W., Ford, Rochelle L., 2016-06-16 Student retention engagement and success are some of the biggest challenges that administrators and university leaders face in higher education settings As financial support and steep competition pose an issue to student acquisition and participation especially within Historically Black Colleges and Universities it becomes pertinent that these academic organizations implement new leadership practices to assist in the overall success of the student as well as the institution Administrative Challenges and Organizational Leadership in Historically Black Colleges and Universities examines how administrations in Historically Black Educational Institutions utilize different leadership techniques to overcome challenges of student retention and engagement Focusing on student development practices organizational collaboration funding for institutions and support provided from faculty and staff within Historically Black Colleges and Universities this book is an essential reference for university administrators educators researchers and graduate level students in the fields of education and sociology Shaping and Reshaping the Caribbean Martin Munro, 2000 The current drive in Caribbean literary studies stresses similarities and points of convergence between the various islands of the archipelago and their authors the fundamental aim of which is to move closer to an all encompassing theory of Caribbeanness Martin Munro challenges this movement and through a study of the work of Aime Cesaire and Rene Depestre proposes an alternative vision of the present and future of Caribbean literature The main areas of inquiry are how these two Caribbean writers construct their sense of themselves how they relate to the Caribbean and to the wider world and how they have been influenced by the historical and cultural particularities of their respective islands Aime Cesaire s sense of self and of the Caribbean is essentially shaped around the circuit triangulaire the model of Africa Europe Caribbean interdependencies ultimately inherited from the time of the slave trade Munro shows how Cesaire views the Caribbean as a deeply traumatic insubstantial space how he looks to Africa for his lost sense of self and how Europe is seen at once as the malevolent colonial power and also the home of poetry and learning Rene Depestre s Caribbean shape is quite different Africa is relatively absent in Depestre s work Europe is not presented as a threat and Depestre unlike Cesaire sees in the Caribbean an energy and a creativity brought about by the historical fusion of disparate cultures An important factor in shaping Depestre s model of Caribbeanness is his long exile from Haiti and Depestre s experience of exile is analysed in detail The combination of broad contextualization diverse theoretical approaches and close analysis of these important writers work produces a strong argument against attempts to view and read writing from the Caribbean as one literature Difference and diversity it is argued predominate as Caribbean writing embraces the new century and the whole notion of Caribbeanness undergoes further processes of highly creative splintering and reshaping Challenges to Equality Chester W. Hartman, 2001-05-24 Poverty and race two of America s most salient and seemingly intractable domestic problems form the cornerstone of this volume Featuring the contributions of some of the most progressive thinkers on these subjects the book focuses on the key questions as we begin the new century From the possibility of achieving true integration as opposed to mere desegregation environmental justice education and its role as counter to structural poverty to the promise and lack thereof of recent anti poverty policies Challenges to Equality shines an unflinching light on some of the most important issues we face as a society

Characteristics and Challenges of High Achieving Second-Generation Nigerian Youths in the United States Patricia Ngozi

Anekwe,2009-09-11 This study investigated the characteristics and challenges of high achieving second generation Nigerian youths in the United States An increasing number of youths in America s schools are from immigrant backgrounds due to the flow of immigration from Latin America Asia and Africa Given the local and national mandates to improve the academic achievement of all children we cannot afford to leave any group behind Although research on immigrant children from Asia and Latin America and their adaptation and schooling has increased in the last two decades the educational experiences of Black immigrant children from Africa and the Caribbean have been understudied The scant research on African immigrants lumps all Africans into a homogeneous group despite the different experiences and obvious diversity found within Africa and among African immigrants Using theoretical triangulation from Educational Anthropology cultural ecological theory Sociology social capital and Psychology social cognitive theory the researcher examined the role of parents personal traits and social contexts on the academic experiences of high achieving second generation Nigerian youths The study used surveys in depth interviews of Nigerian youths and parents mothers and a focus group interview of high achieving second generation Nigerian youths to explore the academic experiences of high achieving second generation Nigerian youths to identify factors that determine their educational outcomes It is anticipated that the results of this study will contribute to the literature on immigrant minority and Black students education in the United States High achieving second generation Nigerian youths credited their parents extended family the Nigerian community and their upbringing for their motivation and academic success Nigerian parents were actively engaged with the education of their children both in the traditional realms of school involvement and in the non traditional school engagement Although youths faced the challenges of peer teasing underpreparation for college and parental pressure they devised coping strategies through code switching reevaluating their definition of academic success and increasing determination and effort They also were involved in several extracurricular activities that helped them to create social networks with peers and adults and to break social barriers
