Right On Anthology Of Black Literature:

Right On An Anthology of Black Literature Bradford Chambers, 1976 Right On! Bradford Chambers, Rebecca Moon, 1970 The Cambridge Companion to American Civil Rights Literature Julie Armstrong, 2015-03-02 The Cambridge Companion to American Civil Rights Literature brings together leading scholars to examine the significant traditions genres and themes of civil rights literature While civil rights scholarship has typically focused on documentary rather than creative writing and political rather than cultural history this Companion addresses the gap and provides university students with a vast introduction to an impressive range of authors including Richard Wright Lorraine Hansberry Gwendolyn Brooks James Baldwin Amiri Baraka and Toni Morrison Accessible to undergraduates and academics alike this Companion surveys the critical landscape of a rapidly growing field and lays the foundation for future studies Right On! Bradford Chambers, Rebecca Moon, 1970 The Black Arts Enterprise and the Production of African American Poetry Howard Rambsy, 2018-05-09 A closer look at the poets and publishers who made the Black Arts Movement such an enduring cultural enterprise Digital Literary Redlining Amy E. Earhart, 2025-06-24 Though canon concerns seem to be a relic of 1990s academia we are once again at a historical moment when there is resistance to teaching texts by writers of color and texts that deal with race ethnicity and gender At the same time algorithmic bias scholars are locating systemic bias encoded into systems from policing software to housing software Bringing these divergent areas together Amy E Earhart examines how technological and institutional infrastructures construct and deconstruct race ethnicity and gender identities Focusing on two central infrastructures the database a commonly used technological infrastructure in the digital humanities and the anthology a scholarly and pedagogical infrastructure Earhart considers how such seemingly naturalized infrastructures impact the representation and modeling of identity The book draws upon the building and use of DALA a collection of almost 100 years of generalist American and African American literature anthologies constructed to investigate questions of identity and representation in literary anthologies and by extension the larger literary canon The resulting examination and its rigorous discussion of how identities are created and recreated within Black literary histories has important implications for contemporary cultural and political debates about canon formation literary scholarship and the bias embedded in technological infrastructures Black Cultural Production after Civil Rights Robert J Patterson, 2019-08-30 The post civil rights era of the 1970s offered African Americans an all too familiar paradox Material and symbolic gains contended with setbacks fueled by resentment and reaction African American artists responded with black approaches to expression that made history in their own time and continue to exercise an enormous influence on contemporary culture and politics This collection s fascinating spectrum of topics begins with the literary and cinematic representations of slavery from the 1970s to the present Other authors delve into visual culture from Blaxploitation to the art of Betye Saar to stage works like A Movie Star Has to Star in Black and White as well as groundbreaking literary works like Corregidora and Captain Blackman

A pair of concluding essays concentrate on institutional change by looking at the Seventies surge of black publishing and by analyzing Ntozake Shange's S for colored girls in the context of current controversies surrounding sexual violence. Throughout the writers reveal how Seventies black cultural production anchors important contemporary debates in black feminism and other issues while spurring the black imagination to thrive amidst abject social and political conditions. Contributors: Courtney R. Baker, Soyica Diggs Colbert, Madhu Dubey, Nadine Knight, Monica White, Ndounou Kinohi Nishikawa, Samantha Pinto, Jermaine Singleton, Terrion L. Williamson, and Lisa Woolfork. The Pen is Ours, Jean Fagan Yellin, Cynthia D. Bond, 1991. This bibliography of writing by and about African American women provides a much needed research tool to scholars and researchers in the field. The bibliography lists writing by African American women whose earliest publication appeared before 1910; a supplemental bibliography lists writing published as of 1911. Re-Membering and Surviving, Shirley A. James Hanshaw, 2020-10-01. The first book-length critical study of the black experience in the Vietnam War and its aftermath, this text interrogates the meaning of heroism based on models from African and African American expressive culture. It focuses on four novels: Captain Blackman (1972) by John A. Williams, Tragic Magic (1978) by Wesley Brown, Coming Home (1971) by George Davis, and De Mojo Blues (1985) by A. R. Flowers. Discussions of the novels are framed within the historical context of all wars prior to Vietnam in which Black Americans fought. The success or failure of the hero on his identity quest is predicated upon the extent to which he can reconnect with African or African American cultural memory. He is engaged therefore in re-membering, a term laden with the specificity of race that implies a cultural history comprised of African retentions and an interdependent relationship with the community for survival. The reader will find that a common history of racism and exploitation that African Americans and Vietnamese share sometimes results in the hero's empathy with and compassion for the so-called enemy, a unique contribution of the black novelist to American war literature.

Africana Studies James L. Conyers, 1997. Known variously as African studies, black studies, African American studies, Afro American studies, and Africology, the academic study of the African diaspora as a holistic discipline is a relatively new phenomenon. University programs have been created with reference to a disciplinary matrix retarding the development of appropriate theory and methods throughout Africana studies. Fifteen leaders in the field of Africana studies provide the conceptual framework for establishing the field as a mature discipline. The focus is on four basic areas: administration and organizational structure, disciplinary matrix, Africana womanism, and cultural aesthetics. The work examines both the theory and the method of scholars in African and African diaspora studies.
