Committee on Banking and Currency, 1962 The Contemporary Caribbean Robert B. Potter, David Barker, Thomas Klak, Denis Conway, 2015-07-17 This text focuses on the contemporary economic social geographical environmental and political realities of the Caribbean region Historical aspects of the Caribbean such as slavery the plantation system and plantocracy are explored in order to explain the contemporary nature of and challenges faced by the Caribbean The book is divided into three parts dealing respectively with the foundations of the Caribbean rural and urban bases of the contemporary Caribbean and global restructuring and the Caribbean industry tourism and politics

Urbanisation and Planning in the Third World Robert Potter, 2012-08-06 First published in 1985 this book reconsiders the whole question of urbanisation and planning in the Third World It argues that public involvement which is now an accepted part of Western planning should be used more in Third World cities It shows that many inhabitants of Third World cities are migrants from rural areas and have very definite ideas about what the function of the city should be and what it ought to offer and it goes on to argue that therefore a planning process which involves more public participation would better serve local needs and would do much more to solve problems than the contemporary approach Applied Geography Michael Pacione, 2002-03-11 Applied Geography offers an invaluable introduction to useful research in physical environmental and human geography and provides a new focus and reference point for investigating and understanding problem orientated research Forty nine leading experts in the field introduce and explore research which crosses the traditional boundary between physical and human geography A wide range of key issues and contemporary debates are within the books main sections which cover natural and environmental hazards environmental change and management challenges of the human environment techniques of spatial analysis Applied geography is the application of geographic knowledge and skills to identify the nature and causes of social economic and environmental problems and inform policies which lead to their resolution Archaeology below the Cliff Matthew C. Reilly, 2019-09-03 First book length archaeological study of a nonelite white population on a Caribbean plantation Archaeology below the Cliff Race Class and Redlegs in Barbadian Sugar Society is the first archaeological study of the poor whites of Barbados the descendants of seventeenth century European indentured servants and small farmers Redlegs is a pejorative to describe the marginalized group who remained after the island transitioned to a sugar monoculture economy dependent on the labor of enslaved Africans A sizable portion of the white minority the Redlegs largely existed on the peripheries of the plantation landscape in an area called Below Cliff which was deemed unsuitable for profitable agricultural production Just as the land on which they resided was cast as marginal so too have the poor whites historically and contemporarily been derided as peripheral and isolated as well as idle alcoholic degenerate inbred and irrelevant to a functional island society and economy Using archaeological historical and oral sources Matthew C Reilly shows how the precarious existence of the Barbadian Redlegs challenged elite hypercapitalistic notions of economics race and class as they were developing in colonial society Experiencing pronounced economic hardship similar to that of the enslaved albeit under very different circumstances Barbadian Redlegs developed strategies to live in a harsh environment Reilly's investigations reveal that what developed in Below Cliff was a moral economy based on community needs rather than free market prices Reilly extensively excavated households from the tenantry area on the boundaries of the Clifton Hall Plantation which was abandoned in the 1960s to explore the daily lives of poor white tenants and investigate their relationships with island economic processes and networks Despite misconceptions of strict racial isolation evidence also highlights the importance of poor white encounters and relationships with Afro Barbadians Historical data are also incorporated to address how an underrepresented demographic experienced the plantation landscape Ultimately Reilly's narrative situates the Redlegs within island history privileging inclusion and embeddedness over exclusion and isolation

Self-help Housing, the Poor, and the State in the Caribbean Robert B. Potter, Dennis Conway, 1997 This collection of essays represents the first in depth scholarly treatment of housing policies and conditions throughout the Caribbean The contributors consider both the performance of the state and the autonomous activities of the poor making this volume an invaluable contribution to future planning and debate The essays each dealing with a specific island or group of islands collectively address four main themes the history of housing provision since colonization current housing conditions state policies toward housing provision and the changing relationships between governments international funding agencies the private housing sector and the peoples responses These investigations not only highlight the often alarming problems that Caribbean nations face in providing adequate housing for the poor but also implicate governments in past and present failures and poor performances However the essays are also filled with useful insights about the ways in which progressive housing policies can be formulated and implemented For example the volume suggests that the Caribbean's rich heritage of folk and vernacular architectural styles should be taken into serious account in future planning efforts In a concluding synthesis chapter the volume editors argue that a more progressive future is attainable if all parties exhibit the political will that the poor have already demonstrated
