Lowcountry The Natural Landscape:

Lowcountry Tom Blagden, Jane Lareau, Richard Dwight Porcher, 1988 Central Africans and Cultural Transformations in the American Diaspora Linda M. Heywood, 2002 Studies the importance of Central African culture to the cultures of the Americas since the Atlantic slave trade , Charleston and Savannah Thomas D. Wilson, 2023-02 Thomas D Wilson's Charleston and Savannah is the first comprehensive history of Charleston and Savannah in a single volume that weaves together the influences and parallels of their intrinsic stories As two of the earliest English speaking cities founded in America Charleston and Savannah are among the nation's top historic sites Their historic characters which attract millions of visitors each year are each a rich blend of cultural environmental and socioeconomic elements Yet even with this popularity both cities now face a challenge in preserving their authentic historic character natural beauty and environmental quality Wilson charts the ebb and flow of the progress and development of the cities using various through lines running within each chapter constructing an overall character assessment of each Wilson charts the economic rise of these port cities beginning with their British foundations and transatlantic trade in the colonies through to their twentieth century economic declines and resurgences He examines the cultural and economic aspects of their Lowcountry landscapes and their evolution as progress and industrialization made their mark Employing both quantitative and qualitative methodologies in his comparisons of the two cities he considers their histories natural landscapes weather patterns economies demographics culture architecture city planning and infrastructure While each has its own civic and cultural strengths and weaknesses both are positioned as historically significant southern cities even as they assess aspects of their problematic pasts A New Plantation World Daniel J. Vivian, 2018-03-01 In the era between the world wars wealthy sportsmen and sportswomen created more than seventy large estates in the coastal region of South Carolina By retaining select features from earlier periods and adding new buildings and landscapes wealthy sporting enthusiasts created a new type of plantation In the process they changed the meaning of the word plantation with profound implications for historical memory of slavery and contemporary views of the South A New Plantation World is the first critical investigation of these sporting plantations By examining the process that remade former sites of slave labor into places of leisure Daniel J Vivian explores the changing symbolism of plantations in Jim Crow era America Low Country Gullah Culture, Special Resource Study, 2003 African-Atlantic Cultures and the South Carolina Lowcountry Ras Michael Brown, 2012-08-27 Examines perceptions of the natural world in ideas and practices of African descended communities in South Carolina from the colonial period to the twentieth century What Nature Suffers to Groe Mart A. Stewart, 2002 What Nature Suffers to Groe explores the mutually transforming relationship between environment and human culture on the Georgia coastal plain between 1680 and 1920 Each of the successive communities on the coast the philanthropic and imperialistic experiment of the Georgia Trustees the plantation culture of rice and sea island cotton planters and their slaves and the postbellum society of wage earning freedmen lumbermen vacationing industrialists truck farmers river engineers and New South promoters developed unique relationships with the environment which in turn created unique landscapes The core landscape of this long history was the plantation landscape which persisted long after its economic foundation had begun to erode The heart of this study examines the connection between power relations and different perceptions and uses of the environment by masters and slaves on lowcountry plantations and how these differing habits of land use created different but interlocking landscapes Nature also has agency in this story some landscapes worked and some did not Mart A Stewart argues that the creation of both individual and collective livelihoods was the consequence not only of economic and social interactions but also of changing environmental ones and that even the best adaptations required constant negotiation between culture and nature In response to a question of perennial interest to historians of the South Stewart also argues that a sense of place grew out of these negotiations and that at least on the coastal plain the South as a place changed in meaning several times

Coastal Nature, Coastal Culture Paul S. Sutter, Paul M. Pressly, 2018-07-15 An essay collection exploring the history of 5 000 year relationship between human culture and nature on the Georgia coast One of the unique features of the Georgia coast today is its thorough conservation At first glance it seems to be a place where nature reigns But another distinctive feature of the coast is its deep and diverse human history Indeed few places that seem so natural hide so much human history In Coastal Nature Coastal Culture editors Paul S Sutter and Paul M Pressly have brought together work from leading historians as well as environmental writers and activists that explores how nature and culture have coexisted and interacted across five millennia of human history along the Georgia coast as well as how those interactions have shaped the coast as we know it today The essays in this volume examine how successive communities of Native Americans Spanish missionaries British imperialists and settlers planters enslaved Africans lumbermen pulp and paper industrialists vacationing northerners Gullah Geechee nature writers environmental activists and many others developed distinctive relationships with the environment and produced well defined coastal landscapes Together these histories suggest that contemporary efforts to preserve and protect the Georgia coast must be as respectful of the rich and multifaceted history of the coast as they are of natural landscapes many of them restored that now define so much of the region Contributors William Boyd S Max Edelson Edda L Fields Black Christopher J Manganiello Tiya Miles Janisse Ray Mart A Stewart Drew A Swanson David Hurst Thomas and Albert G Way
