Abstract

Objective: Early motherhood and its impact on mothers, children, families and communities is a prevalent health challenge in developing countries that needs to be urgently explored. The aim of this study was exploring the challenges encountered by Iranian adolescent mothers during the transition to motherhood.

Materials and methods: Inductive conventional content analysis approach was used in this qualitative study. Face to face in-depth semi-structured interviews were conducted with 16 Iranian teenage mothers in the Kerman province of Iran from March to December 2016. Data collection continued until the point of data saturation and MAXQDA software was utilized in the analysis of the data.

Results: Six main categories increasing burden of responsibility, experiencing physical problems, receiving insufficient support, inefficiency in maternal role, emotional and mental distress; and role conflict and 18 sub-categories were extracted from the data analysis.

Conclusion: The findings of this study showed that adolescent mothers experience many physical, psychological, mental and social challenges. Therefore, it is expedient that special attention and care support is made available to them by health care providers. A comprehensive understanding of the challenges encountered by adolescent mothers, will aid the development of culturally appropriate health promotion guidelines and strategies.

Introduction

Motherhood is a significantly important event in the life of a woman (1). Maternal role attainment is a process that requires acquire necessary abilities, learn appropriate behavior, and establish in maternal identity (2). Preparation to accept the maternal role has important effects on maternal adjustment and transition to adulthood (3). However, increasing number of teenage mothers is one of the important concerns in many countries (4). According to the World Health Organization, every year, approximately 16 million teenage girls give birth worldwide while South Korea has minimum rate and maximum rate is in sub-Saharan Africa (5). Among 1,000 Iranian adolescent girls, 27 become mothers (6).

Early motherhood has significantly affected not only adolescent girls, but also their spouse, family,

Like Mother, Like Daughter? Jill Armstrong, 2017-10-04 Women are encouraged to believe that they can occupy top jobs in society by the example of other women thriving in their careers Who better to be a role model for career success than your mother Paradoxically this book shows that having a mother as a role model even for graduates of top universities does not predict daughters progressing in their own careers It finds that mothers with careers whilst highly influential in their daughters choice of career path rarely mentor their daughters as they progress This is partly explained by quiet ambition the tendency of women to be modest about their achievements Bigger issues are the twin pressures from contemporary motherhood and workplace culture that ironically lead career women s daughters to believe that being a good mother means working part time This stalls career progress Based on a large cross generational qualitative sample this book offers a timely and original perspective on the debate about gender equality in leadership positions

The Future of Motherhood in Western Societies Gijs Beets,Joop Schippers,Egbert R. te Velde,2010-12-06 Most people value to have children still highly But what is the optimal moment to have the first The decision on having children or not and if yes on the timing of the first is one of the most difficult ones to make also because it more or less coincides with various other heavy decisions on shaping the life course like on union formation labour market career housing accommodation etc People realise that having children will fundamentally change their life and in order to fit this unknown and irreversible adventure perfectly into their life course postponement of the first birth is an easy way out as long as doubts continue and partners try to make up their mind Modern methods of birth control are of course a very effective help in that period What is the best moment to have the first child And to what moment is postponement justified There are no easy answers to these questions Best solutions vary per person as they depend on personal circumstances and considerations the partner may have conflicting ideas housing accommodation job income free time activities Existing parental leave and child care arrangements are weighted as well Unfortunately the biological clock ticks further And also unfortunately assisted reproductive technology IVF etc is unable to guarantee a successful outcome Several couples end up without children involuntarily and that may lead to sorrow and grief This interdisciplinary book overviews the process of postponement and its backgrounds in modern Western societies holistically both at the personal and the societal level Contributions come from reproductive evolutionary biological and neurological sciences as well as from demography economy sociology and psychology It holds not only at women but also at men becoming first time fathers The discussion boils down to a new policy approach for motherhood and emancipation on how to shape work and family life It is argued that a public window where one can compose a cafeteria like set of supportive arrangements according to personal preferences could lead to a break in the rising age at first motherhood

Modern Motherhood and Women's Dual Identities Petra Bueskens, 2018-05-31 Why do women in contemporary western societies experience contradiction between their autonomous and maternal selves What are the origins of this contradiction and the associated double shift that result in widespread calls to either lean in or opt out How are some mothers subverting these contradictions and finding meaningful ways of reconciling their autonomous and maternal selves In Modern Motherhood and Women's Dual Identities Petra Bueskens argues that western modernisation consigned women to the home and released them from it in historically unprecedented yet interconnected ways Her ground breaking formulation is that western women are free as individuals and constrained as mothers with the twist that it is the former that produces the latter Bueskens theoretical contribution consists of the identification and analysis of modern women's duality drawing on political philosophy feminist theory and sociology tracking the changing nature of discourses of women freedom and motherhood across three centuries While the current literature points to the pervasiveness of contradiction and double shifts for mothers very little attention has been paid to how some women are subverting contradiction and rewriting the sexual contract Bridging this gap Bueskens interviews ten revolving mothers to reveal how periodic absence exceeding the standard work day disrupts the default position assigned to mothers in the home and in turn disrupts the gendered dynamics of household work A provocative and original work Modern Motherhood and Women's Dual Identities will appeal to graduate students and researchers interested in fields such as Women and Gender Studies Sociology of Motherhood and Social and Political Theory

Gender in a Transitional Era Amanda R. Martinez, Lucy J.
