Teacher Personal Theorizing Gail MacCutcheon, 1992-01-01 This book examines the relationship between teacher theorizing and teacher action as illustrated by the curricular and instructional practices of teachers The authors show that all teaching is guided by theory developed by the teachers Teachers could not begin to practice without some knowledge of the context of their practice and without ideas about what can and should be done in those circumstances In this sense teachers are guided by personal practical theories that structure their activities and guide them in making decisions This literature is very significant in explaining and interpreting many phenomena of schooling such as why teachers alter curriculum documents and other policies how inservice education can be improved how supervisors can help teachers to improve their practices and how administrators can become leaders to improve education This perspective has broad and specific implications for every facet of education Those interested in teacher education and development in supervision in curriculum and in administration will find it especially relevant

Teaching with the Wind tackles the question Can education for a Canadian civic spirituality bridge the sometimes incommensurable worldviews of faith based schools and secular public schools An affirmative answer is offered based on two foundations First that a national soul can be identified and thus serve as the content of spiritual education in Canada schools Second that a reconstructed approach to the contemplation in action method found in world religions and philosophy can provide an appropriate pedagogy for Canadian spiritual education This book argues that education for civic spirituality is of paramount importance as Canada continues its transition from a Judeo Christian and bicultural nation to a multi faith and multicultural nation within a secular democracy It offers a direction that would enrich religious and secular education systems as well as Canada as a whole     The Augustan review ,1815     The Greatest Show of The Heart Heriberto Figueroa Rivera,     The bloom of life Anatole France, 1923     Quotidie, an everyday book for devotional reading with practical reflections, by F.
