the Sacred Mara Einstein, Sarah McFarland Taylor, 2024-03-01 There's religion in my marketing There's marketing in my religion Selling the Sacred explores the religious, cultural, and media implications of a two-sided phenomenon: marketing religion as a product and marketing products as religion. What do various forms of religion marketing collaboration look like in the twenty-first century, and what does this tell us about American culture and society? Social and technological changes rapidly and continuously reframe religious and marketing landscapes. CrossFit is a cult. Televangelists use psychographics and data marketing. QAnon is a religion and big business. These are some of the examples highlighted in this collection, which engages themes related to capitalist narratives, issues related to gender and race, and the intersection of religion, politics, and marketing among other key issues. The innovative contributors examine the phenomenon of selling the sacred, providing a better understanding of how marketing tactics married with religious content influence our thinking and everyday lives. These scholars bring to light how political, economic, and ideological agendas infuse the construction and presentation of the sacred via more traditional religious institutions or consumer product marketing. By examining religion and marketing broadly, this book offers engaging tools to recognize and unpack what gets sold as sacred, what's at stake, and the consequences. A go-to resource for those working in marketing studies, religious studies, and media studies. Selling the Sacred is also a must-read for religious and marketing professionals.

Interprofessional Approaches for the Management of Chronic Diseases Alberto Marcos Heredia-Rizo, Maria Jesus Casuso-Holgado, Javier Martinez-Calderon, Emma K. Ho, 2024-09-30 Chronic diseases represent the leading causes of death and disability worldwide, with a subsequent enormous socioeconomic burden. The clinical management of these conditions often requires a multidisciplinary approach to treat the complex symptoms related to the disease and the associated problems. Different healthcare systems have been experimenting with interprofessional collaboration to enhance professional effectiveness and quality of practice among professionals in an environment often constrained by resources. The optimum use of resources is made possible by interprofessional collaboration, which is described as an integrative cooperation of many health professions in different health disciplines, including medicine, nursing, physical therapy, psychology, and occupational therapy. It has been demonstrated that interprofessional care improves patient outcomes by lowering the rate of preventable adverse drug reactions, morbidity, and mortality, and optimizing prescription dosages. However, despite the increasing evidence on the positive impact of integrative multidisciplinary programs for people with chronic diseases, there are still gaps and challenges in how to translate evidence-based knowledge into well-informed clinical practice. The aim of this Research Topic is to explore the current status and future direction of interprofessional care teams. We are open to receiving articles that explore interprofessional collaboration.

in the context of various clinical diagnoses including chronic pain cancer neurological ailments psychiatric problems or cardiorespiratory conditions Also the effects of new health technologies on interprofessional collaboration such as virtual reality mobile health apps or telecare
