Representing the Black Female Subject in Western Art Charmaine A. Nelson, 2010-06-10 Charmaine A Nelson analyzes not only how where why and by whom black female subjects have been represented in Western art but also what the social and cultural impacts of the colonial legacy of racialized western representation have been She poses critical questions about the contexts of production the problems of representation the pathways of circulation and the consequences of consumption      Dress and Identity in British Literary Culture, 1870-1914 Rosy Aindow, 2016-12-05 Rosy Aindow examines the way fiction registered and responded to the emergence of a modern fashion industry during the period 1870 1914 She traces the role played by dress in the formation of literary identities with specific attention to the way that an engagement with fashionable clothing was understood to be a means of class emulation

The expansion of the fashion industry in the second half of the nineteenth century is generally considered to have had a significant impact on the way in which lower income groups in particular encountered clothing many were able to participate in fashionable consumption for the first time Remaining alert to the historical specificity of these events this study argues that the cultural perception of the expansion of the industry namely a predominantly bourgeois fear that it would result in a democratisation in dress had a profound effect on the way in which fashion was approached by contemporary writers Drawing on existing cultural analogies that associated fashion with women and artifice it concludes that women were particularly implicated in fictional accounts of class mobility This transgression applied not only to women who wore fashionable clothing but to those working in the fashion industry itself An allusion to fashion has a socio specific meaning one which gained a new potency in late nineteenth and early twentieth century narratives as a vehicle for the expression of class anxieties

Maternal Breast-Feeding and Its Substitutes in Nineteenth-Century French Art Gal Ventura, 2018-10-02 In Maternal Breast Feeding and Its Substitutes in Nineteenth Century French Art Gal Ventura investigates the ideological concepts behind the endorsement of maternal breast feeding in modern Western society Using diverse visual and textual sources and surveying hundreds of artworks produced from the time of the French Revolution to the beginning of the twentieth century Ventura reveals the historical political religious and economic factors that shaped the representations of breast feeding and its substitutes in French art She thus sheds light on the changing attitudes toward maternal breast feeding in nineteenth century France which have had a considerable impact on the glorification of breast feeding in the Western world to this very day

Figures of Ill Repute Charles Bernheimer, 1997 Ubiquitous in the streets and brothels of nineteenth century Paris the prostitute was even more so in the novels and paintings of the time Charles Bernheimer discusses how these representations of the sexually available woman express male ambivalence about desire money class and the body Interweaving close textual analysis with historical anecdote and theoretical speculation Bernheimer demonstrates how the formal properties of art can serve strategically to control anxious fantasies about female sexual power Drawing on methods derived from cultural studies psychoanalysis social history feminist theory and narrative analysis this interdisciplinary classic available now for the first time in paperback was awarded Honorable Mention in 1990 for the James Russell Lowell prize awarded by the Modern Language Association for the best book of criticism
